REVOLUTION IN SPEED.

Five Miles Minute by Air Train.

Wonderful Invention Given First Try-Out in London, Proves a Success.

Gravity Annihilated and All Laws of Gravity Defied by the Device.

Explosion of Magnetism Upon Certain Metals Principle Employed.

[BY CABLE AND DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

LONDON, May 8.—A new and wonderful system, which, it is said, will revolutionize high-speed traction throughout the world, was demonstrated in London yesterday before a number of mechanical experts of several of the most important British railways. The new system, which is the invention and discovery of a French scientist, Emile Bachelet, has at once elicited the offer of a great railway chief to lay down a special five-mile circuit in order that the enormous speed claimed for it (300 miles an hour) may be tested.

The system, as demonstrated yesterday by a model of the largest size, showed that it was said it would do. A speed of 300 miles an hour was attained, the automatic propulsion and stopping of the car was demonstrated, the position of the car at any point during the journey was indicated by electric signal, and an almost absolute absence of all vibration was attained.

The train travels through space without visible means of support, neither above or below. At a wizard speed it is away like a flash, devouring space at the terrific speed of a mile a minute, defying all laws of gravity. The inventor's system is made possible by the discovery that the effect of a magnetic coil on certain metals is to repel instead of attract. One of these metals is aluminum, and the effect of magnetic electricity on aluminum is a great factor in working the air train. As soon as the electric influence is set in motion the coils, instead of attracting, can push it away, with the result that it is immediately raised and held suspended in the air clear of track, the only connection between the car and the track being the brushes used for contact purposes.

SHIP WOOL VIA CANAL.

Consigned from Stockton to Boston Routed Via Panama.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

STOCKTON (Cal.) May 7.—One thousand sacks of wool left Stockton today to be shipped to Boston via the Panama Canal. It is reported here that the local shipment will pass through the canal on the first merchantman to be piloted through that waterway.

M'ADOO'S RESIGNATION.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SHARON (Pa.) May 7.—The Sharon Herald today published a story that Secretary of the Treasury William McAdoo is to resign to become Ambassador to France, and Congressman A. Mitchell Palmer of Pennsylvania is to receive the appointment to the Cabinet position. The story is as follows:

"It's a time-honored custom that no immediate member of the President's family can hold a position in the Cabinet. Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo, it is said, will relinquish his position in the Cabinet.

"There is a well-founded story in the Capital that McAdoo is slated for the Ambassadorship to France. Men close to the administration say Congressman A. Mitchell Palmer has the best chance of succeeding McAdoo."

ARMY OF SIXTY THOUSAND MAY GO TO VERA CRUZ.

Sudden Request of Funston Indicates Grave Situation in Mexico City.

Possibility of March Into the Interior Looming Up With Orders to Rush Supplies to Regulars—General Staff in Consultation With War Department Foreshadows Importance of Expected Developments.

WASHINGTON, May 7.—Upon receiving a long cipher cablegram from Gen. Funston at Vera Cruz tonight, Secretary Garrison called into conference at the War Department Maj.-Gen. Wotherspoon, Chief of Staff, and the entire general staff of the army. No intimation as to the nature of the dispatch was made public.

The conference lasted until nearly midnight. Secretary Garrison said there would be no announcement tonight. He and the army officers wore grave faces, and it was no secret that news of importance had been received.

Later Secretary Garrison said Gen. Funston had transmitted some information which refugees had brought from Mexico City as to conditions in the Mexican capital. He said that no aggressive movement of any kind by the American forces was ordered.

It was understood that the refugees from Mexico City had informed Gen. Funston of the critical aspect of affairs in the Huerta regime, that a collapse might be expected momentarily, and that conditions of anarchy might ensue. The purpose of Gen. Funston in transmitting these reports was believed to be to advise the Washington administration of the possibilities that might develop from a fall of Huerta, in order that if the American army is compelled to rescue foreigners or restore order it may be fully equipped.

BIG FORCE ASKED FOR.

Although not officially stated, it is known that high officials of the War Department are anxious to place at Vera Cruz, or on transports within striking distance, a large enough force, perhaps fifty or sixty thousand men, to make an expedition to Mexico City if it becomes necessary.

Officials of the War Department are known to believe that if an advance on Mexico City is ordered, it will be necessary to guard every mile of the railroad as the army moves forward, and that a large force would show the natives the futility of resistance, whereas a division of fifteen thousand men might be subject to several attacks along the route, with possibly big losses.

The American army officers also regard the situation at Vera Cruz as likely to become desperate in the event that anarchy breaks out in Mexico City, or the forces of Gen. Maas should make an attack on their own initiative, irrespective of the Huerta government's promise of a suspension of hostilities against the United States.

A large force of bluejackets could be landed from the warships to reinforce the 7000 troops and marines in Vera Cruz, but in order to hold the positions outside of Vera Cruz up to the waterworks, more infantry is believed to be required by Gen. Funston. There have been persistent reports that he has asked for more men.

It is considered likely that at tomorrow's Cabinet meeting the situation will be discussed, although the President and Secretary Bryan are believed to be firmly set against any military activity at the present moment, unless a crisis develops in Mexico City beyond control of the authorities, and foreigners are endangered.

STORM CUTS WIDE SWATH IN SOUTHERN STATES.

NEW ORLEANS (La.) May 7.—Heavy property damage and a loss in fruit and young vegetation which will pass the $2,000,000 mark, was the toll taken by a wind and hail storm that swept the Southeastern United States today. It left a path of wreckage through Mississippi and Alabama and embracing the greater portion of South Carolina, Southern Georgia and Florida.

Wire communication was demoralized, many cities being altogether isolated. Among these latter were Tampa, Savannah and Jacksonville. At the latter point the United Confederate Veterans' Association and allied organizations are now in annual convention.

Two men were killed by a falling tree at Vicksburg, Miss. Two sustained fatal injuries as a result of a falling smoke stack at Hiwanee, a Mississippi saw mill town, and at Waynesboro, Miss., houses and trees were blown down. The storm took a southeasterly course from Waynesboro, dismantling all telegraph and telephone poles and in some instances entirely isolating settlements.

The damage reported by South Carolina was confined practically to growing cotton and corn. Both crops suffered heavily. Neither Florida nor Georgia could place an estimate on the damage caused by the storm because of crippled wire service. The farmers in both States sustained severe financial loss. Florida citrus growers are particularly hard hit.

CITY'S BUSINESS TO HALT DURING MARINE'S FUNERAL

PHILADELPHIA, May 7.—City Councils today appropriated $5000 for the public funeral of George McKenzie Poinsett and Charles Allen Smith, the young sailors from this city, who were killed at Vera Cruz. A resolution was adopted called upon Mayor Blankenburg to issue a proclamation requesting that all business be halted for an hour during the funeral services and providing that flags be placed at half mast on all public buildings.

It was decided the bodies should lie in state in Independence Hall from 8 a.m., until 2 p.m., next Wednesday, when the burial will take place. Sailors from the Philadelphia navy yard will be the active pall bearers and six companies of sailors and one of marines will act as a guard of honor.

The public schools will be closed.

Miss Wilson Wedded to McAdoo.

Bride and Groom Leave on Honeymoon After Short Reception.

WASHINGTON, May 7.—Miss Eleanor Randolph Wilson, youngest daughter of the President and Mrs. Wilson, became the bride tonight of William Gibbs McAdoo, the Secretary of the Treasury, in the historic Blue Room of the White House.

Less than a hundred persons—and but few officials—heard the low-toned voice of the Rev. Sylvester W. Beach, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Princeton, N. J., where the Wilson family has worshiped for years, as he united in marriage a member of the Cabinet and the daughter of the President.

It was a simple ceremony, brief but solemn—the radiant faces of the bride and groom reflecting the happiness of the hour. For the President and Mrs. Wilson, it was a touching moment, as they gave away a daughter for the second time within a year.

Around them stood their relatives and friends—a small group—for it was a family affair—much the same kind of home wedding one would see in any American household, although the historic interior of the White House with its masses of lilies and ferns, the uniformed aides, and the presence of members of the Cabinet, and the Vice-President preserved for the function an official aspect.

It was in contrast, nevertheless, to the wedding of last November. There were no uniformed diplomats, no members of the Senate or House, or the Supreme Court. This was the wish of the bride and groom, and except for an afternoon of gaiety among the young folks with the busy anticipation that always precedes a wedding, the day and evening moved by quietly and quickly.

CEREMONY IS BRIEF.

The ceremony started at 6 o'clock and lasted but fifteen minutes. The reception was brief, the wedding supper was followed by a brief dance, and at 8 o'clock the bride and groom had left, all the wedding guests had departed and the White House resumed its normal appearance—uninterrupted but a few hours.

All day long there had been busy preparations but official Washington and the society of the national capital had no part in the affair. Most of the guests were intimate friends of the family from other cities.

Secretary McAdoo gave a luncheon to his colleagues in the Cabinet, attended also by Dr. Cary T. Grayson, U.S.N., his best man; Secretary Tumulty and Vice-President Marshall. It was a jovial company, speech-making and witty toasts, especially from Mr. Marshall, who kept the group in a continuous roar of laughter.

The President and Mrs. Wilson motored with their three daughters. During the early evening small crowds peered through the fences and iron gates, but saw only the procession of carriages and automobiles as they brought the guests or took them away.

WHITE HOUSE DECORATIONS.

The White House was a scene of beauty indoors and out. The sunset of a spring evening, tinting a cloudless sky, the sparkling fountains and new green foliage; the rose bushes in blossom and the Italian gardens gave the wedding guests a picture of rare beauty. Within all was splendor—palms, lilies, ferns, roses, the soft light of the Blue Room, the red-coated marine band, the historic portraits of Presidents of the United States and the luxurious furnishings of the parlors, the state dining-room, and main corridor—this was the setting when the wedding hour arrived.

The guests, relatives and close friends of the two families were grouped in a semicircle. There was a hush of silence as the clergyman entered slowly from the main corridor and ascended the little altar with its prie-dieu covered with white satin in the south bay window of the blue room. The marine band struck up the wedding march.

THE PROCESSION.

Miss Sallie McAdoo, 10-year-old daughter of the Secretary, led the procession as a flower girl, followed by Mrs. Francis Bowes Sayre, sister of the bride and matron of honor, and Miss Margaret Wilson, eldest daughter of the President, maid of honor. Miss Nancy Lane, 12 years old, another flower girl, daughter of Secretary Lane of the Interior Department, directly preceded the bride, who was escorted by the President. The groom, with Dr. Cary Travers Grayson, U.S.N., best man, who was attired in full dress uniform, met the bride at the altar.

The Presbyterian single ring service was used with the characteristic words "love, honor and obey."

As the President gave the bride away there was an affectionate smile on his face. He stepped back from the altar beside Mrs. Wilson and as the words of the service were read, their faces were gravely solemn. The bride and groom repeated the service unfalteringly and did not appear in

RESUME WORK OF SMUGGLING.

Rebels Again Start Old Game of Running Arms.

Use American Special Agents for the Purpose.

Customs Officials Believed to Wink at Practice.

BY FITZGERALD SLOCUM.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

JUAREZ, May 4.—All the machinery of the Constitutionalist smuggling department again has been called into operation, in the belief that the United States will never remove the present embargo on arms and that the rebels may be called upon to face the Federal columns at Tampico and Saltillo with insufficient ammunition to make an effective attack.

As the result of President Wilson's order closing the ports to the importations of war munitions, more than 4,000,000 Mauser cartridges, seven machine guns, two field pieces and two air machines have been held up and were ordered returned to the consignors. As all of this material practically had been paid for in advance, the order not only dealt a blow to the rebel treasury but made it necessary for the Constitutionalists to devise other means of obtaining possession of the material without loss of time.

In the dangerous work of smuggling arms across the frontier about thirty American "special agents" are employed and these men are furnished funds proportional to the value of the consignment, for the purpose of moving the material across the line.

As a matter of economy the Mexicans themselves attempted to smuggle arms on several occasions, but as they were caught each time, the work has again devolved on the Americans who are regarded as more reliable and as having a better understanding of the difficulties involved. The belief also exists that some of the American "agents" tipped off the guns, when the Mexicans tried to cheat the border patrol and for this reason, if for no other, the rebel authorities have decided to rely on foreign talent.

Information from an entirely reliable source shows that embargoed material is brought across only at Nogales, Naco, El Paso, Eagle Pass and Brownsville. Material for Federal use has been brought across at other points, chiefly along the border between Lower California and the United States. That some of the customs officials at least, stand in with the game admits of no doubt, but no one has yet accused the army of permitting the unlawful importations, although the soldiers have been decoyed from the scenes of the smuggling by false reports sent out by Americans and sometimes published in the American press.

All of the "special agents" pose as detectives employed to discover the passers of rebel counterfeit money and to prevent Americans smuggling in merchandise without paying the Constitutionalist customs, but so far as known there have been no arrests to show that Americans are concerned in beating the rebel treasury.

Many of the smugglers are known to the American Consulate in Mexican border towns and while their real occupation is evident, none of the Consuls have thus far displayed any particular zeal in running the criminals down. This is for the reason that practically all of the Consuls are in passive sympathy at least with the rebel "cause," even if they do not openly espouse it.

Probably one of the largest shipments of arms sent into rebel territory was put across the line at Nogales in broad daylight and with a dozen negro soldiers idly watching the operations. On this occasion it was noticed that the newly-arrived negro soldiers frequently disappeared behind a building on the American side and within 100 feet of the American Consulate in Mexico. Somebody had sent them a gallon jug of whisky and by the time that a half-dozen wagons, heavily loaded with hay, appeared for inspection, it is asserted that the soldiers were in no mood to unload the vehicles, especially as an examination of the first failed to disclose anything suspicious.

After the customs regulations had been complied with the wagons drew up before the soldiers and quickly were waved on their journey, the soldiers occasionally jabbing a bale of hay with his sword to see if it met with resistance from the inside. On the Mexican side of the line and sheltered by the doors of a pool hall, were a number of high rebel officials almost holding their breaths in suspense, while the American who had superintended the job sat nodding in a chair not fifteen feet from the door of the Consul's office.

As soon as the consignment was safely on Mexican soil the contents of the hay bales were known to every man in town and the rest of the day was given up to celebrating in true Mexican fashion. Of course there were no more arms sent across in hay wagons, but the activities of the smuggler gang did not cease until the embargo was removed.

The celebrated "beer barrel" and "lard barrel" shipments which were taken across at Eagle Pass were two of the cases where the American government officials got "next" too late. On these occasions the munitions were packed with ammunition in barrels and a layer of beer bottles in one case and choice lard in the other were placed on top to deceive the inspectors. The very audacity of the smugglers disarmed suspicion and with the exception of one or two lard barrels, which were afterwards discovered, the consignments went through without a hitch.

Two American newspaper men who saw the barrels unloaded in the customshouse at Piedras Negras were summoned before the Federal Court at San Antonio to swear to the identification, but as the "special agents" had covered their tracks so well, the matter was allowed to drop, although those concerned are under bail to appear at court at any time.

Still another large shipment was boldly driven across the Rio Grande near the El Paso smelter, when those who saw the operation thought that the ox teams had become unmanageable and were running away. The two wagons in this case were supposedly loaded with alfalfa and none of the guards believed that the drivers would try to run across in front of their noses. Both wagons crossed the boundary before the deception was discovered and the man who engineered the job, is now in El Paso in the employ of the rebels. His name frequently appears in the press, but no direct evidence of culpability has been discovered.

As deeds of this nature in Mexico were out of the question under the old regime, the Mexicans believe, perhaps, quite naturally, that the "gringo" is an easy mark or a corrupt one. Judging the future from the past, there is little doubt that the rebels will have no great difficulty in replenishing their armories and within a few weeks, if not sooner, we shall hear of large shipments of supplies crossing the border in defiance of Uncle Sam's government.

There is one feature of the game that will not appeal to Americans generally, and that is when the two countries were on the verge of war and it was expected that the Mexicans would attack El Paso almost any minute, there were American firms on the American side utilizing all their help in selling arms to the foreigners. At one of the largest stores in El Paso, a line of Mexicans a block long stood waiting to buy arms and it was not until the authorities interfered that the traffic was stopped.

As soon as the war scare subsided, the dealers in arms were again permitted to open their stores and not one of the Mexicans who are "leasing" arms, as the custom is in Texas, but believes that he will be called upon to turn them against the "gringo" at no late date. Almost without exception, every American refugee from Mexico believes the same thing and that it simply is a question of a little time when a brand will start a conflagration that cannot be stopped by mediation.

The Mexicans persist in saying that war will come and it is possible that they know.

AVIATOR'S BOMB WRECKS VESSEL.

SAN DIEGO, May 7.—Lying half submerged on the beach near Mazatlan is the Federal gunboat Morelos, disabled first by bombs dropped by a rebel aviator believed to be Didier Masson, and then subjected to a severe fire from insurgent field pieces, according to passengers who arrived here today on the Mexican steamer Benito Juarez. The gunboat was wrecked during a brisk battle April 26 when the rebels were given great assistance by the aviator and his deadly bombs.

Col. Y. Romero, one of the Constitutionalist leaders in the State of Sonora, arrived on the Benito Juarez. His mission is to purchase a boiler at San Francisco for the rebel gunboat Tampico, which is disabled in Topolobampo harbor. The Tampico was hulled in three places during the recent engagement with the Guerrero and Morelos, Romero said, but divers are repairing the vessel and expect to have her floated within two weeks.

Romero declared the rebels are planning a simultaneous attack against Salina Cruz, Acapulco and other West Coast cities held by the Federals, in order to acquire as much territory as possible before the meeting of the South American mediators May 18.

VILLA VS. ZAPATA.

"Villa and Zapata have wagered $50,000 that each will be the first to enter Mexico City," said Romero, "Huerta's days are numbered. The rebels' boast that he will fall within fifteen days appears to be well founded. His execution within that period is inevitable unless he flees the country."

When the Benito Juarez sailed from Mazatlan, the cruiser California, destroyer Perry and the Japanese cruiser Idzumo were anchored in the harbor.

Lieut. Roy C. Kirtland, U.S.A., in charge of the army aviation camp at North Island, says he believes the Mazatlan bomb-dropper is Didier Masson. Kirtland has no official advices about the aero equipments of the Mexican Federals or rebels, but recalls Masson's attempt to take a biplane across the Texas border several months ago.

The Mexican Federals, according to recent press accounts, have three Bleriot monoplanes suitable for scout and bomb-throwing purposes.

The Federal aviators include Lieuts. Gustavious Salinas, Alberta Salinas, Juan Alderso, H. Ruiz and Rodriguez Salazar. The aeroplanes are said to be at Vera Cruz.

Lieut. Kirtland says the value of an aeroplane bomb battle is problematical yet and that the ability of an aviator to kill a dozen men will not count for much unless the aviator can pick out a commanding officer. An aerial attack upon a general and staff, he believes, would count heavily.

His command at North Island is actively engaged at this time in bomb practice under the tutorship of Bomb Expert Riley, who recently dropped a bomb upon a seventeen-inch target from a height of 1200 feet.

Commander Cleland Davis, U.S.N., on duty here, is the inventor of a non-recoil gun for aeroplanes which, he believes, will revolutionize modern warfare. The commander expects more from aeroplane guns than he does from aerial bombs, and says he is eager to learn if the Mazatlan bomb killed four soldiers or four innocent bystanders.

HOWARD'S REPORT.

WASHINGTON, May 7.—Reporting the engagement at Mazatlan and the biplane incident to the Navy Department, Rear-Admiral Howard said he and the captain of a German ship in the harbor had submitted a joint note to the Constitutionalists urging the establishment of a neutrality zone for non-combatants.

Able assistance was given, he said, by Consul Edwards, from Acapulco, who now is aboard the California. The German Consul also did valiant work. The British steamship Ceterina, Capt. Minister, the admiral reported, brought refugees from San Blas to Manzanillo "and kept them aboard ship, which narrowly escaped being set on fire."

The Ceterina later proceeded to Mazatlan with ninety-nine refugees, who will be taken to San Francisco.

Confirmation of the capture of the entire Federal garrison at Acaponete, Tepic, by the rebel forces, reached the State Department today in a report from Consular Agent W. Keyes at Rosario.

RESULTS IN MAZATLAN.

ON BOARD U.S.S. CALIFORNIA, MAZATLAN (Mex.) May 6 (via wireless to San Diego, May 7.)—Four persons were killed and eight were injured today by the explosion of a bomb that was dropped into the city streets from a Constitutionalist biplane.

Firing between the Constitutionalist and Federal fortifications continues. In the artillery fighting the besieging forces have enjoyed the better of the contest so far.

ROYAL WELCOME IS PREPARED FOR CALIFORNIANS.

Delegation from the Coast Due to Arrive There Tomorrow Will Escort Admiral Dewey, Greet President Wilson and Dine With Congressman Knowland.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, May 7.—The Californians in Washington are preparing to give the Shriners when they arrive here tomorrow, a welcome which will make them think of the Golden State. They are due to arrive at 8 o'clock [illegible] day morning and there will be a crowd at the big Union depot to greet them, and give them an escort up town.

They will serenade Admiral Dewey and play "I Love You, California," for President Wilson, who will meet them if it can be managed, although he never does hold any reception on Saturdays, because Dr. Grayson demands that he get out of doors [illegible]

At 1 o'clock Congressman Joseph R. Knowland and Mrs. Knowland will give the entire body of Shriners a buffet dinner at their residence. The members of Congress who are Shriners and their wives will also be there. The guests will be waited on by the Congressional and other California ladies [illegible] It is to be a California affair from start to finish.

There will be other things to entertain the visitors, but how much of the hospitality being planned will really be assimilated by the visitors is a question, for they will depart from Washington at 3 o'clock.

ROYALLY RECEIVED.

ROCHESTER (N. Y.) May 7.—The Shriners' special pulled into Rochester about 5:30 this morning, having come slowly from Buffalo after last night's concert. Damascus Temple of this city was with the Kismet patrol and band to escort the party to one of the leading hotels for breakfast, which was a very fine affair. They pleased. At 5 o'clock the combined bands followed by the four patrols marched under escort of Damascus Temple to the hotel for the banquet given to the Shriners. The women of the party were also entertained to a banquet at another hotel.

In the evening occurred the big parade to the convention hall, where the concert was given. Again the band and chanters received ovations for their exceptionally fine work. The thunderous applause of the audience show how much they are appreciating the artistic work of the musicians.

TWO BRITONS KILLED AT GUADALAJARA.

Benton Cases.

One American Also Slain—Continuation of Heavy Fighting at Mazatlan Is Reported to the State Department—Movement of Rebel Troops Southward Against Saltillo and Zacatecas.

WASHINGTON, May 7.—The two chief reports from Mexico today announced the killing of two British subjects and one American at Guadalajara, and the continued heavy fighting at Mazatlan on the Pacific Coast, where a rebel biplane dropped a bomb which killed four persons and injured eight in the streets of the besieged city. The State Department also was informed by Consul Hamm at Durango that the movement of the Constitutionalist forces had now begun southward against Saltillo and Zacatecas.

The envoys from Argentina, Brazil and Chile continued their sessions, which are now largely by way of preparation for the meeting at Niagara Falls on May 18. One important phase of their work developed during the day. This was that, despite Carranza's self-elimination from the conference, the Constitutionalist side of the Mexican problem would be fully considered by the mediators in the plan to be formulated by them at the coming conference.

President Wilson and Secretary Bryan have determined to appoint as delegates to the mediation conference men of judicial ability and, if possible, familiarity with the proceedings of arbitral tribunals.

Officials close to the President said today it would not be surprising if a justice of the Supreme Court of the United States was one of the three representatives of the American government. Justice Mahlon Pitney, though a Republican, is a close friend of the President, and may be chosen.

Justice Day was a member of the Paris peace conference and is a former Secretary of State; Circuit Court Judge George Gray of Delaware, also personally intimate with the President and an American delegate to The Hague, is another, who is considered likely to be chosen.

Counsellor Robert Lansing of the State Department is busy with his duties at the department and may not be spared, but if arrangements can be made to take care of his work, he may be selected. Henry D. White, former Ambassador to France, is another who is being spoken of as a possibility.

O'SHAUGHNESSY ARRIVES.

Nelson O'Shaughnessy, former charge d'affaires at Mexico City, arrived today to give his account of events leading up to the receipt of his passports from Gen. Huerta and his enforced departure from the Mexican capital. He saw Secretary Bryan only a few minutes and deferred his report to the President and to Mr. Bryan until tomorrow.

REFUGEES.

Reports from the Brazilian Ambassador at Mexico City stated that a trainload of American refugees, 500 to 600 in number, left Mexico City for Vera Cruz in a train of two sections yesterday evening. The Mexican dictator permitted a guard to accompany the trains to protect the refugees from molestation. Among those on the train was Dr. Edward Ryan, the American, who has been under arrest on charges of espionage and who was released in deference to strong representations on the part of the American government.

Equally strong representations have been made in behalf of John R. Silliman, American Vice and Deputy Consul at Saltillo, whose disappearance at San Luis Potosi has been a source of anxiety at the State Department. Both the Brazilian Ambassador and the French charge d'affairs have visited Gen. Huerta to request assurances concerning Mr. Silliman. Gen. Huerta assured both that orders to protect the missing Consul had been sent to the Federal commanders. As Saltillo is cut off from telegraphic communication from the capital and perhaps is in the hands of the Constitutionalists, the orders, the diplomats stated, might not reach their destination.

FOR A LARGER ARMY.

In the Senate Senator Chamberlain, chairman of the Committee on Military Affairs, introduced a resolution authorizing the President to increase the regular army above the present statutory limitation of 100,000 men "in time of war or when war is imminent or on other occasions of grave national emergency, requiring the use of the regular army."

The resolution also recited that "at the present time there exists a condition which may at any moment require the fullest and most effective use of the regular army of the United States."

Senator Chamberlain stated the bill was not the result of any conference with the President or the Secretary of War.

A significant evidence of military preparedness came from Col. Goethals, Governor of the Panama Canal Zone, who reported to the War Department that detachments of troops had been stationed at main points along the canal—at Gatun, Pedro Miguel and Miraflores—to protect the locks against possible disturbance during the Mexican troubles.

Nothwithstanding the fact that Carranza will not be represented by delegates at the mediation conference, it was authoritatively stated that the plans which would be presented by the mediators, cover the pacification of all Mexico. The elimination of Carranza is considered by the mediators, it was said, to have simplified matters.

The peace plans, it was learned, will not be formulated until the negotiations at Niagara Falls shall have produced a basis of information and an exchange of views between the mediators and the delegates, and until everything to be presented to them by the delegates of both sides shall have been fully considered.

In this connection, it was pointed out today that there seemed to be a mistaken idea that the mediation proceedings were in the nature of an

WINTER WHEAT GREATEST EVER

California Acreage Reported in Splendid Shape.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, May 7.—The greatest crop of winter wheat ever grown [illegible]-60th again as large as the record crop grown last year, and more than half again as large as that harvested in 1912, is indicated by statistics announced by the Department of Agriculture today.

In all 630,000,000 bushels will be produced if the highly-favorable conditions existing since the crop was planted last fall ccntinue until harvest time.

The acreage abandoned through unfavorable conditions of the winter is expected to only 3.1 per cent. of the area planted, an unusually low [illegible] This makes the area remaining to be harvested a record one of 37,787,000 acres.

Indications are that Kansas will have a crop of 122,000,000 bushels, [illegible] 46,580,000 bushels more than last year, and Oklahoma 35,500,000, [illegible] 7,000,000 bushels more than last year.

The notes are of the series of 1902-1908, the $5 note bearing the check letter "D" and the $10 note the check letter "F." They are of [illegible] workmanship that they [illegible] not deceive, says the secret service.

MILLIONS FOR THE NAVY.

WASHINGTON, May 7.—The annual naval appropriation bill, carrying $20,346,834 and providing for the three administration naval construction programme, was passed by the House today without a roll call. The building programme includes two battleships, one to be built in a government navy yard; six torpedo boat destroyers, one sea-going torpedo boat, three coast defense submarine torpedo boats, to be constructed on the Pacific Coast, and four submarines.

The "little navy" men made their last stand against two battleships on motion to send the bill back to the committee, which was defeated, 201 to 104. Democratic Leader Underwood, Republican Leader Mann and other prominent figures in the House supported the motion.

Two Britons Killed.

International conference to be followed by the signing of a protocol, whereas the efforts of the mediators will be advisory and not arbitratory. The negotiations to be carried on in Niagara Falls, it was explained, are for the purpose of working out a plan acceptable to all parties.

The removal of the headquarters of the mediators to Canadian soil was prompted, it was authoritatively stated, by the desire to relieve the Mexican delegates of a possible feeling of constraint which they might have had in negotiating at any place in the United States.

REBEL ADVANCE.

There is no disposition, it was said, to regard the advance of the Constitutionalist forces as an imminent danger, the mediators being inclined to believe that they have ample time to make definite progress with their mediation proceedings before any developments could interfere with their efforts.

The policy of silence pending the mediation has been due, high officials assert, to a desire to avoid anything open to possible construction as being an influence on the mediators.

Reports during the day showed that while American refugees continued their exodus from Mexico City and the South, conditions in Northern Mexico had so improved that Americans who had fled from the mining districts in Sonora when Vera Cruz was attacked, felt justified in venturing back to reopen the mines.

The American Consulate at Cananea, Sonora, was reopened by Consular Agent Montague. Plans for the return of the British and American operatives to the oil fields around Tampico and the reopening of the oil wells there were interfered with by an unexpected notification from the Federal commander to the British representative that no foreigners would be allowed to land as long as warships remained at Tampico. Both Federals and Constitutionalists earlier had invited the oil men to return under promises of protection, and Gen. Huerta, according to information reaching the State Department today, had issued an order to Federal officials in the Tampico district to this effect.

Messages passing through the State Department indicated that the Tampico oil properties are well cared for. A delegation of representatives of American oil interests at Tampico, who have just returned to the United States, called at the Navy Department and told Secretary Daniels that the United States ought to police Mexico and permit the resumption of oil operations in the Mexican fields. Later, they saw the President.

Secretary Daniels told his visitors they ought to be thankful they had escaped with their lives. He suggested that inasmuch as they had gone down to Mexico to invest their money at greater advantage than was possible at home, they could do nothing but take chances.

Honolulu Judge Charges Federal District Attorney With Attempted Killing in Courthouse.

WASHINGTON, May 7.—Judge A. A. Wilder of Honolulu has filed charges with the Department of Justice against Jeff F. McCarn, United States District Attorney in Hawaii, alleging that McCarn endeavored to kill an attorney in court at Honolulu a short time ago. Judge Wilder is endeavoring to have the District Attorney ousted from office.

In a statement by McCarn to the department, he said he was attacked by the attorney in the lobby of the Courthouse and that in defense of his life he drew a revolver and attempted to shoot his assailant.

RESERVE BANKS PAID UP.

Nearly All the Institutions to Be in Federal System Reported to Have Subscribed.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, May 7.—Each of the twelve Federal reserve banks has had subscribed the minimum amount of stock, $4,000,000, to enable them to effect an organization. Of the 7601 banks to be in the system, 6097 had furnished to the Organization Committee at the close of business today their subscriptions. Three hundred banks subscribed to the stock today, bringing the total amount subscribed up to $96,267,000.

Tomorrow is the last day on which subscriptions may be received.

"The largest number of subscriptions received from any one district," said a treasury statement today, "is from the Chicago district, where 781 banks have made their subscriptions. The next largest number of subscriptions have come from Philadelphia district, in which 686 banks have subscribed. In the Cleveland district 617 banks have sent in their subscriptions; Kansas City, 632 banks, and Dallas 607 banks.

O'Gorman Opposes Repeal of Tolls Exemption.

Ultimate Control of Canal Declared Real Issue.

Warns Democrats Against Betrayal of Nation.

WASHINGTON, May 7.—Opposition to the bill for the repeal of the tolls exemption clause of the Panama Canal Act was voiced in the Senate today in vigorous speeches by Senators O'Gorman and Bristow.

Senator O'Gorman, chairman of the Senate Interoceanic Canals Committee, and leader of the opposition, based his protest on economic, legal and political grounds. Senator Bristow said that he opposed a bill which would benefit England more than any other nation, and declared that England had been the enemy of the United States in every hour of need since the revolution.

With these two speeches out of the way and others announced for tomorrow and Saturday, the debate on the repeal may be completed next week. Many Senators are yet to be heard, but Democratic leaders are anxious to get through with the tolls issue as soon as possible.

Senator Works today added another amendment to the many already proposed for the perfection of the repeal bill. The amendment would provide that the United States by repealing the tolls-exemption provision waives no right over the canal and is similar to the amendment proposed by Senator Simmons, the leader of the forces back of the bill.

"England," Senator Bristow said, "has been our enemy in every hour of need and never since the revolutionary patriots shed their blood at Bunker Hill has she not rejoiced when misfortune befell us. But never has the audacity of her selfishness been more manifest than at the present time, and unfortunately for this country we have an administration in temporary charge of our national affairs which in its sentiment seems to be more English than American."

Senator Bristow pointed out that Great Britain, the principal protestant against the toll exemption of American ships, owns about half the merchant vessels which sail the seas.

"In the construction of the canal," he said, "we have rendered her the greatest service ever rendered to one nation by another in the commercial history of the world, and this has been done without price or reward. Probably five times as many English ships will pass through it as American ships. In face of this condition it certainly is an astounding proposition for England to ask us to incur all risk and then give her all the advantages in every detail that we have in the use of the canal. Yet this is what England asks and what Mr. Wilson proposes we shall give her 'right or wrong' because she asks it."

Senator Bristow asserted the Carnegie Peace Association has spent much money in carrying on a campaign to bring about the repeal of the toll-exemption law.

"This association," he said, "has used its enormous resources to slander its own government and stir up strife in its own country."

In a three-hour speech, Senator O'Gorman discussed exhaustively every phase of the subject. He discovered no ground in international law which would forbid exemption of American coastwise ships from toll payment, saw behind the repeal movement the hand of the railroads and declared that a failure to impose a tax could not be called a subsidy.

WARNS DEMOCRATS.

The Senator warned his Democratic colleagues that to repeal the exemption was to violate the pledges of the Baltimore platform and to reverse the verdict of the people when they elected President Wilson last November on that platform.

Senator O'Gorman said that inasmuch as former Presidents Roosevelt and Taft and a preceding Congress agreed that coastwise vessels should be exempt, another Congress should think twice before giving its approval to the repeal bill, for it in turn might find itself reversed by a Congress yet to be elected.

CONTEST FOR CANAL.

"This question of tolls," said the Senator, "is but an incident in a great contest now in its initial stage, which may determine the control of the Panama Canal for all time. The construction of the canal will rank among the world's wonders, but the opinion of mankind will pronounce the surrender of our sovereignty over it a colossal blunder and a triumph of British diplomacy.

"I know there is a vague suspicion that diplomatic reasons require this national abasement, but my judgment, maturely formed and based upon such information as is available, is that the gravity of our international relations has been grossly, though unconsciously, exaggerated. The American people want peace, but they fear no power on earth.

"No Senator questions the patriotism and high purposes of the President, but if legislation is to be made dependent upon his will alone, no one can predict the mischief to which such a precedent will expose this government in future years. I believe that the passage of this bill compromises the dignity and honor of this country, and before the deed is consummated, I enter my solemn protest against what I conceive to be a betrayal of the American people."

INTERNATIONAL LAW.

The Senator argued that it is a well-known principle of international law that conditions in any international agreement cease to be obligatory when the state of facts on which they were founded has ceased to exist or has been changed.

He pointed out that when the United States became the sovereign of the Panama Canal Zone and it became United States territory, the Hay-Pauncefote treaty no longer bound the United States.

To back up this contention the Senator showed that England fortified the Suez Canal after Egypt became British territory and that when the great powers which were parties to the convention under which that canal was constructed, raised objection, the British government relied upon this same principle of international law.

STRIKERS STOP GUN SURRENDER.

Lockett Faces Hard Problem to Solve Peaceably.

Colonel States His Command Will Be Increased.

Will Today Publish His Final Proclamation.

TRINIDAD (Colo.) May 7.—Maj. W. A. Holbrook, with his staff, spent today among the strikers at Sopris and Segundo, impressing upon them the advisability of peacefully surrendering arms.

No delivery of guns was made to Col. James Lockett, commanding the Federal troops, or to his subordinates today. Tomorrow has been appointed as the day upon which Col. Lockett will issue his final proclamation calling upon all citizens to surrender all arms in their possession forthwith. At military headquarters it was said no forcible search would be made for arms until after the issuance of the proclamation.

Col. Lockett informed Dist.-Atty. J. J. Hendricks today that while martial law had not been formally declared, he considered the district under the absolute authority of the troops and that authority would be exercised only when it was found that county officers were unable to cope with any given situation.

He told the District Attorney that he had knowledge of certain saloons selling liquor, in spite of the strict prohibition imposed by the Federal officers and that such sale must be stopped completely and immediately. If the District Attorney's office could not enforce prohibition, the Federal troops could and would.

With counter-assertions by strikers and operators as to the number of weapons each has, disarmament is becoming a serious problem. The operators admit possessing 200 guns, which they are willing to surrender. The strikers declare the operators have at least 500. The mine officials charge the strikers with possessing at least 1500 rifles and in addition many small arms. The strikers admit possessing 500. Each faction insists the troops collect arms to the number it has fixed, from the other faction.

Troops E and F of the Fifth Cavalry were dispatched to the Walsenburg district today, under command of Capt. E. P. Orton, who will co-operate with Capt. Smith, in charge of the district.

Col. Lockett contemplates a protracted stay of his entire command in the strike fields. From his observations and from reports submitted by his officers, he has concluded that the situation in Colorado is extremely grave. He stated that his command, instead of being lessened in the immediate future, would be strengthened and that probably the troops would remain in the district until the strike was permanently settled.

FEAR OUTBREAK IN ROUTT COUNTY.

DENVER (Colo.) May 7.—Advices received at the Governor's office today were that the strike situation in the Routt county coal fields is tense. Capt. Ralph Dorn, commanding the twenty militiamen occupying that district, reported that the strikers had removed children from Oak Creek and that the citizens feared an outbreak.

The Governor has requested Col. Lockett to send a detachment of Federal soldiers to the district.

PAYMASTER ON TRIAL.

Naval Passed Assistant Charged With Neglect of Duty at the Newport Training Station.

NEWPORT (R. I.) May 7.—Robert S. Chew, passed assistant paymaster of the navy, was placed on trial before a court-martial at the naval training station today on charges of neglect of duty. The court-martial was ordered after the discovery of alleged irregularities in the accounts and stock of the ship's stores at the station. Chief Yeoman James W. Smith will be tried after the Chew case is concluded.

Vote Against the Power Bonds
Save Your Money for Schools

Friday, May 8th, Power Bonds, $6,500,000
Thursday, May 14th, School Bonds, $4,600,000

In Spite of the Continued Attempts to Cloud the Issue, Mis-State the Facts and Deceive the People:—

ISN'T IT TRUE that $11,100,000 is too great a burden to be forced on an overtaxed people?

ISN'T IT TRUE that the school bonds are absolutely necessary?

ISN'T IT TRUE that in order to carry the school bonds the power bonds must be defeated?

ISN'T IT TRUE that there has not been one single statement made in these advertisements successfully refuted?

ISN'T IT TRUE that the so-called Municipal Ownership Bulletin, without the consent of ALL the Committee of 100, has contained many misleading statements and distorted facts and conclusions?

ISN'T IT TRUE that it contained in its issue of May 1st a statement of possible distribution earnings which were purposely misleading?

ISN'T IT TRUE that this entire publication was published in order to inflame the people by intimation of rate reductions, which, in fact, will be obtained whether the bonds carry or not?

ISN'T IT TRUE that this entire publication was "edited" by professional ad. writers, without investigation of the real facts?

ISN'T IT TRUE that these men do not know the difference between a kilowatt and a barrel of flour?

ISN'T IT TRUE that a flock of engineers were rushed to Mr. Scattergood's assistance after he got into trouble, with an estimate of $1,300,000 alleged income from ALL of the business in the ENTIRE city of Los Angeles, exclusive of railroads, at a neat little SIX-CENT rate, when the plan is to sell the power to less than half of the people at a FIVE-CENT rate, this rate to be effective, Ladies and Gentlemen, whether the bonds carry or not?

ISN'T IT TRUE that it has been proven absolutely that the people in the outlying districts cannot be served with the $5,250,000 distributing system?

ISN'T IT TRUE THAT THE PEOPLE IN THE OUTLYING DISTRICTS WILL BE SOAKED ANYWAY-

ISN'T IT TRUE that the southwestern section was assessed to the very limit for Exposition Park?

ISN'T IT TRUE that Highland Park and Boyle Heights are to be loaded down for storm sewers?

ISN'T IT TRUE that the northwest section has gotten off lightly so far with only a few little assessments for Hollywood sanitary sewers, Sunset Boulevard improvements and the widening of Vermont Avenue; with a few tunnels, Silverlake Parkway and the purchase of the Union Hollywood Water Company still to come?

ISN'T IT TRUE that special assessment of this pleasant type is the plan offered by Scattergood to cover the remaining portion of the city, not possible to be reached by his little $5,250,000? (See report of June 4th, 1912.)

ISN'T IT TRUE that the city cannot obtain an income from the municipal distributing system for at least three years and the tax load must be borne anyway?

ISN'T IT TRUE that every engineer of standing in the country states positively, in spite of Scattergood to the contrary, that the water power generated must be backed by a steam plant as a factor of safety?

ISN'T IT TRUE that E. K. Mohler, engineer of the Board of Public Utilities, hammered in this fact at the meeting of the City Club last Saturday?

ISN'T IT TRUE that the great bond houses, like E. H. Rollins & Sons, have warned the city against continued attempts to strain its credit?

ISN'T IT TRUE that the companies on Tuesday made a final unconditional offer to buy all the Aqueduct power from the city to be generated within the next five years at a price to be fixed by the State Railroad Commission?

ISN'T IT TRUE that a $1,000,000 income from this source is better than spending good money on more bonds?

ISN'T IT TRUE THAT YOU FACE A SCHOOL BOND ELECTION MAY 14TH FOR $4,600,000?

Now, Can You Honestly Vote for These Bonds?

RALPH GLAZE U.S.C. COACH.

Dartmouth Star Wires His Acceptance.

Has Made Great Record as an Athletic Coach.

Ralph Glaze, former Dartmouth college star, is the new coach and director of competitive athletics at the University of Southern California.

Last night the new coach wired his acceptance of the Trojan offer, saying that he would be out here about the first of September to take command of his squad of huskies and try to develop a championship eleven.

The signing of Glaze is about the biggest thing that U.S.C. has yet done, as the bringing of such a star clear out here from the East will assist materially in bringing the Southland into the notice of the easterners, and many from the other side of the Rockies will be watching with jealous eyes the progress made by the new coach.

WILL SUCCEED.

That Glaze will be a success is beyond question of a doubt. His past record, both as an athelete and as a coach, insures a full knowledge that, combined with an ability to adapt himself to conditions, should put him right in the front rank of the local coaches.

His history has been rehashed in the local papers at great length, and it is useless to repeat it, other than to say that for four years Glaze made both the football and baseball squads at Dartmouth, and in addition was a varsity basketball and track team man and twice was selected on Walter Camp's All-American football team.

Since quitting college he has shown the same ability that he showed as a player. In addition to playing baseball with the Boston Americans Glaze has coached at Baylor University, Tex., and at several other institutions, his records in all places being the same. He was uniformly successful in all branches of sport and at the same time made a name for himself and his teams as a bunch of true sportsmen.

HUGHES RALLIES, BEATING WILDER.

George H. Hughes scored the final block and match of his scheduled contest against J. G. Wilder in the Majestic tournament for the English billiard championship of California, taking 357 points last night to Wilder's 274, and a total of 600 to 574 for the match.

Hughes made breaks of 30, 28, 22 and 19 last evening, while Wilder ran 25, 17 and 15. This result counts as one point for Hughes in the tourney.

As Raphael, Hogarth and Webb have been eliminated from the competition, Hayes, Hughes and Wilder are left to fight for the title among themselves. Hughes lost the first block with Hayes by thirty-eight points, but will have an opportunity of making up the handicap at their next meeting.

CAMPBELL IS TO COACH STANFORD.

PALO ALTO, May 7.—Current rumors on the Stanford campus that "Dad" Moulton would return to the university next year to coach the 1915 varsity track team were ended today by the appointment of Erroll P. Campbell, former track captain, as coach for next year.

Campbell coached this year's team and starred in the intercollegiate meet won by Stanford April 18. Campbell graduates this month and will be ineligible next year. He will go with the Stanford team to the western conference meet in Chicago June 6.

M'MAHON AND KENNETH TO SCRAP AT VERNON TONIGHT

A FIRST-CLASS imitation of a head-on collision between two giant locomotives is to be given tonight under the personal direction of Uncle Tom McCarey, when Tom McMahon and Kid Kenneth mingle in the Vernon arena.

Both these young men boast a shot of dynamite in either hand, and are apparently fit good shape for the bout. When two giants of this kind with only a fair amount of science but an unfathomable amount of nerve get together, there is always a fight that brings the fans up on their feet with the real joy of battle.

In addition to the fight itself, there promises to be several other features worth the price of admission alone.

Battling Brant, who can eat more grub, snore louder and write more poetry than any man of his weight in the world, will be at the ringside to challenge the winner, and may favor the audience with a highbrow lecture upon the latest indications from his mathematical observatory.

He informed an unsuspecting and eager public last night that his observatory informed him that there were no more "evil dandancies," and that from this time on he would win all his fights.

There will be a battle royal to open the proceedings, and put the spectators in the proper bloodthirsty frame of mind to appreciate the heavyweight windup.

The announcement that McMahon was to be seconded by George and Joe Chip brought a snort of disgust from Joe Levy, the rotund manager of Kenneth, and he announced that no less a celebrity than Joe Rivers and his shadow, Abdul the Turk, would occupy a sofa in the Kid's corner.

KID WILLIAMS CALLING HIMSELF WORLD'S CHAMP.

MILWAUKEE, May 7.—Kid Williams, the Baltimore scrapper who is to fight Johnny Coulon at Tom McCarey's club for the bantam title, is not modest; neither is his manager, Sammy Harris.

This was demonstrated today when the two dropped off here to try and arrange for battles next fall and, not the least important stunt, to secure new stationery.

The Baltimore youth is so sure of a victory over Coulon that the letter paper and envelopes he ordered here are embellished with pictures of Williams as "Champion of the World." Harris also ordered some stationery on his own account, and included in the list of fighters he manages the name of Williams, whom he also styles world's champion.

Williams said that he wanted to get accustomed to California air long before the date for the fight.

DREW AND KELLEY ADVISED NOT TO TRY BROAD JUMP.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 7.—Broad jumping is not going to do any good for a world's champion sprinter or the fastest hurdler who ever wore a running spike, according to Secretary Sullivan of the Amateur Athletic Union, and if Howard Drew and Fred Kelly of the University of Southern California wish to remain invincible in their particular events they will do well to leave the field events alone.

John Elliott of this city, acting president of the A.A.U., made public today a letter received from Sullivan, in which comment is made on the showing by the Southern California boys at the recent Pennsylvania games. Mr. Sullivan says:

"Kelly had a hard time to win his race, and take my word, Mr. Kelly had better confine his competition to hurdling and not bother trying broad jumping, javelin throwing or other stunts.

"If he doesn't he will not be a 15-second man much longer, or even a 15.1 man.

"Drew, also had better cut out broad jumping, or he will not be the great and only Drew."

Easy Money.

FISHERMAN GETS GREAT TROUT CATCH ON A BET.

JOE WELSH, veteran fisherman of Pasadena, took a lot of real coin away from several unceredulous trout enthusiasts the other day.

Joe has long boasted that he could leave his home in Pasadena after breakfast in the morning and return by 6 o'clock with the limit of speckled trout. Fred Thatcher, secretary of the Southern California Trout Association, had just returned from a fishing trip with six sardine-sized trout and this looked a safe bet to him. He immediately tipped off several of his friends and they made up a bunch of gold coin to bet with Welsh.

Tuesday Welsh left his home early in the morning and drove to San Gabriel Canyon, where he fished all forenoon, returning home in the afternoon with the limit of fifty fish. The trout ranged in size from five to twelve inches with one steelhead twenty-two and one-half inches long. This is the record steelhead of the season.

To pacify the losers Joe sent them each a nice mess of trout. They did not know whether that was a favor or just rubbing it in.

YALE WINS GAME IN THE NINTH.

MUSSER SHUTS OUT BEAVERS.

Wins Pitchers' Battle from Higginbotham.

Portland Heaver Allows but One Earned Run.

Speas Makes a Sensational Peg to Plate.

BY HARRY A. WILLIAMS.

Yesterday's game was played in the key of high G; meaning fine, clear and free from rough stuff, like the plaintive, professional squeak of a prima donna.

Where the fans had the ballyhoo stuff on Wednesday, they were given a touch of the classical yesterday.

HOT STUFF.

Can Paul pitch? Can a fifer fife? Can Barney Oldfield steer an automobile? Can Charley Van Loan play golf? Can a fluter flute? Can a chicken flutter?

All of which is merely prefatory, preliminary and preparatory to the very important announcement that this gentleman from Des Moines, Atlanta, Washington and other way stations stood the proud, austere Portlanders on their heads, kept them in that strange attitude for nine full innings, and blanked them 3 to 0.

Musser simply kept his good right arm working upward and forward, from his heel, and at the end of one hour and thirty-eight minutes of this, McCredie's men had blue circles under their eyes from trying to see the ball.

HARD TO FIGURE.

It almost requires the use of a microscope to ascertain the difference in their performances. One earned run alone stood between them and a draw. Musser was hit seven times, and Higg six. Each walked two and fanned two. Both of Higg's passes coming in the third convulsion, and being framed with a hit, produced fatal results. In the ninth, W. I. H.'s support became generous, and out of the fullness of their hearts, handed the Angels a run.

Musser basked in the boon of perfect support, his pals becoming almost sensational at times in their fielding. Two crimes were committed by Higginbotham's helpers.

Lober and Davis were the only undesirables to hold conversation with Billy Page, our cultured second baseman.

Musser owes something to Walter Boles, his yoke-mate. For a Beaver to venture more than two feet off first meant certain base-running death. Boles "snipped" both Davis and Derrick with perfect throws straight from the right shoulder.

EASY IN FIRST.

The Beavers took the one-two-three treatment in the first, the only thing with a quiver attached to it being Johnson's great stop of Rodgers' grounder, and Abstein's workmanlike handling of the wide throw. Oh! you Ernie. Oh! Oh! you Bill.

Lober doubled to right with two down, in the second. Davis walked, and things looked gloomy until Boles mischievously picked Bobby off first for the third out.

Right after that Johnson hit a fine blow to center, and converted it into a double by traveling into second on his stomach. Boles was out on a grounder to Higg.

The gladsome part of the story has arrived. After Musser had been retired in the third, Higginbotham walked Wolter. Ty Lober went far out of his way to grab Page's foul, losing his cap in the undertaking. Maggert walked, and things actually looked encouraging for the first time in several days.

BILL SHINES.

Bill Abstein, that batting jewel of purest ray serene—(O'Malley stuff)—walked up, swung his bat from the region of his collar button, and knocked the ball cleanly out in the vicinity of Mr. Speas. Wolter whangdoodled along to the plate, Maggert goin to third and Abstein taking second on Speas's shot to Fisher.

At this important juncture, Ellis landed on the ball with real venom. Lober here became perniciously active again, making a wonderful catch at Seventh and San Pedro streets.

Things were then tranquil until the eighth except for an act in the

RACINE (Wis.) May 7.—Wisconsin's boxing law may be repealed at the next meeting of the Legislature in this State as a result of the refusal of the Racine promoter, John Wagner, to stage the scheduled bout between Joe Mandot and Johnny Griffiths, Wednesday night. Rather than stand a loss of $800, Wagner refused to pay the boxers their guarantees and called the mill off.

As a result of Wagner's action it was noised around Racine and Chicago today that the Legislature of the Badger State would take up the law at the next meeting and that previous to Wednesday night's trouble the law had better than an even chance to remain on the books, but as many of the men who are closely connected with the game claimed during the day that the lawmakers would probably turn against the Hedding bill.

Several men who put forth every effort to have the law permitting boxing passed and to have a boxing commission appointed, admitted today that the game was up.

JACK KILLILAY WALLOPS TIGERS

Big Jack Powell Is the Goat of the Game.

Honus McArdle Makes Several Miscues at Second.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 7.—"Handsome Jack" Killilay had occasion today in Oakland to do his first celebrating of 1914. Said celebration consisted of licking the league-leading Tigers and he accomplished the feat by some artistic and air-tight pitching. Save for an error by Guest in the first inning "Handsome Jack" would have scored a shutout, but as it was he breezed on to a 7-to-1 victory.

Jack Powell, who has been described as the oldest and heaviest pitcher in the country had to stand for the beating, but the official record makes him responsible for only one of the seven runs scored by the Oaks. Honus McArdle bobbled twice around second base and each mismus was followed by bingles which made them count in the run column.

MURPHY SHINES.

Young R. O. D. Murphy, the Washington (D. C.) youngster, was stationed on third in place of Gus Hetling, and he distinguished himself by poling a four-cushion swat with two of his team-mates on the paths.

Killilay walked Hosp in the first and Meloan singled to left. Bayless grounded to second, but Guest threw the ball away trying to force Meloan at second and Hosp scooted home.

The Oaks came back strong in the second on Murphy's double and Nass's walk, but on Cook's fly to Bayless Murphy was doubled up at the plate on a close decision.

In the fourth Powell was found by Nass for a long double to center, and Mitze's sacrifice bunt and Cook's sacrifice fly to center scored the tying run.

THE MURDER.

The sixth saw the rally that sewed up the game for keeps. Killilay was given a life on McArdle's fumble of an easy chance. Quinlan's sacrifice and Middleton's infield out carried him to third. Zacher was walked and permitted to steal second. Murphy then laced a liner right over McArdle's head. Carlisle came in on the run to cut off Zacher at the plate, but the ball took a hop high over his head and rolled on to the fence. In the meantime Murphy hotfooted it home without a play being made for him.

In the eighth Middleton singled to center with one down and he was given a life when McArdle failed to touch second on Zacher's grounder to Hosp. Murphy sacrificed. Nass was handed four wide ones and Mitze stepped into a drive over Meloan's head which counted the final three runs.

The Tigers could do nothing with Killilay. He did not permit more than a hit per inning and worked a curve that had the Tigers baffled.

ENGLISH POLO TEAM SHIFTS.

LONDON, May 7.—Baron Wimborne, manager of the English polo team which has challenged the Meadowbrook Club for a match this summer for the international polo trophy held by the Americans, decided today to drop Maj. Mathew Lennowe, No. 2, on the team, for the match game Saturday with Walter S. Buckmaster's four. He will be replaced by Maj. J. Y. D. Bingham, reputed to be a crack player.

It was announced recently that the challenging team's ponies would be shipped to the United States May 16, and that the players would sail May 23. Whether these arrangements will be adhered to is uncertain.

CAPABLANCA WINS CHESS TOURNEY.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

ST. PETERSBURG, May 7.—Play ended today in the elimination round of the international chess masters tournament with Jose R. Capablanca, the Cuban expert, well in the lead. The final scores were:

Capablanca won 8, lost 2; Lasker and Tarrasch each won 6½, lost 3½; Alechine and Marshall each won 6, lost 4; Bernstein and Rubinstein each won 5, lost 5; Niemzowitsch won 4, lost 6; Blackburne and Janowski each won 3½, lost 6½; Gunsberg won 1, lost 9.

In the final round today Capablanca, Lasker and Tarrasch, respectively, defeated Blackburne, Gunsberg and Bernstein; Rubinstein and Niemzowitsch and Alechine and Janowski drew.

In the adjourned games Rubinstein and Lasker each defeated Janowski, and Rubinstein and Tarrasch played to a draw.

AVIATOR EXPECTS TO SHOW VALUE OF WAR AEROPLANE

TO PROVE the destructive power of an aeroplane in time of war, Walter Brookins, the young aviator, is in Los Angeles, and has signed contracts for a series of aerial battles, the first of which will be produced here Sunday afternoon, May 17, at Ascot Park.

Brookins contends that one biplane in the air is worth three men in armored automobiles on the ground. To demonstrate this at the race meet at the park on Sunday, May 17, he will soar into the air equipped with twenty exploding bombs. Below him three racing cars heavily armored and carrying a sharpshooter apiece will aim guns loaded with pellets, which if they hit their aerial target will leave a plainly discernible mark upon the wings or body of the machine.

It will be Brookins's endeavor to explode a bomb within not more than six feet of each of the three armored cars while they will have to make three hits upon the biplane before they can score a victory.

This is one of the main features of the race meet, which will be held at Ascot Park on Sunday, May 17. Another sensational automobile racing feature will be Marie Dressler's 100-horsepower Fiat, which, driven by Dave Lewis, will engage in a five-mile race with Lou Sorrell in Mabel Normand's 90-horsepower Stutz. Both actresses are determined that their car shall win and have posted heavy bonuses for their men over and above the several thousand dollars which will be awarded in prize money.

Also there will be a twenty-five mile free-for-all speed race, a ten-mile free-for-all and a ten-mile race for cyclecars, the first of its kind to be held in Los Angeles. The closing feature of the meet will be a pursuit race between Brookins in his aeroplane and Lewis in his Fiat for a handsome trophy.

SPORTSMAN'S SHOW TENT SOON READY FOR EXHIBITS.

A SCORE of men have finished the work of leveling the grounds for the Sportsmen's Show, and work of erecting the 150x250 foot tent began Thursday. On Monday the exhibits will begin to be installed. The 5000-foot space of the State Game and Fish Commission, which will show wild animals and birds of the State's wild game resources, and a complete trout hatching outfit, will be one of the first to be completed as the exhibit that requires several big freight cars is now loading in the North. This exhibit alone will be a great study in natural history and a delight to sportsmen.

As the time for making entries gets shorter, requests from all over the Southland for space are coming in. The latest firms to declare their intention to exhibit are the owners of "Thousand Pines," the famous San Bernardino mountain resort, who will show a replica of their wonderful camp situated thousands of feet above sea level. The young redwood forest that will form part of the huge exposition setting will be used to make this particular exhibit one of the most realistic of the show.

The Joe Fellows Boat Building Company will have several completed motor boats on exhibition, and a "water ski," which is designed to furnish the same sport on the coast as residents back East get from their famous snow skis. The Marine Gas Engine Company will also have a number of their motors for water craft on exhibition. Motor boating is now established in Southern California and a big club has already been organized.

The famous beach city of Ocean Park will also make a unique display of a seaside resort, particularly featuring their new bath-house. The people of the beach city will be well represented in the swimming and diving championship contests. The great tank, as large as a city lot, will give ample room to pull off real championship events.

RING STARS ARE BORN AND NOT MANUFACTURED.

FIRST-CLASS boxers, like men who make their marks in all other professions, are born, not made. Ever since that memorable battle between Jim Jeffries and Jack Johnson on July 4, 1910, the boxing promoters and managers have turned the entire universe topsy-turvy in search of a boxer who could down the big black, but up to date have not even unearthed a man who is considered a logical contender for the heavyweight title.

Gunboat Smith, the most likely of the white hopes now in the limelight, has just one chance in his favor to annex the title, and that is if Johnson has gone back. This is very likely, as he has lived a fast life since he has been at the top of the ladder, and the lay-off of three and one-half years will surely tell in his next hard fight, especially if it is a long-distance contest.

Prior to Johnson holding the title about every wiseacre would argue that he knew of someone who knew of some longshoreman or burly blacksmith that could punch all the champion pugilists into a pulp in a fraction less than a jiffy, but the research dissipated that argument.

And so it has been from time immemorial in the boxing game. The men who have made good in the ring are those who have taken to the game themselves and not those forced into it on account of their bulk, as are many of our present white hopes.

It is as natural for some men to be boxers as it is for others to be poets, musicians and artists. Circumstances often develop the pugilistic nature in the successful fighting man, but nobody can become a top notcher in the prize ring unless he has the natural requirements in his makeup.

John L. Sullivan's parents admitted that nature made the big fellow a champion. It was about the same with the parents of Jeffries. His father, who was a traveling preacher up and down the western rivers, tried hard to have his big son follow in the same path, but again nature stepped in and declared Jim a gladiator. It is almost always the case that parents of pugilists are opposed to the fighting game.

RALLY WINS FOR GIANTS IN EIGHTH.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, May 7.—An eighth-inning rally, netting New York four runs, enabled the champions to nose out Boston today, 7 to 6. Crutcher, the Boston pitcher, was in hot water all through the game. He withdrew in favor of Rudolph, who made a game effort to hold the Boston lead, but his support fell down badly. The score:

Mr. McCredie Wouldn't Stand Still Long Enough for Mr. Wad to Lay a Bet On Him! ——— By Gale.

Very Painful.

FEDERALS HAVE COST WALT M'CREDIE $6000.

Not Only Lost Chadbourne and Krapp, but Failed to Get Anything in Return for "Rip" Hagerman, Who Would Have Brought $5000 in the Open Market. Figures $4000 Loss in Games at Venice.

BY HARRY A. WILLIAMS.

WALTER McCREDIE bears considerable hatred toward the Federal League, he figuring the "outlaw" organization has him about $7000 in the region of his vest pocket.

But is the place to hit a man, if he want to cause him real anguish. Above the solar plexus, the jawbone and the kidneys all hollow.

In the first place, Chester Chadbourne and Gene Krapp did a "Fred Merkle" to the Feds.

That does not regard these as the greatest loss. Chadbourne went to Indianapolis, while Mac had almost given up hope of Krapp ever attaining the desired degree of speed.

But hurt the Portland boss most is the loss of the eminent "Rip" Hagerman, who is now engaged in playing games for Cleveland, O. "Rip," who easily would have cost $5000 in the open, or free and unmolested market, was sent to Cleveland under the impression that Cleveland would send Mac three players, mostly pitchers and catchers in return.

Cleveland really intended to do this, but found it impossible to deal. Catcher Land was slated to go, but positively refused when Uncle Dan began to fill the air with dollars. Cullop also was tagged by Cleveland, but decumed to give his assignment his O.K., and did so. Hustling "Brodie" to the Feds. Everything considered, Mac has done greatly.

Hagerman Was Willing.

"I could have kept Hagerman," said McCredie. "He stated that he would willingly stay on the Coast if I wanted him. But with the promise of two men from Cleveland I decided to give him a chance in the big league. I figured that the three men coming from Cleveland would offset the loss. But these things did not come to pass. Thus far, the 'swap' of Hagerman has been a dead loss—I am holding the sack, as it were. However, when I do business with men in the big leagues, it must be stipulated that the players I am supposed to receive are not only report, but play with Portland.

"I could have kept Chadbourne, for he had done me good service, and did not want to interfere if he found he could better himself. After receiving his offer from the Feds, Chadbourne stated that he would compromise with me—that is, for ten big money in Portland than he could receive from the Feds—if I could not get along with Ryan. With Ryan coming, I told him to go ahead and better himself, telling him that a jump to the Federals would result in any permanent good.

The Feds Have Wrong Idea.

While giving the Feds credit for having put a crimp in his plans for 1915, Mac fails to see much of a future for them, unless they change their ways.

"Unquestionably the new league has helped the players temporarily," said he. "By paying fancy salaries the Feds have boosted salaries 25 per cent in the Coast League, and probably 50 per cent in the majors.

"But they can't stand the pace. The money isn't coming in at the turnstile. I have received private information from the East, that the Federal League attendance averages have been worse than padded—they have been inflated, injected with hot air like a balloon.

"In some cases, double the actual number of paid admissions has been given to the press.

Don't Need Brass Bands.

"Furthermore, the new league is making a circus out of baseball. Instead of depending on the game to draw, a lot of parade and brass-band stuff is being injected. These extraneous features attract for a time, but in the long run it will be the quality of ball played which counts.

"Baseball survives only because it is deeply rooted in the hearts of the fans. The great hitters and phenomenal fielders furnish the genuine fan with all the sensations that he can assimilate.

"The game does not need any trimmings. Neither is it dependent of brass bands for success."

Two Phonomenal Peggers.

There was a heated discussion yesterday as to which outfielder in the league is the most deadly thrower.

The general impression prevailed in these parts that Ty Lober was about the sweetest pegger since Artie Ross, meaning, of course, when Artie was in his prime.

"Lober has a wonderful elbow," said Higg, "but I believe that Speas has the edge on him."

Without entering even slightly into the argument, I freely admit that Billy's throw yesterday was one of the most remarkable ever made by the arm of mortal man, here or elsewhere.

• • •

An Expensive Diversion.

Walter McCredie probably is the most pronounced foe in the league of Sunday morning games at Venice.

Walt has it nicely figured out that the six or so games which his club plays there in a season stands him about $4000, and that he doesn't pull down much more than carfare and cigar money for all this trouble.

"Admitting that baseball is enjoyable for the fans, it isn't a whole lot of fun for the players and managers," said McCredie. "When we play ball, we want to get something out of it.

"I figure that these Venice games leave me away in the hole on a season's play. One of the biggest expenses of these morning games is the fact that they force me to carry an extra pitcher. The salary of a high-class twirler for a year runs into the thousands of dollars.

"There is some excuse for Sunday morning ball in Oakland, as only in that way can that city get two games a week. But I fail to see any benefits to be received from an extra Sunday game in any other city of the circuit.

"It simply tires the players out for the afternoon game, which should be the best performance of the series."

Some of the best people of Venice have taken steps to boost the game down there, and will strive earnestly to make it an object for McCredie and others to continue to play ball there.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

PORTLAND (Or.) May 7.—No Federal contract jumpers are in sight, but there will be baseball in the Multnomah Circuit Court when Royal N. Shaw, late of the Recreation Park Association, is suing the Recreation Park Association, owners of the San Francisco club in the Coast League, for $214.35, which he charges is due him because of a suspension twenty-eight days before his contract expired in the fall of 1911, which suspension prevented him securing employment with some other club, which he might have done had he been released outright. The case will be hurried through this week because Shaw, who is a member of the Vancouver team, now playing in Portland, may be present to attend his trial.

CREW LEAVES FOR CREW RACES.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

PHILADELPHIA, May 7.—The University of Pennsylvania crews left tonight for Princeton, where they will meet Columbia and Princeton in a triangular race on Saturday. Coach Sheemaker, the varsity stroke, was suddenly ill shortly before the crews departed and was unable to accompany them. His place probably will be taken by A. Littleton, who has been at No. 4, Madeira, who has been rowing at No. 7 in the second boat, will take Littleton's place at No. 4. The crew probably will be seated in the race Saturday as follows: Bow, Capt. Watrous, Butler, Gotham, Madeira, Garvin, Merrick, R. Littleton; stroke, A. Littleton; coxswain, Foster.

COUNTRY CLUB GOSSIP by ALMA WHITAKER

MRS. FRANK GRIFFITH of the Los Angeles Country Club and Mrs. E. R. Williams of the Midwick are the first-flight finalists in the women's invitation golf tournament at the San Gabriel Country Club.

Mrs. Griffith had a keen and interesting match with Mrs. J. V. Elliot, which went to the twenty-first hole. Mrs. Griffith won that in par figures, with one of her masterly approach shots, laid dead for the cup.

It was a match that was only marred by the intrusion of a male foursome which drove off immediately behind the players, before they had even time to reach their balls. They effectually spoiled a hole for each of the visitors—more, one realised, from ignorance of the rules than malice prepense. Really these men are a grave embarrassment. Will they never learn ordinary sporting courtesies? Can they never be induced to study the rules of a game they essay to play? One shudders to think of what would happen to the luckless woman player who intruded upon a masculine tournament in this way.

Mrs. Williams again defeated Miss Mellus, 3 up and 1. One almost suspects Miss Mellus of a preference for defeat at Mrs. Williams's hands. Has been steadily forming the nice conservative habit for the past two years.

THE OTHER FLIGHTS.

Miss Marjory Maddock of Duarte and Mrs. Clark of Spokane are the finalists in the second flight. Miss Maddock had a very close match with Mrs. Field, only winning by 1 up, and Mrs. Clark, who was 3 down at the fifteenth, succeeded in winning from Mrs. Atkinson 1 up at the twenty-first.

Mrs. Requa defeated Miss Iris Lawton in the third flight by 2 up and 1 and Miss Georgie McCall beat Mrs. Hannan by 4 up and 2. Mrs. Requa and Miss McCall play in the finals today. They are both Los Angeles Country Club members.

In the fourth flight Miss Alice Scott and Miss Bacon, both from Duarte, are the finalists. Miss Scott defeated Mrs. Eade by 5 and 4 and Miss Bacon defeated Miss Gwen Lawton 5 up and 3.

THE CONSOLATION HANDICAP.

Mrs. W. T. Bishop of the Los Angeles Country Club won the consolation event with a net 84 on 7 handicap. Mrs. Fred Griffith came next with a net 91 on 5 handicap. Mrs. Field's 95, Mrs. Perley's 97 and Miss Clark's 99 were all entirely creditable. Mrs. Parrott, who won a cup and much encouragement over at the Midwick recently, being one of the newest comers to the game, made 106 on this occasion.

And our sympathies were very much with Mrs. Joselyn of Riverside, who needed all the consolation there was. She was saddled with a small imp of a caddie, who would have been a still, cold corpse by now had he been caddying for some men I could name. This urchin found a gopher snake of terrifying aspect, picked it up and waggled it with diabolical delight for the confounding of his employer. When called to order by Mrs. Byles, his whole behavior was alarmingly impudent. The powers that be will duly chasten this impossible atom, but in the meantime it spoiled the day for two visitors.

PERSONALITIES.

This is the last day of the tournament—finals in all flights this morning and mixed foursomes this afternoon.

It has been a very delightful affair, in spite of the male sinners. Or possibly because of them. Nothing makes for unity and concord so much as a mutual foe. With five horrid men to abuse, cordially and thoroughly, harmony reigned supreme among the players. Those men would have writhed to hear the completeness of their culpability.

Mrs. C. A. Perley, who has captained the affair, has won golden opinions. She owns a charming house overlooking the links, and takes an almost maternal interest in the club. A little bit of a woman, mostly eyes, with a gentle manner and a mind of her own.

Mrs. John Clark of Spokane is one of the personalities of the tournament. She is another of Frank Hogan's pretty daughters, here on a visit. She is an exceedingly graceful golfer, a pretty driver, and wears the most attractive golf clothes, strictly black and white, very Frenchy, setting off her fair complexion and red hair to a nicety.

Sartorially speaking, Mrs. K. K. Parrott was among the most admirable women present. She has that pleasant well-bred look that sets off one's clothes instead of being set off by them. Colors, lines, style all scrupulously neat, conclusively chic. Both she and Mrs. Clark have slender figures, medium height. And they are both at the most charming age—but in totally different styles.

Mrs. Requa appeared in a most becoming scheme of deep purple, and Mrs. Frank Griffith in the palest mauve. Mrs. Byles, however, had the hat of the tournament with a wonderful orange and black band, which we all coveted. Mrs. Dudley Fulton is also favoring an orange scheme of color just now, which suits her even better than her former green. Miss Katherine Mellus still keeps rigidly to all white. She is quite the most stately and dignified, gracious of all the women golfers.

Mrs. E. R. Williams is a most attractive and popular personality. Her clothes are always chosen with a view to workmanlike usefulness, an almost boyish style that exactly suits her walk and characteristic actions. There is capacity, efficiency and good sportsmanship in her very walk, an entirely appropriate Coast and State champion.

Quite a number of pretty, young girls in this tournament. Miss Marjory Maddock, for instance; Miss Georgie McCall, and the Lawton sisters. Miss McCall certainly wears the most becoming golf clothes—father should be extremely proud to play with her in today's foursomes.

After the golf, tea has been served each afternoon under delightful conditions and some of the many charming matrons of the club have presided. Mrs. J. P. Lawton and Mrs. F. O. Wood presided yesterday. Quite a number of amiable men hovered 'round toward tea time to lend the occasion their services—F. O. Wood, G. H. Judge, Lee Stephens, the Parkers, J. P. Lawton, all ready to expend endless sympathy and hearken unto serial details of achievements and failures at each green.

HANNAH CONTINUES TO BAT WOLVES TO VICTORY.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SACRAMENTO, May 7.—Driving Southpaw Pernoll to the bench with an onslaught of twelve hits in less than eight innings and greeting Relief Man Tozer with the one more necessary hit to break up a tie score, the Sacramento Wolves made it three straight over San Francisco today, winning 6 to 5. With thirteen hits, the Wolves made their total count 127 hits for the last ten games. Harry Hannah went to bat four times; three times there were men on bases, and each of these three times he connected for a hit. In the eighth he drove in Young with the winning run, the third run that Hannah drove in. Umpire Held chased all the Seal utility men to the bench in the seventh inning and their teammates pulled together long enough to tie the score. Klawitter relieved Slagle in the seventh and when in the eighth two errors gave the Seals another chance, Klawitter ended the game by retiring Cartwright and Schaller on called third strikes.

SHAMROCK IV IS SOME YACHT.

LONDON, May 7.—"A futurist design" is Yachting World's description of Shamrock IV, Sir Thomas Lipton's challenger for the America's cup.

"The new boat is no beauty," says the World. "Her greatest beam is forward of the mast, which gives her an exaggerated 'codhead,'" and the extreme bluffness detracts from her looks. The square box stern is another violation of the modern canons of yacht designing. The greatest overhang is forward, and her amidships section shows she is very square on the bilge, and flat on the floor. The lead keel is flat at the bottom."

Continuing, the Yachting World says that the challenger's greatest beam is 24, and her draught without the centerboard 14, and with the centerboard down 23 feet. The mast is 110 feet high, and the Marconi topmast gives an additional 50 feet.

"If the challenger is not a flyer, it will not be because power has been sacrifice for fine rounded sections," the publication adds.

FED. PITCHERS SHOULD WORRY.

CHICAGO, May 7.—Secretary Lloyd Rickard of the Federal League today telegraphed all umpires and managers of the circuit for opinions on the change made in the league's official ball, which was made for the purpose of reducing its resiliancy. Too many long drives, in President Gilmore's opinion, were made by the Federal batters, and at his request the manufacturers of the next batch of balls turned out inserted a layer of cotton just beneath the leather cover, which, they estimated, would cut off 15 per cent. of the ball's resiliency.

Two Orpheum beauties.

The girl at the top is Clara Inge, who is one of the attractions on the bill this week, while the scantily-clad siren below is Alice Eis, who comes next week. Strangely enough, you pronounce Alice's last name ice, but it isn't in the least indicative of the temperament of the lady, they say.

PREACHED AGAINST STAGE AS DAUGHTER WINS FAME.

BY GARDNER BRADFORD.

LIFE IS MUCH TOO SHORT to moralize in, but just the same, did you ever happen to notice that as a rule it is the goody-goody people who have sons and daughters who step out and raise the dickens and sadden the family hearthstones?

Clara Inge, one of the cutest little cut-ups the Orpheum has had in a long time, is like that, though I understand that now said homestead is gladdened and not saddened on her account.

For Clara's father, it seems, is a preacher, and the assistant of that famous evangelist, Rev. Sam Jones, and both have for years preached that the theater is the doorway to hell and all that sort of thing.

When Clara went on the stage it gave reverend daddy some jolt, but now a weekly remittance is joy to his heart, for Clara is making good, and that, nowadays, is the main thing, whether your line be preaching, acting, or anything else.

At that, the church and stage are getting closer every day. Many of the most famous preachers of the day were actors, and there are not a few erstwhile preachers who are now actors, and not a few more who would make good if they wanted to try it.

And it is only as it should be, for when you get down to cases, it was the church which founded the stage, as it was years before anything outside of religion was presented by the first actors.

Evidently Los Angeles is ripe for a good, intense drama, if one is to judge by the seat sale for "The Argyle Case," which comes to the Mason week after next.

The famous fiction mystery which Robert Hilliard will present will be the first thing of this nature we have had since "Within the Law," though this is hardly cause for comment, as good shows have been few and far between for quite some time.

And speaking of mysteries, do you happen to belong to the 6-8-4 club? Sounds like the combination of a safe, or a football rush, and, maybe, at that, it is a combination of both, for some of the members opened up the other night and sure did rush things.

It all happened at the Palm Grill, on Broadway, with Harry Siebert Smith acting as host. And everybody was in the profession excepting two pretty Los Angeles girls, the Misses Barbara and Margery Fisher.

Others attending were Walter Montague, the playwright, Lew Wheeler, who taught the late Joe Jefferson how to act, and William Winter how to write critiques, Eleanor Knowles, who makes the cutest little China slave girl you ever saw; Howard Nugent, Herbert Sears, and Mr. and Mrs. Keenan Wallace.

Now maybe that isn't some bunch to get together for a good time, but it nearly ended in tragedy when Montague asked Wheeler for the brightest line he knew and Wheeler said "Sapollo."

And, speaking of old-timers, like Lew Wheeler, reminds me that there will be another at the Hippodrome next week, none other than Victory Bateman, one of the best known stock leading women in the country.

Years ago she was the idol of the old Grand of Frisco. Lately she has been in the movies here in Los Angeles, but was forced to go to the hospital. She just got out this week, but found a place waiting for her in Montague's sketch, "The Tango Tea."

And who else do you think is coming to town shortly? Jane O'Rourke, who, by the way, is a Los Angeles girl, whose real name would give you a thrill. She is coming with Broderick O'Farrell, and they will present "The Law."

Right here, speaking of old friends, let me slip in a bit of news which came by telegraph one day last week, but which I never thought of again till just now.

You remember Will Abrams and Agnes Johns? They've split, and if two and two can be put together and make four, she is to join Melbourne MacDowell, in vaudeville.

Isabelle Evesson, who was with MacDowell when he played here, split with him, during the Los Angeles engagement.

Did you ever realize, I wonder, how much credit authors get for things in their plays that they never put there themselves?

In fact, frequently the most telling lines in shows were introduced by the actors themselves, or suggested by ushers, stage hands, etc.

Take even with such a local case as "Pretty Mrs. Smith." Unless I have been misinformed, the line which made the show in the East was inserted by a certain musician at one of the very last rehearsals of the play.

It was "Drusilla, you never were a piker," and is sprung when she is deciding which hubby to keep, and explains her dilemma by admitting that she loves all four. Or was it seven she had?

And in "The Argyle Case," which comes to the Mason week after next, is a similar instance. Seems, Hilliard one night, as Detective Kayton, was grilling young Argyle, suspected of murdering his father, when he noticed that Harvey Clark, impersonating the boy, was getting confused, and trying to conceal one of his hands.

"What's the matter with your hand?" abruptly asked Hilliard.

"I cut it, sir," stammered Clark, extending his hand. It was covered with blood.

Hilliard sensed the thrill which ran through the audience, and after the show, when young Clark explained how the accident happened, and how the court plaster had not held the cut together, Hilliard replied: "It is great business."

And now they do it every night, the property man standing in the wings with the bucket of red paint ready to give the effect which sends shivers down the spines of the audience.

BACK FROM HAWAII.

Los Angeles Minister Returns from Visit to Island Possessions and Pronounces Everything Good.

Dr. and Mrs. J. Whitcomb Brougher arrived at home yesterday from a three-weeks' trip to Honolulu as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Sleicher of Troy, N. Y. They went out on the China and returned on the Mongolia, Dr. Brougher entertaining the passengers on both steamers with his lecture, "What's Under Your Hat." He says five meals a day were served on board, and that though the sea was smooth some persons made out to get ten—five down and five up.

In Honolulu Dr. Brougher delivered an address before the Ad Men's Club, visited the volcano and saw it in action—both supposed to be warm stunts. He saw and tried about everything there is to see and try on the Island of Oahu, from pineapple juice to Hawaiian surf boards, and comes back a booster—for Los Angeles.

Beavers Shut Out.

fourth that was not on the bill. In that inning, an ambitious photographer walked out in the middle of the diamond and pointed his camera at Higginbotham. Higg nurses a superstition to the effect that it brings bad luck to be "mugged" before or doing a game. He politely threw his glove at the photographer, sending that young man into hiding.

SOME HEAVE.

I don't know what Speas uses for soaking his right elbow, but it certainly is a powerful ointment, this lad making a throw in the eighth that was about the most vigorous piece of strong-arm work ever seen at the local yard.

Page beat out a slow one to Kores after one had been retired in the eighth. Billy stole second, Fisher's throw hitting him just above the belt and slanting off into left field. Page, without pausing to sooth the injury, hastened on to third. Maggert sent a fly into deep right. Page was off for the plate with the thud of the ball in Speas's mit. Speas drew back, uncoiled and sent the ball home on a line. It plainly had Page beaten, but Fisher never had a chance to place it on the runner. Billy bowling him over on the line. Gus was jarred clear down to his cleats, and before he could right himself, Page had fallen across the plate.

Right after that, flushed by his great achievement, Speas butterfingered Abstein's fly, Ab going to second. With things getting most interesting, Davis and Derrick sent Ellis to the bench in sorrow.

BABY CHICKS START FIRE.

A few baby-chicks in a patent brooder used as an advertising feature in a plant store at No. 115 North Main street, were responsible for activities on the part of the fire department, police department and hundreds of citizens, last night.

In some way that cannot be explained they overturned the little lamp in the brooder, the lamp which gives out the heat to make the youngsters grow into big, sizable chicks, and started a blaze that alarmed a passing pedestrian who turned in a fire alarm. Two downtown engine companies responded, police from Central Station and citizens on downtown streets came without end to see the fire.

The damage was negligible.

It Can't Be Done.

ENGLISH POLOISTS WON'T WITHDRAW, SAYS WHITNEY

LAKEWOOD (N. J.) May 7.—H. P. Whitney, captain of the international polo team that represented the United States last year, and the man who was largely responsible for returning the cup to this country and holding it against two invasions, said tonight:

"The polo association takes no cognizance of the reports that England will not be represented here this year. The Hurlingham club cannot withdraw its challenge, any more than Sir Thomas Lipton could withdraw from the America's cup race after trying out his boat and finding it did not suit him. All arrangements for a series of games have been made between the Hurlingham club and the polo association, and not between individuals.

"The polo association is not concerned with the personnel of the English team. We are practicing with that idea in mind. Speaking with Capt. Waterbury, we believe it inconceivable that Hurlingham will withdraw at this late hour. It is ridiculous to talk about the great expense the visitors will incur. Once in this country, the players become the guests of the polo association, and they will be under no expense for the keep of their ponies and grooms."

Juan Fuentes, the little Californian in charge of the Dupee string, expressed decided views regarding a withdrawal of the challenge.

"It reminds me of the man who was served with a lobster having only one claw at a restaurant," said Juan. "The waiter explained the other claw had been bitten off by another lobster in a fight. 'Then bring me the winner,' ordered the man. This is what Hurlingham should do. If Lord Wimborne's team has been beaten it should send over the winners."

Juvenile Opera.

"PRISCILLA" AT MANUAL ARTS.

ROMANTIC OPERA PRESENTED BY GLEE CLUBS.

Entertaining and Educative Production by High School Students, Notable for Careful Training, Good Histrionic Talent and Fair Singing, Accompanied by Senior Orchestra.

BY HECTOR ALLIOT.

High School glee clubs are invading the field of juvenile grand opera. Tonight Polytechnic will give "The Mikado;" in two weeks Los Angeles High, "Martha;" last evening Manual Arts presented the romantic opera of Surette and Colridge, "Priscilla, or the Pilgrims' Proxy."

As produced by the glee clubs, assisted by the senior orchestra, under the direction of Miss Groves, "Priscilla" proved to be a very pleasing entertainment, but a typical High School musical and dramatic rendition—one that could well be imitated in choice for future performances.

The romantic opera combines dramatic action, musical numbers of merit and historical interest in dialogue, costume and scenery.

Musical plays of this character are admirable vehicles for the latent talent of students and should be encouraged as fostering clearness of enunciation, grace of manner and rational development of histronic ability.

Efficiency, great attention to technical detail, combined with ease and naturalness, constituted the greatest charm of the performance given before a very large audience.

The stage of Manual Arts is the largest after the Auditorium, and the students have from time to time fashioned in the shops of the school practically all the impedimenta of a well-organized theater. A chief carpenter, assisted by scene shifters, electricians and aides, constitute the working staff under the stage manager's direction. It is quite worthy of most theaters.

The actors are young women and men who sing and speak their parts earnestly, intelligently and without any attempt to ape veteran actors.

The charm and educational value of "Priscilla" was that notable feature of natural expression, without any attempt to reach beyond the limits of a High School production, but doing the best possible within the limitations.

Under the able direction of Miss Groves, the senior orchestra acquitted themselves creditably throughout the performance.

The young women sang much better than the boys; they acted also with greater ease; but it is less difficult to look well and pretty in the quaint costumes of the Mayflower maidens than to impersonate Gov. Bradford or Miles Standish.

One thing is certain, and that is that if the fair immigrants who gathered at Southampton in 1620 were as pretty—and most of them probably were—as the Manual Arts maidens, it is not difficult to explain why so many doughty warriors are recorded in Gov. Bradford's celebrated "Historie of Plimouth Plantation."

Vera Morrow was Priscilla, the pretty pilgrim, a youthful singer of much promise, and having a soprano voice of good tonality and reach. Arthur Gilman made a capital John Alden, even if his ability as a song bird is not highly developed. William Bradford, the Governor of New Plymouth, was Floyd Kennard, in a superb colonial costume and impressive wig. The comedian part, Hatebad Higgings, agent of the Mayflower, vendor of acknowledged heirlooms, the warrior, haughty and brave, but timid in the presence of women, was Lawrence Tibbet; the leading character, Capt. Miles Standish. Fay Emmons impersonated Squanto, a kind of reformed red man. Edna Shelton was very clever in her part of a middle-aged spinster, Resignation, a difficult role for a girl of 16.

Barbara, Faith, and Prudence were Vivian Sumann, Gladys Strang and Helen List. A chorus of some forty pilgrims, maidens and soldiers completed the cast.

Combined College Glee Clubs Concert.

The combined glee clubs of Pomona, U.S.C. and Occidental will give a concert at Venice on Saturday evening.

L. E. Wheeler-Reid, the enthusiastic manager of the combined Glee Club Concert Company, will have charge of this great college affair. The concert will follow the athletic events and aquatic sports which will take place in the afternoon.

Pomona will send its double quartette, U.S.C. its girls' glee club, and Occidental its full glee club.

WOMAN IS HELD UP.

Bandit Alights From Car, Strikes Her on Head and Empties Her Purse of Its Contents.

Mrs. Anne Williams of No. 1415 Iowa street, Hollywood, was struck on the head by a hold-up man while walking from the Hollywood car, from which she had just alighted, to her home, late last night. Her purse, containing $40, was taken from her. She was not seriously injured by the blow.

The bandit had been a passenger on the same car as Mrs. Williams. She alighted at Hudson street, and the man followed. After walking just behind her for half a block, he struck her on the head with what probably was a club, the blow knocking her down. He held her down while he searched her purse. He took all the money in it and then ran away.

Mrs. Williams was taken in by near-by residents and later went to her home.

SUMMER CRUISE TO HAWAII.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

VALLEJO (Cal.) May 7.—Information has been received at Mare Island Navy Yard to the effect that the cruiser Milwaukee, now at Puget Sound Navy Yard, would be commissioned and, in charge of officers and instructors of the navy, would take on companies of Washington, Oregon and California naval reserves for a summer cruise, which will include target practice at Diamond Head, Hawaiian Islands.

Lots of Fun.

SCHOOLBOY TRACK MEET AT PASADENA IS POPULAR.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

PASADENA, May 7.—Though it was a high treble and became rather squeaky at times, a greater volume of noise rose from the bleachers at Tournament Park this afternoon than has resounded there for many a day.

The occasion was the 1914 annual handicap field and track meet of the Public Athletic League, an event in whose honor the grammar schools of the city were closed for the afternoon and an inordinate number of headaches developed at the High School.

It is a safe bet that not a schoolboy or a schoolgirl in the city who was not sick abed failed to be on hand, and almost as many had places in the track events as on the grand stand. The boys who raced were as likely to be crowded from the track as left behind in the run, and footballs flew through the air so fast, and jumping sticks fell crisscross on every hand so rapidly that from a distance the scene presented was a conglomerate mass of all the sports in existence.

The teachers of the different schools, however, held a tight rein on the boys and, though there were several hundred events on the programme, all took place in order and about a wagonload of medals were distributed, not to mention some really handsome trophies, which were presented by different residents of the city.

The seats on the grand stand were packed with pretty schoolgirls, who waved pennants, and yelled at the tops of their voices. The rooting was more than half the game. A more animated scene was never presented in the city, and a dozen or more ice-cream cone wagons, that were on hand, were completely forgotten.

A taste for organized athletics has been spreading rapidly through the elementary schools of the city in the past few years, and the Board of Education has done all it could to foster it by providing a number of coaches who have worked under the direction of A. Claude Braden of the Young Men's Christian Association. The boys of the different schools have been encouraged to provide themselves with distinctive field suits and interschool games have been in progress for some time. The annual meet at Tournament Park is always the crowning event.

HEAD-ON COLLISION.

Motorcyclist Hits Car and Is Taken to Receiving Hospital With Broken Skull.

Motorcycling and conversation are not simultaneously possible with safety, and an experiment to prove or disprove it last night on Central avenue may cost Charles J. Bryson, 23 years old, of Willowbrook, his life.

He collided, head on, with a northbound Central-avenue car at Forty-seventh street, shortly after 10 o'clock last night and suffered a broken skull and possible internal injuries. He was taken to the Receiving Hospital. He may die.

Bryson was riding between tracks, going south. His companion, Harry Lewis of Willowbrook, on another motorcycle, was on the right side of the street. They were talking to each other as they sped along at about twenty miles an hour.

Bryson failed to notice the northbound street car and as it neared him, lost his control and smashed straight into it. His machine was wrecked and he was knocked into an unconscious heap.

HUMANE SOCIETY OFFICERS.

At the organization of the directors of the Humane Society for Children yesterday Emory McDowell resigned and M. C. Adler was elected to fill the vacancy. The following officers were chosen for the ensuing year: President, Mrs. Fred Hooker Jones; vice-president, E. J. Lickley; secretary, Mrs. Eugene Overton; treasurer, M. C. Adler. Mrs. Jones later declined to serve, on account of a contemplated prolonged visit, and another will be chosen at the next meeting.

REBEL CHIEF ON HIS KNEE

Villa Can't Understand Embargo on Arms.

Says Only a Few More Guns Are Needed by Him.

"Send Them in and I Shall Soon End the War."

TORREON (Mex.) May 7.—A[illegible] the lifting of the embargo on arms the swiftest, surest and most humanitarian method of bringing peace to Mexico, was made in an interview today by Gen. Francisco Villa, general in chief of the Constitutionalist army. "The embargo is protracting the struggle uselessly and is placing a burden on the whole of Mexico, which can serve no good," he said. "I have told the American government and people that the placing of the embargo is interfering seriously with the plans of the Constitutionalists. See what we did in the brief time the embargo was lifted. Gomez Palacio, Torreon, San Pedro de las Colonias and even Monterey were Constitutionalist, and all due to the lifting of the embargo. Mexico must be pacified quickly. We can be pacified quickly. We can gain this end quickly while we suffer from lack of ammunition.

"We can continue this struggle under social and economic conditions in Mexico by capturing our ammunition from the enemy as we have done formerly in the past, but such a method would necessarily drag the war out a long period. I believe therefore that every humanitarian consideration argues for the lifting of the embargo. The sooner we can secure the guns and ammunition we need, the sooner the country will be pacified and normal conditions restored. I am sure the American people will see no difficulty in understanding this."

After reviewing the aims of the Constitutionalists, Gen. Villa told of the attitude toward the United States and Americans in event that hostilities should ensue between the two countries.

"I wish," he said, "that you would make it clear to the people of the United States that I am anxious that all Americans connected with industries in Mexico to return and again take up their pursuits. I wish to say that the foreigners now in Mexico and those who return will have nothing to fear should it ever come to war between Mexico and the United States and I give my word that everything possible will be done by me to protect them. Should they desire to leave the country in such an event I would place enough rolling stock at their disposal to take them and all their movable property out of Mexico."

Gen. Villa's face was serious as he made this statement, which he emphasized with vigorous gestures, but he concluded his face broke into a smile, and he said:

"But why talk of war with the United States? It would be extremely foolish for two reasonable and intelligent men to fight over a drunken brawl, and would it not be the height of folly for the United States and Mexico to come to blows over a mere incident? It seems to me that the more civilized world would have to avoid this come to pass."

Gen. Villa reiterated his belief in the good will of the American people toward Mexico.

"After all," he said, "our interests are mutual. A boundary is only a necessary line of political importance and economically the Rio Grande has never proven a stiff barrier to the nations separated by it. I believe that all enlightened Americans and Mexicans take this stand. I know I do.

"However, there is much to [illegible] sympathy. The Mexicans would resent as Mexicans just as the American would prefer to remain American[illegible]. For this reason we Mexicans would defend our country to the last. I take the liberty to say that before a war between the United States and Mexico would be terminated, few Mexicans would be left alive. It is not every American who believes this, yet I dare say that Americans who have lived in Mexico agree with me that the Mexican loves his country as much as the man of any other race. He would not be a citizen if he did not. But I am sure and always have been for peace."

CAMPAIGN PLANS.

Gen. Villa told of the efforts he was making in preparation for an effective campaign against Saltillo and San Luis Potosi. He dwelt on the fact that a majority of the 15,000 men he reviewed yesterday were mounted and [illegible] enthusiastically of the fine [illegible] of their mounts.

The next moves in Villa's war, it is said, depend somewhat on developments after the arrival of Gen. Carranza, who is expected today. Hundreds of box cars for supporting troops have been concentrated about Torreon and large [illegible] of provisions and forage have been assembled. All available troops to the north are being brought in. The reopening of the Torreon-Juarez line of railroad, repairs on which are going forward rapidly, will greatly facilitate the handling of [illegible].

It is reported here that the railroad between Saltillo and San Luis Potosi has been cut, shutting off railroad communication between the Federal garrisons of those two cities. A constitutionalist command is said to be operating a short distance south of Saltillo and another a short distance north of San Luis Potosi.

Eugenio Aguirre Benavides has recently been appointed military governor of the Laguna district, including Torreon, Gomez, Palacio, San Pedro and Matpal.

PORT CLOSED TO ALL.

British Ambassador Advises That Nobody Is Allowed to Land at the Mexican Port.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

GALVESTON (Tex.) May 7.—The British Ambassador at Washington has ordered today to Charles A. Bland, British Consul at Galveston, that it would not be advisable for anyone to land. It is believed here Rear-Admiral Craddock, commanding the British forces off Tampico, has advised the British Ambassador further trouble there is anticipated.

The former Atlantis, with sixty-two refugees returning to Tampico, was to sail from port today.

the least nervous. They smiled happily as they led the procession from the altar to the Red Room, where they received the congratulations of the guests.

Supper was served in the state dining-room, while the marine band played. The bride cut the wedding cake with Dr. Grayson's sword, the young folks had a dance in the blue room and in an unsuspected moment Mr. and Mrs. McAdoo slipped into a waiting automobile and motored rapidly down Executive avenue. They will be away on their honeymoon about two weeks and will not go abroad, as has been reported. The Secretary expects to keep in close touch with the work of his office.

BRIDAL GOWN DESCRIBED.

WASHINGTON, May 7.—The bridal gown of Miss Wilson and some of the other gowns of her wedding trousseau were authoritatively described after the ceremony of today had been concluded.

The bridal gown was made of ivory white satin and trimmed with real old point lace. The bodice was softly draped with satin, which crosses in front and is brought to a point below the shoulders, front and back. The V-shaped neck is finished with folds of soft tulle. The long mousquetaire sleeves are made of tulle. The real old point lace is draped over the right shoulder to the left side of the waist and is fastened with a spray of orange blossoms; the lace then continues as a border to the long transparent tunic of tulle, which graduates to the side of the skirt at the train. The long sweeping train is three and a half yards in length. A cap effect bridal wreath especially executed from orange blossoms, and long draped veil were very effective.

The real old point lace used on the gown is a work of art in lace-making. Unique in design and perfect in execution, it is said this famous art treasure, which is a part of a world-famous collection, may find its place as an antique in a national collection.

The three-piece going-away dress was made of corbeau blue gaberdine. The coat is of corbeau blue charmeuse and gaberdine. The front and upper part of the back of the coat is of charmeuse. The back is gathered at the collar. The three-quarter sleeve of gaberdine is topped with the blue charmeuse. The edge of the sleeve is bound with a flat-back silk braid. Soft girdle of gaberdine, caught in front, with oval charmeuse buckle.

The bodice is dark blue chiffon over white. It has braided straps of gaberdine over the shoulders with twelve rows of braid over belt of blue gaberdine. White organdie vestee and collar edged with a rose and green flowered narrow ribbon, fastened in front by three ribbon buttons. Long blue sleeves over white chiffon ending in a wide cuff of sixteen rows of narrow black braid.

The short skirt of gaberdine with three circular flounces starting at the sides of skirt. These are fastened at back with a strap of gaberdine, attached to which are four small black silk tassels. Between the flounces, corbeau charmeuse, to which they are attached, showing one inch of charmeuse between each flounce. Flounces and bottom of skirt edged with black silk braid. A rose and silver evening gown is made of rose pink satin d'amour and rose tulle. Satin bodice ending in points at shoulders (surplice effect) and edged with silver braid around armholes. Pink rose and bud posed below left shoulder. Large flesh-colored net butterfly bow at back attached to points at shoulders. Silver shadow lace forms flowing sleeves. Skirt of rose pink satin d'amour veiled with tunic of shadow silver lace, from which flows long overskirt of rose-colored tulle. Silver lace continued down front and makes a slight pointed train at back.

Ciel blue brilliant peau de faille gown with bodice of self color blue silk net which veils bands of silver re-embroidered lace across the front. Around neck and down front of bodice ending at waist line a bias band of peau de faille. Where they meet they are finished off with a single natural rose bouquet. Japanese collar. Below collar a fullness is gathered which falls softly to waist line. Net sleeves, gathered at elbow with silver thread, making a soft ruffle effect. Silver embroidered motifs on sides of soft folded girdle. Skirt—Flat puff tunic effect at back. Front of skirt simple long drape, cut bias and a trifle fuller at side, with slight opening at bottom.

BIG NEWSPAPERS CONSOLIDATED.

Inter Ocean and Record-Herald to Be Merged.

Combined Publication Stays in Morning Field.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHICAGO, May 7.—The Chicago Record-Herald and the Chicago Inter Ocean were purchased today by James Keeley, general manager of the Chicago Tribune. The transfer of the papers was announced shortly after George Wheeler Hinman, holder of the majority of the Inter Ocean bonds, had bought the Inter Ocean for $50,000 in a receiver's sale in the Federal court.

The two papers will be merged and published as the Record-Herald. W. W. Chapin, formerly in charge of the San Francisco Call, will be associated with Mr. Keeley in the management of the papers, according to the announcement. Mr. Chapin, it was said, will manage the business affairs and Mr. Keeley, the editorial department.

Mr. Keeley, it was said, would sever his connection with the Tribune at once.

INTER OCEAN HISTORY.

The Inter Ocean was founded in 1865 as the Republican with Charles A. Dana as editor. Dana left within a year. After the fire of 1875, the Republican was reorganized as the Inter Ocean with J. Young Scammon as proprietor. In 1872, Frank W. Palmer of Des Moines, Iowa, purchased the stock and became editor-in-chief, and in 1875 a new corporation, with William Penn Nixon at its head bought the property. H. H. Kohlsaat, Charles T. Yerkes, George Wheeler Hinman, and again Mr. Kohlsaat succeeded in turn to the ownership of the paper until it was thrown into the hands of a receiver several weeks ago.

HISTORY OF RECORD-HERALD.

The Record-Herald is the development of combinations of three papers. The Daily Times was founded in 1854, and four years later the Chicago Herald appeared, owned by Cyrus H. McCormick. In 1860 McCormick bought the Times and consolidated the two papers as the Chicago Times-Herald. A year later Wilbur F. Storey purchased the paper and dropped the word Herald from its name.

In 1881 Frank W. Palmer started another Herald which, in 1894, was combined with the Times, which again became the Times-Herald, and was sold to Herman H. Kohlsaat. In 1901 the Times-Herald was combined with the Record, owned by Victor F. Lawson and became the Record-Herald. Mr. Kohlsaat retained control of a majority of the stock, however, until its sale in 1902 to Frank B. Noyes, who, in 1910, returned the editorship to Mr. Kohlsaat. In 1912 Mr. Lawson obtained control of the paper.

April 1, Mr. Lawson notified the holders of Record-Herald bonds valued at $2,500,000 that on May 1 he would turn over his $2,000,000 stock in the paper to them. A committee of bondholders was named which arranged the sale of the paper to Mr. Keeley.

The following signed statement was issued by Mr. Keeley tonight:

"The Chicago Record-Herald and the Chicago Inter Ocean were purchased yesterday (Thursday) by James Keeley. The two papers will be consolidated on Monday and will be published as the Chicago Record-Herald and Inter Ocean.

"Mr. Keeley will be editor and W. W. Chapin, recently publisher of the Seattle Post-Intelligencer, and the San Francisco Call, will be publisher.

"The Record-Herald and Inter Ocean were purchased free of all debts and obligations of every kind.

"The consolidated paper will be independent—in politics and every other phase of activity. It will endeavor to be a constructive force in Chicago and the great Central West. It will work for the upbuilding—physically, commercially and morally—of the city in which it has its home and in national affairs will strive to uphold the hands of those who are laboring for the welfare of the people as a whole.

"Cleanliness and accuracy, in as far as it is humanly possible, will control its news and advertising columns and sanity will be the governing factor in the editorial treatment of men, women, measures and affairs.

Thin Blood Causes Backache

Every muscle in the body needs a supply of rich, red blood in proportion to the work it does.

The muscles of the back are under heavy strain and have but little rest. When the blood is thin, they lack nourishment and rebel. The result is a sensation of pain in those muscles.

The best medical authorities agree that backbone seldom or never means kidney trouble. Real organic kidney disease may have progressed to a critical point without developing a pain in the back. Doctors detect its presence by the excretions of the kidneys themselves.

Pains in the back should always lead the sufferers to look to the condition of the blood. It will be found in most cases that the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to build up the blood will stop the grumbling of the ill-nourished muscles of the back. How much better it is to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for the blood than to give way to unreasonable alarm about your kidneys. If you suspect your kidneys, any doctor can make tests in ten minutes that will set your fears at rest or tell you the worst.

Colorado Senate Debates Over Criticism of Gov. Ammons; House Fights Over Pay of the Militia.

DENVER, May 7.—A proposal to bar from the printed record of the Colorado Senate a resolution offered by John I. Tierney, in which the Ammons' administration was criticised in connection with its policy in the coal strike, caused heated debate late today. The resolution remained on the record. The vote, which was on a motion by Hiram E. Hilts, was a tie. Lieut.-Gov. Fitzgarald withheld his deciding vote and the motion was declared lost.

The House in the meantime engaged in a vigorous clash over the bill for a $1,000,000 bond issue to pay the expenses of the militia. B. A. Sweet offered an amendment providing that the money raised by the measure should not be used for paying any militiamen who ever served as mine guards or detectives, or any man connected with the Ludlow battle of April 20, until he had been exonerated by a court-martial. With this resolution before it, the House passed up the bill until tomorrow.

FOR SALE—

MY PLAN TO HELP YOU GET A FARM.

I am willing to assist good, responsible men in obtaining a home and a comfortable living. I will divide my IRRIGATED ranch into 20 and 40-acre farms, and permit the most desirable applicants to take possession at once, conditional only upon your making such permanent improvements that will assure me you mean business, and the payment of but $5 per acre and the first quarter interest, merely to help defray subdivision expenses.

Price of land $150 per acre. We know the worth of our land. We back it to make good.

WILL NOT ASK FOR A PAYMENT ON THE PRINCIPAL UNTIL OCTOBER, 1915, WHEN YOU PAY ONE-QUARTER AND ONE-QUARTER EACH SUCCEEDING YEAR UNTIL PRINCIPAL IS PAID.

Located in the prosperous Oakdale Irrigation District, Stanislaus county, about 3 miles from Oakdale, on the S. P. R. R. Soil is S. J. Sandy loam, adapted to the raising of alfalfa; all kinds of citrus fruits, olives, figs, almonds, vegetables, etc.

Water belongs to the land, and you are assured of a plentiful supply from the Oakdale Irrigation District for all purposes, at a low rate.

I reserve the right to reject any applicant, but will give every responsible man a chance at this opportunity, provided he has enough capital to finance himself to the extent of putting in a permanent crop the first year, to assure me he intends to make his future payments.

FOR SALE—

147 ACRES IN THE FAMOUS OJAI VALLEY INCLUDING 70 ACRES IN LEMONS AND ORANGES, FOR THE PRICE OF THE RAW LAND.

We offer today the best bargain we have ever had in this line. 100 pounds of high-class district, 147 acres, 5 miles from Nordhoff, commanding a magnificent view of the whole valley; 40 acres in full bearing lemons, 30 acres navel oranges, 10 acres cleared and in hay; all splendid citrus land, comfortable ranch house with bath and plumbing, barn, chicken house, all necessary tools, equipment, wagons, etc., including two fine teams, value $500 each, ample water; good pumping plant; a place with tremendous possibilities and a home place, with fine income. Owing to family reasons, we are ordered to sell for $30,000, including everything, $15,000 cash, balance to suit. Raw land in this valley sells from $200 to $500 per acre, while here we have 70 acres in full-bearing citrus fruits which if well taken care of, would be worth $1500 per acre. The oranges have been neglected, while the lemons are in pretty good shape. Big crop on trees now goes with place, if taken at once. This ranch is the kind of which competent parties can be made to produce $20,000 yearly, and should be worth in a few years $100,000; based on surrounding values. THE ALFRED H. GWYNN CO., exclusive agents, 1020 Marsh-strong Bldg., Ninth and Main.

UNDER $1,000,000 IRRIGATION SYSTEM.

COMPLETED AND IN OPERATION.

The opportunity to buy this land may be gone tomorrow—act now and avoid disappointment. These lands under $1,000,000 irrigation system, completed and in operation—good, permanent water; land at only 50 cents an acre. State of Utah has limited price of water to $60 an acre—$7 per acre cash and 15 years' time to pay the balance, 6 per cent. If you pay cash 25 cents an acre down, the remaining 25 cents an acre in three years.

Good schools, ready markets—in a settled district. Only 3 hours from Salt Lake City and 20 hours from Los Angeles. Delightful climate and pure water. Good for irrigation. Water now ready for delivery to every acre open to settlement. No speculators wanted—come prepared to settle and cultivate your land. Send for illustrated statistics this land should soon pay for itself; 15 tons of sugar beets to the acre have been raised here and 50 bushels of wheat. Corn and potatoes also grow high on 50 bushels of oats from land one year from the plough; $75 to $100 an acre netted from alfalfa; 200 bushels of potatoes to the acre in the first year; $200 an acre would not buy this land from old California ranchers who have brought and settled here. Write or call at once for folder containing detailed information, testimonials, etc. Inquire about the social homeseekers' excursion leaving Los Angeles every Saturday mornings at 9 o'clock. Special rates will be given those applying at our offices. Remember title to land is perfect. Government deed. Federal government to state and from State to settler. Don't overlook this opportunity. Use your Carey Act right NOW! We will be glad to give you testimonials from former California ranchers. Come into our offices today—look into this opportunity. Delay may mean disappointment.

THE CITY AND ENVIRONS.

EVENTS BRIEFLY TOLD.

Anniversary Military Ball Tonight.

The anniversary military ball of the drill team and band of Los Angeles Council No. 473, Y.M.I., will be given this evening at the Knights of Columbus clubhouse. The drill team and band will be in full dress uniform.

The "Sunken Bell."

Tonight at the residence on San Rafael Heights of Mrs. Lucinda Foy, pupils of Cumnock School of Expression will give a performance of Gerhardt Hauptmann's beautiful symbolic drama, "The Sunken Bell," under the direction of Miss Wilhelmina Wilkes.

Prendergast to Credit Men.

The Los Angeles Credit Men's Association will hold a monthly meeting this evening at 6 o'clock in the Bristol Cafe. The speaker will be Hon. William A. Prendergast, Comptroller of the city of New York, formerly secretary of the National Association of Credit Men. A very large attendance is expected.

Temple B'nai B'rith.

Sabbath services at Temple B'nai B'rith will be held this evening at 8 o'clock and tomorrow morning at 10:30 after the children's service, which begins at 9:45. Dr. Hecht will be in charge and speak tonight on "A Midsummer Night's Dream." Tomorrow morning he will speak of "The Jewish Chautauqua Society" and address the children at their special service. The solo this evening will be A. Schloesser's "He That Keepeth Israel," rendered by Miss Celia Davidson, the soprano of the temple choir.

Congregation Sinai.

The Sabbath eve service in Sinai Temple, corner Twelfth and Valencia streets, will begin at 8 o'clock this evening. The cantor, Mr. Weinstock, will sing the interlude to the service, the original of Weintraub's composition of the "Mah Tobu." This will be rendered for the first time in a synagogue in Los Angeles. Dr. Farber will then read the Psalm introductory to the service and deliver the Sabbath invocation in accordance with the ritual of the synagogue. The Sabbath litany will then be chanted by the cantor, assisted by the quartette. The quartette will render the anthem, "Unto Thee Lift I Up Mine Eyes," by George Marks Evans. This is a recent composition arranged with soprano and baritone solos, and will be rendered for the first time. Dr. R. Farber, the rabbi, will deliver a second discourse on "Colorless Religion." Tomorrow morning the service will begin at 9:30. Master Jacque Mott Feder, grandson of M. M. Feder, who came here with his parents from San Francisco, will be confirmed during the morning service.

FORESTRY BOARD DEFUNCT.

Last Member Resigns as Result of Conflict with the Board of Supervisors.

The Board of Supervisors yesterday accepted the resignation of Mrs. S. P. Rhoades, the last member of the Forestry Board of Los Angeles County. Last Monday, President E. H. Sweetser and S. P. Mulford resigned and the week before George Rice and Mrs. Charles Lee Lewis handed in their resignations.

So far as the former members of the Forestry Board are concerned, this closes the conflict that has been waged between them and the Supervisors. President Sweetser in his resignation recommended that the Supervisors appoint a new forestry board to be under the immediate supervision of the Supervisors.

ARMING STREET CAR MEN.

Conductors and Motormen Sworn in as Deputy Sheriffs and Stationed at Car Barns.

The Los Angeles Railway Corporation yesterday had twenty-five of its conductors and motormen sworn in as special deputies under the Sheriff. These men, armed, will be stationed at the car barns throughout the city. Because of the numerous car hold-ups recently this arming of at least two men on night duty at each of the different car barns is believed advisable.

JEALOUSY CAUSES FEUD.

Mrs. Ety Hahn had a "star-boarder" at her boarding-house, No. 750 East Fifty-third street. For months, flowers decked his room. The best viands were provided for him. He was pampered with attention. Then one day he met Mrs. S. E. Porter over the fence adjoining the Hahn residence. Mrs. Porter was interesting. He admired her. That caused a feud between the landlady and the neighbor. It became so acute that Mrs. Porter had Mrs. Hahn arrested on charges of abuse and disturbing the peace.

Romance.

SUIT DISCLOSES SECRET WEDDING.

MARRIES ON A DARE, SEEKS DIVORCE NOW.

Pretty Telephone Operator Weds Perambulating Cigar-Stand Salesman After Dinner in Cafe When Party Is in Jovial Mood—Now Comes the Sequel.

A gay party sat about a table at the Casa Verdugo Segunda cafe. All hands were in jovial mood, not to say high spirits.

Alton M. St. Clair, a youth of 20, who operates the perambulating cigar establishment of the cafe, was seated next Miss Christine Robinson, a pretty telephone operator in the Wilcox building.

The conversation drifted into dangerous things, marriage, for instance. St. Clair was dared to marry Miss Robinson about the same time Miss Robinson was dared to marry St. Clair.

It so happened that the cigar distributor and the telephone operator were the very last persons in the world to take a dare. They agreed to get married. Then some one in the party wanted to bet that the agreement wouldn't be kept. So, what was left after the check was paid and the waiter tipped, was pooled and wagered on the fulfillment of the agreement.

Outside an auto waited. It took the party to Santa Ana, where St. Clair stretched his age to 21 and Miss Robinson let hers be known as of maturity. They were married. They won enough money to pay for the license and the automobile and part of the first month's rent. By the time Mr. and Mrs. St. Clair returned to the city they had begun to reflect. Then it didn't appear so funny.

That was June 27, 1913. Yesterday Attorney Clyde E. Cate filed suit for annulment of the marriage, the grounds being that St. Clair is a callow youth, or was at the time, and that he and his wife have never lived together.

At her office in the Wilcox building Mrs. St. Clair has been known for nearly a year as Miss Robinson. Her parents, who live at No. 1415 East Twenty-seventh street, did not learn that they had a son-in-law until yesterday.

CHAUFFEUR ACQUITTED.

Edward E. Akers, a colored chauffeur charged with manslaughter for the killing of Robert B. Harris, was yesterday ordered released by Justice Young. Akers's automobile struck and killed Harris on the evening of April 4. Justice Young stated that the evidence did not show criminal neglect. Harris was riding a motorcycle and it was shown by the testimony that the tail light of the machine was not burning.

Clothes Economy

The key word is fitness.

If you are a business man and the best material, well tailored, fits your particular clothes need then it is economy to buy Benjamin clothes.

If you are a young man and want a wide range of styles and novelties you may also want some of our L System clothes. And for other needs we have other clothes.

As a rule buy quality, buy the best — buy Benjamin clothes—but whatever your requirement, have the clothes fit you, your style and your particular need, then you will be both well and economically dressed.

Do the same with your straw hat — and it isn't economy to leave it until the last minute.

Resinol makes itching eczema vanish

There is immediate relief for skins itching, burning and disfigured by eczema, ringworm, or other tormenting skin trouble, in a warm bath with Resinol Soap, and a simple application of Resinol Ointment. The soothing, healing Resinol balsams sink right into the skin, stop itching instantly, and soon clear away all trace of eruption, even in severe and stubborn cases where other treatments have had no effect.

Resinol Soap and Resinol Ointment also clear away pimples and blackheads, and form a most valuable household treatment for sores, wounds, boils, piles, etc. Sold by all druggists. For trial also, free, write to Resinol, Dept. 11-S, Baltimore, Md. Prescribed by doctors for 19 years.

Boy or Girl? Great Question!

This brings to many minds an old and tried family remedy—an external application known as "Mother's Friend."

During the period of expectancy it is applied to the abdominal muscles and is designed to soothe the intricate network of nerves involved. In this manner it has such a splendid influence as to justify its use in all cases of coming mother-hood. It has been generally recommended for years and years and those who have used it speak in highest praise of the immense relief it affords. Particularly do these knowing mothers speak of the absence of morning sickness, absence of strain on the ligaments and freedom from those many other distresses usually looked forward to with such concern.

There is no question but what "Mother's Friend" has a marked tendency to relieve the mind and this of itself in addition to the physical relief has given it a very wide popularity among women.

You can obtain "Mother's Friend" at almost any drug store. It has helped a host of mothers to a complete recovery.

Sure Indications of Lung Trouble

Continued coughs, fevers and night sweats, are among the symptoms of serious lung trouble. Eckman's Alterative is most beneficial in bringing relief, in many cases, complete recoveries. Read this:—

Schell City, Mo.

"Gentlemen:—I had a terrible cough, night sweats and pleurisy in my lungs. A man who heard me coughing advised me to take your Alterative. I paid no attention to him then. I got so bad the doctor said I should go to Wyoming. I did, and when I got there I steadily grew worse. Then I remembered what had been told me about your medicine. I began taking it. Appetite soon improved, fever and night sweats stopped and for over a year I have been well and in better health than I ever was." (Abbreviated.)

(Affidavit) W. F. BOMAR.

Eckman's Alterative is most efficacious in bronchial catarrh and severe throat and lung affections and upbuilding the system. Contains no harmful or habit-forming drugs. Accept no substitutes. Sold by The Owl Drug Co. and leading druggists. Write Eckman Laboratory, Philadelphia, Pa., for booklet of recoveries.

Bloom of Youth Now Easily Attained

You no longer need to "doctor" that sallow, freckled, blackheaded, rough, blotchy, pimply or over-red skin. You can remove it, instead—easily, painlessly, inexpensively. By a new scientific process which anyone can use without assistance, the dead and need-dead surface skin, with all its imperfections, is gently, gradually absorbed—and a radiantly youthful and beautiful complexion comes forth! Go to your druggist, get an ounce of pure mercolized wax; at night apply enough of this to completely cover the face; don't rub it in. Next morning remove the wax with warm water. The result after a few days is astonishing. You wonder why this secret wasn't discovered long ago.

Let the wrinkled folks also take hope. Put an ounce of powdered saxolite into a half pint witch hazel, bathe the face in the solution and—say!—there's nothing that will so effectually, so promptly, smooth out all those hateful lines.

THE WEATHER.
[Official Report.]

LOCAL OFFICE, U. S. WEATHER BUREAU, Los Angeles, May 7.—[Reported by Ford A. Carpenter, Local Forecaster.] At 5 o'clock a.m. the barometer registered 30.05; at 5 p.m., 30.00. Thermometer for the corresponding hours showed 54 deg. and 64 deg. Relative humidity, 5 a.m., 94 per cent.; 5 p.m., 64 per cent. Wind, 5 a.m., east, velocity 3 miles; 5 p.m., south, velocity 10 miles. Highest temperature, 68 deg.; lowest, 52 deg. Rainfall for season, 22.55 inches. Barometer reduced to sea level.

WEATHER CONDITIONS. — The distribution of pressure throughout the United States is characterized by relatively small and inconsequential low areas surrounding the middle western high area. The precipitation was light, the greatest amount, .16 of an inch, being reported from Moorhead. The area of high pressure caused continued cold weather in Montana, Wyoming, Colorado and Arizona, freezing temperatures being reported from Helena, Sheridan and Flagstaff. The pressure has decreased on the Pacific Slope, and a trough of low barometer is forming parallel with the Coast. This reduction in pressure will cause increasing cloudiness, with fog, during the ensuing thirty-six hours.

LOCAL FORECAST.

DISTINCTION IN ARTS EXHIBIT.

HIGH SCHOOLS OF CITY TO RANK WITH BEST.

Board of Education Will Provide a Room at Panama-Pacific Exposition to Be Equipped and Filled With Handiwork of Students in Fine and Liberal Arts.

The Board of Education yesterday decided to place a high school fine and liberal arts exhibit at the Panama-Pacific Exposition. An entire room has been set apart for the exhibit, while San Francisco and the other bay cities of the north have been combined in a single room. The schools of Los Angeles are thus placed on an equal footing with the great art and technical schools of Philadelphia, New York and Boston. The room will be decorated and furnished throughout by the students of the city high schools, and the exhibits will all be of their handiwork. Provision will be made in the budget for carrying out the enterprise. The proposed exhibit of the neighborhood and intermediate schools in the Educational Building at the exposition is still under consideration. In this exhibit it is intended to specialize on outdoor educaton, demonstrating the peculiar aptitude of the California climate for schools of this character.

President Whiffen of the City Council appeared before the board with a request that the school district take over some old school bonds, amounting to about $50,000, which have been a bone of contention between the City Auditor and the Board of Education ever since the school district was taken under the wing of the County Supervisors. Mr. Whiffen acknowledged that "legally the school district is not responsible for the payment of the bonds," but the thinks it is morally responsible. The Finance Committee will cogitate over it.

Understanding that no summer schools were to be provided for this year, a large number of teachers of the Macy street and Grand avenue schools generously volunteered to serve as teachers without pay. They are to be informed that the question of these schools has not yet been settled either way; will be thanked for their generosity, and told that they will not be permitted to teach without compensation.

Monday, May 18, was designated as be observed as "Peace Day" in all the schools of the city.

TRAILS ARE READY.

Tortuous Mountain Highways Now Whipped into Shape for Travel by Forest Service Men.

The Supervisor of the Angeles National Forest reported yesterday that the work of repairing the various trails in the local reserve has been completed and that they are now ready for the mountain hikers and camping parties.

There are more than 1200 miles of trail in the Angeles reserve, more mileage than in any other three forest reserves in California, and the damage caused by the rains of the past winter, the official record showing that in some parts of the mountain section as much as forty inches fell, has been tremendous. A corps of nearly 200 men has been kept constantly at work.

The money for this work came from a variety of sources. The Supervisors of Los Angeles county contributed $5000; those of San Bernardino county, $1250; the State of California dropped in $2500, and the various water companies, fruit exchanges and municipalities paid about $1500. The extra men will now give their attention to making the fire breaks ready for the summer fire season.

The usual quota of new trails each year in unexplored territory is about fifty miles a year, but on account of the damage to the present lines of travel, that new work was abandoned this season. There are about 100 miles of telephone lines in the forest reserve, and that will be overhauled. A new line from San Gabriel to Pine Flats, about nine miles in length, has just been completed.

"DOCTOR" MUST LABOR.

Quack Who Wanted Easy Money Is Sentenced to Return to the Boiler Works.

"Back to boiler-making" was the verdict of Judge White in sentencing Ralph Briggs to pay a fine of $200 and giving him a suspended sentence of 180 days for practicing medicine without a license. "Dr." Briggs, prior to having sought out dupes to take his pills, was a hardworking boiler-maker.

"That was pretty difficult and I wanted something more easy," he explained. Half a truck load of harmless nostrums were brought to court as evidence.

"I wanted to do something where I could wear good clothes, have an easy time and make a lot of money, so I decided to be a physician. It was easy to prescribe sugar pills and other dope and since most illness is merely imagination, my patients nearly all got well in a hurry and were a good advertising feature for the business," Briggs added.

Considerable cocaine was also found in the possession of the "doctor" and it was because of this that the prison sentence was imposed.

XXXIIIRD YEAR. FRIDAY, MAY 8, 1914.—EDITORIAL SECTION. POPULATION { By the Federal Census (1910)—319,198 / By the City Directory (1913)—432,413

The Eleventh Hour.

BOTH SIDES CONFIDENT OF OUTCOME TODAY.

Every Effort to Be Made to Get Out a Record-Breaking Vote.

Corporation Men Assured That Campaign of Education Will Bear Fruit in Defeat of Debt-Multiplying Power Bonds—"We'll Win if Enough People Vote Yes," Is Retort of Opposition.

All that now remains to be done is to vote. Quoting the power bond ballot verbatim the issue is: "Shall the city of Los Angeles incur a bonded debt of $6,500,000 for the purpose of acquiring and constructing a certain revenue-producing municipal improvement, to-wit: Plants for supplying said city and its inhabitants with electricity for purposes of light, heat and power, including the construction or acquisition of electric generating works, receiving stations, transmission lines and the acquisition of lands, water rights, rights of way, machinery, apparatus and other works and property necessary therefor, the estimated cost of which is $1,250,000; also including the construction or acquisition of distributing lines, conduits and substations, and the acquisition of lands, rights of way, machinery, apparatus and other works and property necessary therefor, the estimated cost of which is $5,250,000?"

Not being a politician, I can make no estimate of the number of votes that will be cast either against or for the bonds," said Secretary and Assistant General Manager Ballard of the Southern California Edison Company yesterday. "I feel, however, that the campaign of education and information on the revealing of the facts has awakened the people to a full realization of what they will be adding to the heavy bonded indebtedness of this city. I am confident that this effort to deepen their interest and raise their taxes will be well done."

The larger the vote the greater the chance of success," said Vincent Astor, campaign manager for the so-called People's Power Bond faction. "If 90,000 votes out of a possible 144,000 are cast I am sure we will win. If the vote falls below number the result will be doubtful, as the power companies are virtually assured of 30,000 votes.

"There is no apparent deception in the public question propounded on the ballot. It calls for either a simple "Yes" or "No."

QUESTION OF AUTOS.

Nevertheless, the automobile is destined to decide the fight.

"All we fear is apathy on the part of the voters," said Gelcich.

His fear has a groundwork of certainty, for the interjection of the school bond proposition into the midst of the fight has set many to careful consideration of the question: "Had we better vote the bonds for an uncertain municipal lighting plant or the certain needs of the children?"

"We will have 200 automobiles," said Gelcich, "donated by the people."

The sturdy fighters against the "fined" bond issues will have as many, for dozens of machines are being volunteered by those who tired of wasting their money on Scattergood's dark-horse, alleged profit-returning municipal power plant, a plant into which millions have gone with no return to date or in sight.

SCATTERGOOD REPUDIATED.

Own Colleagues in Electrical League Vote Down the Power Bonds.

Eighty votes were cast against the bonds and but five for them on a straw ballot by the membership of the Jovian Electrical League at a luncheon at Christopher's Wednesday. Chief Engineer Scattergood of the aqueduct power bureau is a member of the league, which is composed exclusively of electrical men.

Independent electrical engineers, electric supply men and electric salesmen cast three votes repudiating the power developing and distributing scheme fabricated chiefly by Scattergood. Also there were many disinterested voting men who were electrical engineers or electric supply men once, but who have drifted into other fields and now look upon electric matters as of secondary interest.

The overwhelming majority against the bonds was a surprise even to the electric men themselves, as they believed that party reasons alone might swing many into advocacy of the power bonds.

HOW TO VOTE TODAY.

Here Are the Points to Remember at the Polls When You Go to Ballot on Power Bond Question.

Vote yes or no.

The issue is simple—you are either for or against the bonding of the city for an additional $6,500,000 for power purposes.

There are 446 polling places, which means that there should be one within a quarter of a mile of your home.

Rubber stamps are provided for the marking of ballots. There are but two of them, so there is no occasion for confusion.

Remember that all voters must be registered.

Also remember that there is a 100-foot deadline within which "workers" must not venture after casting their ballots. Stay outside of the chalk line if you are intending to exert your influence to get a neighbor or a friend to vote as you think best.

The polls open at 6 o'clock a.m. and close at 7 o'clock p.m. Vote early. Find your name and number on the sheets outside the polling place.

WINE FOR FEE; ARRESTED.

Wine as payment for a baggage transfer fee brought John Sherman into Police Court yesterday morning on the charge of driving a team while in an intoxicated condition. Sherman was so sorry over the trouble he had caused, in addition to his monetary loss, that Judge White gave him a suspended sentence of twenty days. He declared that the man for whom he had moved some baggage had insisted that he take some home-made wine and before he had finished his drinks, he had forgotten everything else.

WHERE MONEY IS NEEDED.

Grave Congestion in Schools; Relieving Bond Issue Endangered.

The Utah-street school is a typical case of overcrowding in the public schools, where bungalows obstruct the playgrounds, which are the only breathing spaces of the children in the more congested districts.

According to Deputy Superintendent Monlux, there are 230 bungalows in use, and forty-five half-day schools, with many more in sight next fall.

"We have a total enrollment at present of over 85,000, with an estimated increase next year of 12,000 to 15,000," he said. "What are we to do with the children if the bonds are not voted?

"Voters should remember, too, that buildings cannot be erected except with money voted on a bond issue or special tax levy."

The bond election for the schools will be held next Thursday. The sum of $4,600,000 is urgently needed at present and more will be needed later.

To the Taxpayers:

READ THIS CAREFULLY BEFORE VOTING TODAY.

LOS ANGELES has a bonding limit for all purposes of $58,455,827.25. The total of all bonds outstanding is $38,982,982.50. On these bonds the people are paying with their taxes $9534.26 in interest each business day.

Prior to the voting of the aqueduct bonds, June 12, 1907, Los Angeles' bonded indebtedness was $7,010,050. In other words, the city has added $31,982,912.50 to its bonded indebtedness in less than seven years.

The total of all interest charges on bonds to March 21, 1914, was $2,888,882.50, of which $2,371,829.50 was paid in less than seven years.

The taxpayers are now called on to vote power bonds to the value of $6,500,000. Next Thursday they will be called on to sanction the issuance of $4,600,000 in bonds for school purposes. Later they will be called on to vote additional school bonds to the extent of $2,900,000.

Facing the issue squarely the people are now or will be called on to saddle themselves with additional bonds to the extent of $14,000,000. On these additional bonds the interest charges yearly will total $980,000, or $3234.32 for each business day, making the grand total of all interest payable daily on all city bond issues, $12,768.58.

The city's bonding margin is now $19,462,864.75. Conservative bonding houses look upon the margin as alarmingly small. How will they view it if the power bonds carry and the margin is cut to $12,962,864.75? It might also be well to pause and consider the fate of the State's $18,000,000 issue of highway bonds. The State is of unimpeachable credit, yet the bonding houses could not see their way clear to handle its bonds, for the reason that they could find more profitable use for their money.

Waterworks	$ 1,882,050.00
Aqueduct	24,197,600.00
Franklin Canyon	1,500,000.00
Electric plant	3,500,000.00

WHO OWNS THE HOLE?

Family Feud Over Opening in Fence Leads to Threat of Arresting Two Women.

Who owns a hole in a fence?

Deputy City Prosecutor McConnell failed to decide this momentous question yesterday for two irate women.

Mrs. J. Phillips, residing at No. 427 East Twenty-seventh street, cut a hole in the fence between her house and that of Mrs. Mary Broad. She used it to make a short cut across a vacant lot. Other persons also found the hole a convenience.

They stepped on the lawn of Mrs. Broad, which caused that lady much mental perturbation. She found a remedy by nailing boards over the hole. Mrs. Phillips knocked them off.

This procedure lasted for several weeks, words and recriminations flying fast between the participants, who questioned who owned the hole and had a right to keep it open or closed.

McConnell ordered both women to keep the peace under pain of arrest, but failed to determine ownership of the hole.

SPIRITS GIVE CLEW.

But Detectives Abandon Search for Brunette in Blue When Victim Tells Suspicions' Source.

Spiritualists and trance readers told Patrick McCloud that a dark-haired woman wearing a blue dress had stolen his diamond stickpin, worth about $150, his purse containing about $75 and two watches. Consequently all women answering the description came under Pat's suspicion and he kept Detectives Hickok and Ervin busy throughout the day yesterday visiting the homes of friends and wandering up and down the business streets interrogating suspects, several of whom were taken to the City Jail and searched.

It was only after the second woman had undergone this humiliation that Patrick announced his source of inspiration. Immediately he was asked to go to his home, the Columbia Hotel at Seventh and San Pedro streets, and get a more reliable source of information before causing any arrests.

Which first—these or the power bonds?

At the top is a view of what was formerly the playground of the Utah-street school. The greatly-congested condition of the schools has made it necessary to build bungalow schoolhouses on it. Only the acquisition of funds through the forthcoming bond issue will make it possible to relieve such conditions. Yet there is reason to fear that this bond issue will fail if the power bonds are voted today. Voting both will mean that our already staggering debt will be increased over $11,000,000 in a single week.

Action.

TUMULT AND THE SHOUTING DIES.

BUT THE CAPTAINS AND THE KINGS STAY TO VOTE.

President Whiffen, With Many Councilmen, Hurl Themselves Into Breach to Stem Rising Tide of Reason—Police Advised How to Vote.

The waning torch of hope for the success of the united bond issues was carried manfully forward last night by officials of our city government. They appeared in numerous places, principally in schoolhouses, though Councilman Wheeler graced a street meeting in San Pedro with his presence, while Councilman Betkouski and President Handley of the Board of Public Works orated to policemen assembled in the Central and the University stations, respectively.

After the tumult and shouting of numerous, too numerous, meetings, a whirlwind finish was required of the alleged People's Power Bond Committee. They responded by requisitioning the august services of practically every member of the City Council from President Whiffen down. George Dunlop was also included within the select "flying" squad, as was also Thomas L. Woolwine.

It was the fag end of a campaign of a hundred meetings, all of which have been characterized by an outpouring of enthusiastic citizens—some of them were really attended by above a dozen citizens, including the janitor. Full details of the post mortems will be printed today.

The name of Chief Engineer Scattergood of the aqueduct power bureau was not included in any of the printed lists of speakers at last night's meetings. In fact, his name has been notably absent from the speaker lists the past three or four nights. Perhaps this is significant, the contenders against the bonds say it is—then again it may not be.

POKER ARTIST BURGLAR?

Man Who Disappeared During Raid on Alleged "Strip" Party Is Arrested for Burglary.

Clyde Clifford, the disappearing artist in the "strip-poker" party of several weeks ago in a West Twenty-third-street residence, furnished another sequel to the episode when arrested yesterday afternoon on a charge of burglarizing the pool parlors of J. E. Snead, No. 342½ South Broadway. Officers Bean and Taylor of the University station made the arrest and claim that they have proof that Clifford was a participant in a number of other burglaries that have been taking place in the University district during the past month. They are the same officers from whom Clifford escaped on the night of the poker-party raid.

SCHOOL BONDS LOSE IF THE POWER BONDS WIN.

Despite the Deliberate Effort of Power Bond Advocates to Embarrass the Board of Education by Placing Several Members Upon Their Committee, They Are First in Favor of the Children.

AS A virtual threat to retaliate against the school bonds in case the power bonds should fail to carry; to embarrass the members of the Board of Education by compelling that body to become an active participant in the power-bond campaign, the formulators of the People's Power Bond Committee of 100 made several members of the school department members of the committee. It will possibly be said that they represent different civic organizations, but, of course, nobody will believe that their names were used by mere accident! That's not the kind of politics the People's Power Bond Committee is playing in this campaign—it's all by design and malice aforethought.

It is not claimed that these school officials are acting against their convictions, but it stands to reason that even if they are directly opposed to the power bonds they would not say so, for the threat of the pro-bonders would be executed against the school bonds a week later.

Deputy Superintendent J. B. Monlux has been thrust prominently forward in the activities of the committee of 100, but even he said yesterday that the school bonds should be considered of paramount impor-

REPUBLICANS STIRRING AS IN DAYS OF OLD.

Prendergast and Short Sound the Tocsin and California Campaign to Rout Impostors and Despoilers Is On—Large, Cheering Meeting Presages Powerful Forward Movement.

THAT loyal Republicans of California are determined to battle unceasingly to restore the party of Lincoln to power in this State this year, replace with sound laws the myriad high-sounding "Progressive" fads, and rebuke the would-be destroyers of the party, was demonstrated last night by Hon. William A. Prendergast, Comptroller of the City of New York, and Hon. Frank H. Short of Fresno, who formally opened the Republican campaign in Southern California.

The Lyceum Theater, No. 227 South Spring street, was well filled when Robert Sweeny, vice-chairman of the Republican State Central Committee, called the meeting to order, and after predicting Republican success, introduced Hon. P. A. Stanton, national committeeman from California, as chairman of the evening.

The Grand Army Fife and Drum Corps, which furnished stirring music, was not needed to arouse enthusiasm. Enthusiasm was spontaneous. It reminded one of ye old-time Republican mass meetings. Those who went to hear Prendergast and Short went enthused as of old, and departed with the indomitable purpose to make their enthusiasm count for effective action at the polls. The sounding of the tocsin presages a powerful forward movement.

Chairman Stanton in a short speech declared that the "dastardly act perpetrated by the Johnsonian machine in 1912 in disfranchising 250,000 Republicans will never be forgiven or forgotten." He said that the fair-minded citizens of this great State will never rest content until the political bosses who engineered that nefarious political crime receive their just punishment.

STRAIGHT FROM SHOULDER.

Mr. Prendergast was given an ovation. He hits straight from the shoulder. His address was a vigorous presentation of the governmental situation in the country today and a powerful and convincing argument for the restoration of the Republican party—the most beneficient political organization of all time and the only party that has brought prosperity and genuine progress to the country.

He declared that he is absolutely against the movement made by Progressive leaders to amalgamate with the Republican party. He said it is the duty of every true Republican to oppose any such movement toward amalgamation. He said such a thing is out of the question. He declared that real progress in governmental administration depends upon the Republican party. He said there is no excuse for the Progressive party and that it is certain to pass out of the political life of the nation before many months have rolled by.

He recounted the splendid record of achievement of the Republican party from Lincoln to Taft. He asked any Progressive in the audience to name another political organization that in sixty years had done as much for the citizenship of any country in the world as the Republican party has done for this country.

WITTY AND SOLID.

Judge Short delivered a masterly address replete wth brilliant and witty epigrams, solid facts and plain, common sense. He raked the Johnson administration fore and aft with sixteen-inch shells. He pleaded for a return to sanity, true progress and prosperity, which he said could only be brought about under Republican rule. He gave many telling reasons why the so-called Progressive party and its horde of hosanna taxeaters should be consigned to oblivion.

He said in part:

"Since January 1, 1910, we have had an astounding growth, if not development, of laws in California. The State constitutional amendments, statutes, resolutions and the like that have been adopted since January 1, 1910, actually amount to 5000 pages. In addition to these State laws, I understand that in Los Angeles you have some three thousand eight hundred restrictive or prohibitary statutes. Of course, under this state of the law, none of us can know what is prohibited, and it has been suggested that there ought to be some means of informing those of us who come here from time to time what we may do without violating the constitution or the statutes or laws of the State, or the ordinances of the city.

"In recent political history the people of Los Angeles have traveled a long ways along the lines of what is called progress. Now, progress is a good thing if what we call progress is progress. The trouble has been that we for a time fell into the bad habit of calling every new or different thing, progress. Some of our friends are very exultant in the fact that California has discarded more old things, and adopted more new things, and has either progressed more or changed oftener than any other equal part of the world ever did in any other equal time. In the course of these things, we have seen men of great repute and supposed ability dishonored and discarded. We have seen politicians and statesmen with long-standing reputation as lightweights come to the front as the very Solomons of their day and generation. But things that grow swiftly, die soon, and the only thing that has exceeded the speedy of radical progressive growth in California has been the recent decline and decay of these things and a return toward fundamental standards and staples in politics.

"I have always been able to speak in political discussion without animosity. While our Democratic friends are generally wrong, they are good people and mean well, and have kept together a reputable party for a long time and under many close and adverse conditions. Hence I am truly fond of Democrats. None of us can have any animosity against a Prohibitionist, whether we disagree with him or not. Even the Socialists are mostly political and economical enthusiasts, who fondly and truly believe that equal opportunity should be supplanted by equal distribution necessary to the destruction of equal opportunity. Even as to the radical Progressives and the Progressive party as such with respect to which I have stood in most strenuous opposition from the date of its birth, I no longer hold animosity against that party. It is as clear as anything can be that that party is not long for this world, and it would be an unforgiving spirit and hard heart that would hold animosity down to the very day of approaching dissolution. The Progressive party will hold all the records. It is the only party that was ever born out of a sheer difference between candidates, or upon the question of the nomination or defeat of one individual. It is the only party that ever cast over 4,000,000 votes within four months after it was officially born. It is the only party that commenced the process of rapid disintegration within six months after it came into existence. It is the only party that ever became practically dead within less than two years after it was born. It is the only party that ever pretended that if could cure all of the ills of human kind, physical, social, mental and moral, and that never did accomplish any actual benefit to anybody, except a very few that have been elected to office and drawn salaries in its name.

"The Republican incumbent of the office of Governor of this State is running for Governor on the 'Progressive' ticket. He was elected to that office on the Republican ticket and by Republican votes. He is trying to stay in office in opposition to the Republican party and on the Progressive ticket, and by Progressive votes. He is going up and down this State in an attitude of aggressive resentment. Goliah never strutted more pompously before the intimidated armies of Israel before David slugged him with a stone than does the Republican Governor of this State as a Progressive candidate, and backed by his little Progressive army, struts before the people. When the Governor was a Republican, the Republican party was right, and the Governor was right. When the Governor is a 'Progressive,' the Republican party is wrong and the Progressive party is right, and the Governor is always right. Parties are sometimes right, and sometimes wrong, but the Governor is always right."

William A. Prendergast, Comptroller of New York,

PRENDERGAST'S GREAT SPEECH.

Taking up first the foreign-trade policy of the administration, Prendergast said:

"It has always been the policy of the Republican party when in control to exercise every honorable energy in promoting the interests of American trade in foreign lands. It would seem that President Wilson and his advisers regard activity on the part of our Department of State in furthering the course of American trade as involving an unethical and sordid proceeding. In this they fail to perceive that all that has previously been done in this direction has been in accordance with the well-established customs of the oldest and strongest nations of the world, and in response to modern national requirements. One of President Wilson's first acts was to announce that the government would decline to request American capitalists to join in the so-called six-power syndicate loan with China, which the prior administration had approved. This statement was welcomed by the administration idolaters as an abandonment of the miscalled 'dollar diplomacy.' One would think that money making was a crime. It is in most cases an entirely proper means to perfectly upright ends. [Applause.]

"We are not only sacrificing our interests in that populous country, which offers unlimited opportunities for legitimate trade expansion, but we are abandoning the field to others and thereby harming our own industrial interests."

PHILIPPINE POLICY.

The speaker strongly arraigned the present Philippine policy, drawing applause by his pointed allusion to "an administration which is preaching idealism to Mexico.". He said, in part:

"By the treaty of Paris we assumed certain responsibilities in the Philippine Islands. Under the administrations of Presidents McKinley, Roosevelt and Taft those responsibilities were shouldered with all the enthusiasm of high purpose. Unmoved by the empty outcries of Mr. Bryan and others for the so-called independence of the islands, we proceeded to administer our trust in the interests of these people just as if we were handling some great governmental and economic problem within the confines of our own land.

"President Wilson has changed all this. The governing commission has been given a Filipino majority and there is not the slightest evidence that the men now in control are in any way competent to perform their duties. Before a year has passed it is said that, realizing their power, the Filipino politicians are attempting to take control of the Department of Health, in which a work has been done by Dr. Heiser not second to that performed by Col. Gorgas on the Isthmus of Panama. Americans of years' eperience in the government of the islands have been dismissed from the service and the political spoils system introduced.

"And all this by an administration which is preaching idealism to Mexico and playing politics with the Filipinos. [Applause and cheers.] It is the height of cruelty and folly to be holding out the hope of early independence to these people when everyone knows that self-government is not of the slightest value to a people unless they have been trained and developed to make use of it."

DIPLOMATIC BLUNDERS.

Reviewing what the Democratic administrators have done in diplomatic circles, Prendergast elicited the enthusiasm of his audience again and again.

"Among the notable achievements of the administrations of Presidents Roosevelt and Taft was the great improvement in our consular service," he said, "and the recognition of the principle that good service abroad required the work of trained and experienced representatives. President Wilson has undone much of this excellent work by replacing these experienced ministers by men of no training and no known capacity. This has been noticeably the case in the South American countries.

"The diplomatic policy of the present administration has erred in no more important respect than in the attitude in which it has placed the country in the negotiation of a treaty

ENTHUSIASTICALLY PLAN REPUBLICAN CAMPAIGN.

Thousand Men and Women Representing Best Interests of Party and State Adopt Ringing Declaration of Principles and Cheer Name of Mighty Leaders of Old Guard to the Echo.

ONE thousand Republicans, men and women, presenting the best interests of the party and State from the eight counties south of the Tehachepi, assembled yesterday in Blanchard Hall and outlined plans for the forthcoming campaign, adopted a ringing declaration of principles and discussed candidates for various offices.

Although the meeting was informal it was without doubt the most enthusiastic gathering of real Republicans held in Los Angeles in several years. Nearly 500 State and county committeemen from the eight counties were present besides hundreds of the rank and file of the party of Lincoln. Every Republican in Southern California was cordially invited to attend and participate in the deliberations.

Enthusiasm knew no limit. The names of the great and mighty leaders of the Republican party were cheered to the echo. In the gathering were scores of men and women who supported Hiram Johnson in 1910 but who are now fighting shoulder to shoulder in the ranks of the Old Guard against the backstabber of the party that made him. They were made doubly welcome by those old timers who never have swayed from the ranks of the true Republicanism.

The names of Capt. John D. Fredericks, C. C. Chapman of Fullerton, J. O. Hayes of San Jose and Dr. Norman Bridge of Los Angeles were brought before the meeting as possible gubernatorial candidates. Each of these Republican leaders was given a rousing ovation. Efforts on the part of enthusiastic friends of one or the other of the above-named possibilities to have the gathering write a letter to each of the proposed candidates, urging him to make the race, failed.

ADOPT DECLARATION.

The most important work at the meeting was the adoption of the declaration of principles. It was received with a cheer. Fred C. Fairbanks, son of former Vice-President Fairbanks, read the document and Dr. D. Gochenauer, chairman of the Republican County Central Committee of San Diego, moved its adoption. It was seconded by a dozen.

It favors free tolls for all coastwise ships passing through the Panama Canal; a protective tariff and a tariff commission to regulate it; arbitration of all international differences insofar as possible, and all in all, good, sound, wholesome Republican doctrine. It denounces Gov. Johnson and his extravagant administration for the waste of public money. The Johnson-Lissner-Earl machine and the useless and numerous tax-eating commissions of the administration are condemned in strong language. It makes a plea for a return to sane, rational government under Republican rule. The Democratic free-trade law is attacked and other Democratic policies.

The platform states that the registration in California indicates clearly Republican success next November. It also states that the Republican party has abided by the spirit and

No! Clothes do not make a man—but they help mightily!

Every man knows this. He knows, too, that he can't afford to arouse prejudice by his careless appearance and then have to fight it down.

Clothes well made from rightly woven materials are Investments that pay sure dividends.

Men that wear "Gordan-made" pay me $40 or $45 for a suiting from the best American weaves. At the price I recommend them as better than the imported.

For $50 to $60 they pick and choose among my shelves of Foreign Fabrics. England and Scotland weave nothing better than is found here.

Both Sides Confident.

that you may ride to the polls today in somebody else's conveyance is expected to hearten the voters and further emphasize the indispensability of the automobile. Both sides have taken advantage of the fact. Both sides will have the conveyances in close proximity to each polling place today to begin the merry whirl early of "trafficking" the voters to the polls. Therefore, ride and have no fear of being called into court for accepting courtesies.

Because the vote will be on a yes or no proposition early returns are expected. In fact, city officials believe that the entire vote will be counted before 10 o'clock and the results known shortly thereafter.

Though forecasts on the future are always to be discounted, the belief was prevalent yesterday that in case the gerrymandered issues are voted down, as seems likely, the City Council will admit the error of its ways and segregate the issues so that the people will have an opportunity to vote on one issue to complete the power plant. In other words, the City Council will reluctantly grant enfranchisement to its masters, the people. It was also the consensus of opinion that, whatever happens, a reorganization of the aqueduct power bureau will result.

GAY PLUMAGE MAY REMAIN.

TREASURY DEPARTMENT MAKES SUCH RULING.

What Women Wear Across Line Into Mexico They May Also Carry Back Without Being Shorn of Headgear Feathers, According to New Federal Ruling.

There will be no more "snipping" of Birds of Paradise or other specimens of wild bird life from the hats or bonnets that madame or miss may wear across the border line.

Under the recent enactments of Congress, numerous forays have been made upon these adornments, even if the lady wearing them returned within a few hours to the United States.

The law provides that it is illegal to bring these feathers into the country. It made no difference even if they were bought on this side of the boundary and the lady returned again to the United States.

It required a woman to make Uncle Sam "back up"—Mrs. Charlotte Rowbottom of San Diego. Mrs. Rowbottom crossed the line at Tia Juana wearing a magnificent Bird of Paradise feather on her hat. Within two hours she returned and the eagle-eyed officer on duty there promptly appropriated the feather.

Mrs. Rowbottom made an appeal to the Treasury Department and yesterday the local collector received word that under the circumstances it could not be considered that the woman had made a bona fide importation of the feather under the law, and it was ordered released.

The enforcement of the letter of the law has all along been considered a hardship by the Federal officers, for under it a woman wearing a feather stepping across the line and immediately returning was liable to the loss of this bit of feminine adornment. The collector had no leeway. Now in cases where women wearing wild bird feathers across the line are known to the officers they will be allowed to return with the feathers without a question; where they are not known, the trimming will be taken from them, but they will be allowed to show that it was purchased on this side.

MARRIAGE REGARDLESS.

Capt. Connell of the immigration service received instructions from Washington yesterday for the deportation of Manzu Goto, a Japanese who was arrested on a complaint charging him with bringing Louise McElwain, alias "Percy" Williams, alias "Montana," to Los Angeles for an immoral purpose. To get around the law, Goto and the girl went through some sort of a marriage ceremony at sea, but that did not save them, as it was shown that the marriage was merely a subterfuge.

And, by the way, the croquette mixture is better, Mrs. Haffner-Ginger says, made up and allowed to stand in a cool place over night before cooking, and if you have no croquette molds an ice-cream mold will serve your purpose admirably. With her pastry brush she greased the molds inside with melted butter and then sprinkled with ground-bread crumbs before packing in the mixture. After molding and dipping in a mixture of egg and milk the croquettes were dipped in bread crumbs and were fried to a golden brown in a deep pan of hot fat. When they were done "Paprika" served them with Hollandaise sauce, which Mrs. Haffner-Ginger made for her class. A delicious spice cake was made and served by "Paprika," whose mother had better watch out, for that cake was mighty good. Somebody remarked to a classmate that the only thing lacking to make the lesson complete was that Mrs. Haffner-Ginger didn't give us some of that delicious Stolls coffee. She has promised to serve some again very soon.

There isn't anything Mrs. Haffner-Ginger doesn't know about domestic science, and the beauty of it is she knows how to do everything the cheapest and quickest way possible. If the husbands of her class members haven't noticed a marked reduction in the grocer's and the butcher's bills the past year, one thing is certain: they are either not very observant or they are lacking in appreciation.

One hundred packages of Hippo washing powder were distributed among the class Tuesday, and yesterday everybody was saying good words about it. One lady told another that she used some of it in her bath and came out feeling fine as satin. Others had used it for laundrying fine lingerie with splendid results.

The lessons are growing in favor every day and new faces are noticed at every class. Grandmothers and very young housewives and even young girls come together to learn from Mrs. Haffner-Ginger the easiest and the cheapest and the best way to cook.

These classes meet at 2 o'clock every Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday afternoons in the auditorium of the Times Building, and are free.

BLUE DROPS A BOLT ON DAVIS.

Unexpected Blow Shakes His Defense for Murder.

Conductor Identifies Him as New Year Passenger.

Sawtelle Case Alibi Gets a Staggering Wallop.

Capt. Wilson E. Davis, who will be tried next Monday for the murder of his partner, W. G. Wheeler, at Sawtelle on New Year's Day, was identified by two persons yesterday as one of the passengers on the first Pacific Electric car to reach Sawtelle on the morning that Wheeler was burned in his home.

Osgood Davis, motorman, and Lee Boles, conductor, of the train that carried the Civil War veteran yesterday, picked Davis out from a number of prisoners at the County Jail as the man who rode on their car and who gave them cigars and chatted about the New Year.

The train reached Sawtelle shortly before the fire and another train racing back to the city a few minutes after the fire stopped to let Davis aboard.

The statements made to Deputy District Attorney Blair and detectives working for Chief Detective Malcolm McLaren by Motorman Davis and Conductor Boles will be repeated by these two men in court next Monday when Davis is to be placed on trial for his life.

Detectives from the District Attorney's office have been working for several weeks on several important clews that are expected to bolster the State's contention that Davis slew his business partner while he slept in their little home at Sawtelle and then burned the house down around him.

SHAKES HIS ALIBI.

It was part of the theory of the District Attorney that Davis had left Sawtelle early in the evening before the fire and registered at the Hotel Ben on Main street, thus laying the foundation for an alibi. Further along in the theory, Davis was supposed to have returned to Sawtelle about midnight and remained in the house with Wheeler until early in the morning, when he is alleged to have committed the murder and then fled for the first car in the early morning of the new year.

Efforts of detectives to find any one on the night trains to Sawtelle who could identify Davis proved unavailing, and because of the closeness of the time between the arrival of the first train in the morning and the ringing of the Sawtelle fire alarm made it appear unlikely that Davis could have ridden out in the morning to commit the crime.

However, both the conductor and motorman remember him distinctly as having been one of the passengers on the first morning train. He impressed himself upon their memory by conversation and cigars. Motorman Davis said last night that he remembered when Capt. Davis boarded the car. It is unusual to carry strangers on the early car, the passengers being chiefly night newspaper men returning from work. The car carries newspapers to the beach.

HE'S IDENTIFIED.

"I thought he had been looking for some one and waited most of the night at the Hill-street station to catch the first car home," said Motorman Davis. "He gave me a cigar and I had no trouble identifying the prisoner at the County Jail as the same man who did give me the cigar and who talked to me as my car was going to Sawtelle."

It has been part of Capt. Davis's defense that he was asleep at the Hotel Ben when the home, used jointly by him and Wheeler, was burned at Sawtelle. Davis has asserted that he came into the city the night before the crime and did not return to Sawtelle until 9 o'clock, the morning of the crime, also that he was very much surprised to see his home in ashes.

Deputy District Attorney Blair is confident that this last bit of evidence will clinch the case against Davis, as the motive for the crime has been thoroughly established in the discovery of evidence that Davis insured his partner against death by fire a few days before the murder and otherwise planned to profit by Wheeler's demise.

THANKS TO MR. EGAN.

Uncoated, Unpolished Rice and Its Value

We urge you to use uncoated, unpolished Rice because of its virgin purity. The most precious part of the seed is lost in the polishing process. Glucose, with which polished rice is coated, is said to be the cause of many stomach troubles. Unpolished Rice goes thru no process whatsoever and consequently retains all its natural elements and constituents.

There It Is!

Chemical analysis of an ordinary cup of coffee shows that it contains about 2½ grains of the drug caffeine.

By actual test the U. S. Government demonstrated that 5 grains of caffeine (the amount in 2 cups of coffee) were sufficient to kill a rabbit.

Of course, human beings are stronger than rabbits, but there are few people who can drink coffee regularly without sooner or later feeling the effects of caffeine poisoning, commonly shown in headache, indigestion, biliousness, sleeplessness, heart agitation and other ills.

A MERRY TOAST.

Perhaps you have heard it already. It is that we may all live as long as we like and get what we like as long as we live.

A NATURAL ERROR.

A man found $300 in gold dust and nuggets in an ant hill near Marysville. The ants must have mistaken the gold nuggets for new potatoes.

OIL FOR TROUBLED WATERS.

The plan for mediation between the United States and Mexico is a great success in one direction. Washington mixologists have concocted a new cocktail and named it the A.B.C. If all reports are true, this refreshing information seems to have gone to the head of Huerta.

GETTING LOCATED.

The Mexican refugees who might otherwise be in doubt as to where they are, in view of the present delicate negotiations between the two countries, will have no trouble in finding themselves in their wire stockade at Fort Wingate, N. M., with four troops of United States cavalry camping just outside the fence.

A LIMITED CAPACITY.

A New York judge in fixing the alimony which a young millionaire should pay his divorced wife only granted her $100 a month because he figured that if the young man were put to work he could not possibly earn more than $900 a year. In such cases a wife should sue for what her husband has and not for what he is worth.

AN EXTREME VIEW.

We don't believe it at all. We are merely telling what we heard somebody else say. Like all gossips, our motive in repeating it is to deny the possibility of its truth. We heard a woman say that equal rights have brought about a condition where a lady may pay her dinner calls by dropping into the office of the husband of her hostess.

WHO'S WHO IN MEXICO.

Three rebel armies are said to be closing in on Mexico City. This will be no grief to most foreigners, but some of us are a little curious as to which branch of the rebel cause will be first to take the capital and as to how long it will be able to hold it against the other branches. Revolutions in Mexico are like books, since to the making of them there is no end.

MAKING A NOISE.

All kinds of literature is being put forth from many sources advertising California for 1915. This State has a peculiar advantage over most countries where a big attraction invites the public. The show does not end with the exposition, but extends to all the wide wonder of California. The visitor will get his money's worth in twenty directions. The Southland, with its sunshine and flowers, will live in the memory of the many longer than any feature of the fair, and some will never escape its golden lure.

ROMANCE AND POLITICS.

The country has survived another White House wedding, even though the papers contain the shocking news that the ladies were only half in evening dress. For once we are hoping that a dispatch is not the naked truth. Anyway, the Democratic party appears to be coming into the Union. Its leaders seem to have accepted the axiom that in unity there is strength. As long as their ambition does not lead them to the habits of the really Jewish kings and of the first Mormons in Utah the country has no right to complain about the romances of the capital.

THE HUMAN INTEREST.

The austere old London Times is getting sentimental. It has actually admitted a harmless little "human interest" story to its dignified columns. Two inches of space are devoted to the recital of the burial of the posthumous son of a police constable who lost his life during a famous burglary case, and we have a pathetic picture of a wreath on which the words "Bobby's Gone to Daddy" were worked in flowers. This is a tremendous innovation for England's most respectable and dignified newspaper. Coming immediately after its price was reduced from six cents to two cents, we naturally fear the worst.

WILSON AS A POKER PLAYER.

President Wilson may be able to translate an ode of Horace, a dithyrambic of Homer, or an oration of Heschines. The hieroglyphics of Egypt may be as plain to him as are turkey tracks to a hunter, and there may be no problem in higher mathematics that he cannot solve blindfolded with one hand tied behind him. But evidently in his college days he was never locked up with a few kindred spirits in an upper room, with the transom closed, the door crevices deadened and a heavy blanket on the table and there compelled to decide promptly whether the other fellow had a full hand or only a bob-tail flush.

To play draw poker is a waste of time and, unless you can play it unusually well, it results in a waste of money. Its sole extenuation is that it may give to the player valuable lessons in the art of detecting a bluff, and much of the business, the social and the political life of the day is made up of bluffs or attempts at bluffs.

If Wilson or Bryan had ever had a draw poker experience in their earlier and less pious days they might not have been so completely bluffed and outgeneraled and bamboozled as they have been by Huerta.

NO AGREEABLE TASK.

The nature of the circumstances and the magnitude of the problem necessitate that the work of mediation in Mexico proceed slowly and painfully. It is no agreeable task, undertaken amid difficulties that might be lessened if more pressure were brought to bear on the turbulent factions of Mexico, some of which are constantly threatening to make trouble. The country is broken up, and internecine hostilities have not ceased. All of the forces seem restless. Gen. Funston has seen fit to cable to Washington asking for reinforcements. It is reasonable to suppose that he would not do so unless there was the imminent possibility of an outbreak that would require the presence of more American troops.

The nations which have taken upon themselves the responsibility of developing the plans for mediation have gone so far that they cannot and are not disposed to recede, no matter what the future attitude of Mexico may be. Huerta acceded to the proposal for mediation through representatives of Argentina, Brazil and Chile. Those republics voluntarily took up the task and they cannot lay it down. The only possible bloodless solution of the Mexican puzzle is through some such mediation as has been proposed and begun.

The United States cannot move further into Mexico unless our government is willing to face war against a country that will, in all probability, be unified in sentiment by such aggression on our part—and an aggression that would have no purpose of conquest, but be made simply to restore peace.

Unless the United States, single-handed and alone, invades and conquers Mexico—a thing to be avoided if possible—peace will never be established in that country until the powers of the world join in an armed intervention. Long ago The Times pointed out that plan as the one that was feasible and logical. If the United States should join with the South American republics and European powers in an effort to restore order in Mexico, all the hostile factions in that country would see that the world was in earnest in demanding the cessation of hostilities and crimes. A military demonstration of the United States, England, France, Germany and Italy combined would be a most convincing argument to Carranza, Villa and Huerta for an armistice, during which the mediators could develop and enforce their plans. And we do not believe that good government will ever effectively be established in Mexico until there is a joint armed intervention of the world powers—not for conquest, not for tribute, not for one inch of territory, not for political dominance, but to allow the mediators, of whom the Mexican leaders have already approved, to establish an authority of sufficient strength and wisdom to keep the country pacified and so restore order and prosperity.

STOP, LOOK AND LISTEN, TAXPAYERS!

Before voting today on the $6,500,000 power bond proposition we taxpayers—who already have to pay so many millions of dollars yearly in Los Angeles for taxes and numerous special assessments—ought to stop, look and listen. We ought to consider whether it is necessary, or even advisable, for us to vote another $6,500,000 into the hands of the City Council and its chief electrical engineer, Scattergood, for them to use in any way they see fit in connection with our aqueduct electric enterprise. We want power plant No. 1 completed, but it will not cost $6,500,000 to do that work. The engineer's estimate for that was $1,250,000, so mentioned as an "estimate" in the ordinance and on the ballot and by him on several platforms since April 8, the day on which he told the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association that the work would really cost $2,000,000, or $750,000 more than he, by the wording of the ordinance and his speeches, has been telling us was necessary. Further, if we look at the election ordinance we find that it does not legally bind the City Council, the men who will have the distributing of the $6,500,000 if we go against our own interests and put that sum in their hands, to "complete" the power plant, the word "completion," though in the act, being omitted, evidently purposely, from the ordinance and from all the notices of intention preceding its passage.

We ought to stop and look at our own financial circumstances and consider whether we ought to add to our present heavy tax burden by voting upon ourselves $367,000 a year more taxes for a partial electric distributing system which, in the face of the power companies' two very fair guaranteed offers, need not be built, bought or confiscated by condemnation for five or as many more years as the city chooses to avail itself of either one of those offers.

We ought to stop and figure how much money each of us need to pay the special assessments that are now standing against us and our properties, together with many others that are known to be forthcoming.

We ought to stop and listen to the voice of warning which comes to us from day to day in the financial and other news dispatches as to the necessity of our going slow in the creation of unnecessary debt as a municipality, as well as privately.

We ought to stop and realize that if the war in Mexico goes on we individually will have to face extra taxes for the heavy cost of that war. We had to pay about $400,000,000 of such taxes for the Spanish-American war of a few years ago.

We ought to stop and consider the fact that the more we tax ourselves for unnecessary municipal expenditure the less money shall we have to pay taxes on the $7,500,000 needed for our schools, $4,600,000 of which must be voted on May 14, only six days from today.

Listen, fellow-taxpayers, which do we need most? An unnecessary electric distributing plant, at a final cost of $10,000,000, or more schools, more teachers and more education for our children?

If we taxpayers who have to pay all the city's bills stop, look and listen in this emergency we will go bright and early to the polls and vote "No" today on the utterly unnecessary power bond proposition, will urge all our friends and fellow-voters to do likewise and take pains to see that they do so. Every possible vote is needed to check the proposed unnecessary expenditure.

Which shall it be, taxpaying and other voters, $367,500 a year more taxes for an unnecessary electric distributing system or $322,000 a year more taxes for our schools and our children?

His Fill of Bonds.

INCREASE IN RAILROAD RATES.

The Mexican problem, the repeal of the Panama Canal exemption law, the location of Federal reserve banks, the "busting" of trusts and the distribution of the debris of the pie counter do not seem to offer sufficient scope for the exercise of the mental activities of President Wilson.

The new tariff is working badly so far as reducing the high cost of living is concerned. Meat is higher, potatoes and flour are no lower, and the reduction in sugar amounts to only about five cents per month per capita.

The people have labored under the erroneous impression that the high cost of living might be somewhat lessened by reducing the tremendous income of railroads. By a great effort the people got control of the railroads to a certain extent. They subjected them to the interstate-commerce law and made the Sherman act apply, and it was announced that the use of the Panama Canal would reduce the railroad rates.

And now, like thunder out of a clear sky, comes the announcement that President Wilson is favorable to a judicial decree or a governmental order that railroad rates are too low, and that it is necessary to raise the freight rates in order to keep railroad directors and stockholders from starving.

The capital of the roads that are to receive this rate increase amounts to $1,386,073,429. The proposed 5 per cent. increase would amount to about $70,000,000. Seventy millions of dollars per annum will be added to the freight rates and therefore to the cost to the consumers, mainly of heavy articles, like sugar, rice, lumber, flour and other articles used by the people. The increased freight on silks, laces and luxuries will be so little as not to be noticed.

Seventy million dollars will about equal the entire income tax that will be received by the government. If the people are required to pay that amount into the coffers of the railroads it will dispose of the claim that the Democrats have compelled the rich of the country to pay any greater proportion of the taxation than the poor.

Canada takes a different view of the obligations of the government towards the people and the railroads. The Canadian commission last month issued an order reducing railroad rates.

It is estimated by some of the railroads that the increase of wages of their employees has caused an increase of the expense of maintaining and operating their lines. The facts do not justify this statement. There are about 1,750,000 employees on all the railroads in the United States, and the aggregate amount of wages per capita is no greater than it was in 1910, while there has been an increase in dividends. The Pennsylvania Railroad made last year a dividend of 9¼ per cent. on its capital stock.

Congressman Bryan of Washington says that we have one Interstate Commerce Commission and forty-eight different States with their separate railway commissions, and they criss-cross and fight each other and contend with the railroads at one time and with other jurisdictions at another time. Sometimes they engage in sham battles, sometimes in real battles. Then we have an Attorney-General who will not let the New Haven operate unless Mr. Morgan resigns. As fast as the Interstate Commerce Commission gets the railroads to working together under uniform system and uniform accounting Mr. McReynolds goes after them to make them compete and keep fighting each other. The commission tends to lower and the Attorney-General to raise rates.

A PIGMY'S RAGE.

Those of us who read the magazines and keep tab on the editorial idiosyncrasies that are displayed from time to time are rewarded for the trouble by the amusing spectacle of little Norman Hapgood wrestling with an anger that is much too large for him. This little Mr. Hapgood believes the chief evil of the world is its disinclination to listen to him and follow his advice and heed his admonitions. For many, many years he has labored under the erroneous impression that he is a keen observer and a trenchant writer. He has long been an assiduous member of that little coterie gathered together, seemingly for the purpose of expressing mutual admiration, of whom Lincoln Steffens is a dim light. Little Mr. Hapgood was gently replaced as the editor of Collier's Weekly some time ago by one whose subsequent writings have given the public all of the excuse needed for the wisdom of the change. Little Mr. Hapgood then acquired dominance over Harper's Weekly wherein he has permitted persons favored by his friendship to air their opinions, and has given no small space to articles that reflected admiration for the present editor of the Weekly.

At present little Mr. Hapgood is telling the people how very angry, how intensely indignant, how stupendously peevish he is at Mr. Hearst, Champ Clark and a few anonymous "rascals" collected together under the broad term of "the Tammany forces." It is all so very illuminating, for we are permitted to know exactly how little Mr. Hapgood feels about these men, and were that information not given us, we have no doubt but that the great mass of humanity would flounder around in an ocean of ignorance and never know what was the matter.

A POST MORTEM.

Theodore Roosevelt says that he will not run for President on the Republican ticket. This is neither new nor surprising, but Roosevelt's reason for making the statement is a fresh monument to his colossal nerve. He says he cannot swallow the Republican bosses. They certainly would not undertake to swallow him. Harsher critics might say that this would require a vulture instead of a swallow, but with a gentler humor we prefer to put it that the Republican party is not a whale. At least to have cast him out once will last the party a lifetime. He may now go to Nineveh, or stay in Brazil, but he is not needed at Washington.

SOMETHING TO DO.

WALT MASON IN THE TIMES.

Oh, ye who complain of the grind, remember these words (which are true!) The dreariest job one can find is looking for something to do! Sometimes, when my work seems a crime, and I'm sorely tempted to sob, I think of the long vanished time when I was out hunting a job. I walked eighty miles every day, and climbed forty thousand high stairs, and people would shoo me away, and pelt me with inkstands and chairs. And then, when the evening grew dark, I knew naught of comfort or ease; I made me a bed in the park, for supper chewed bark from the trees. I looked through the windows at men who tackled their oysters and squabs, and probably grumbled again because they were tired of their jobs. And I was out there in the rain, with nothing to eat but my shoe, and filled with a maddening pain because I had nothing to do. And now when I'm tempted to raise the grand hailing sign of distress, I think of those sorrowful days, and then I feel better, I guess. I go at my labors again with energy vital and new, and say, as I toil in my den, "Thank God, I have something to do!"

"A FRIEND OF THE PEOPLE."

BY GORDON RAY YOUNG.

It is a relief to discover that not all of those who believe themselves competent to indulge in literature are dwelling in the tents of the reformers and burning the midnight oil as incense to successful hypocrisy. Theodore Bonnet, the editor of Town Talk, San Francisco, has thrown the gauntlet squarely into the face of the "Progressives" with a play ironically named "A Friend of the People." It is a strong play; a play which so exacting a critic as Ashton Stevens has pronounced a drama of "upbuilding conflict," with "choke and grip in the bare reading."

Mr. Bonnet says in his prefatory epistle: "Now it occurs to me that the noblest theme for the dramatist is to be found right here in the tragi-comedy of a nation inflamed by politicians and smoldering with manufactured discontent that here and there bursts forth into flame like beacons at night on dark hills."

Again he says: "It occurs to me that all of our playwrights—the playwrights of the underworld as well as of politics—are Progressives. They have been writing the uplift drama. . . . The explanation is simple. The drama more than any other art is sensitive to environment. It feels what is in the air, reflects the sentiment of the times. And here we are in an age of cant, the cant of the uplift, the cant of social reform, the cant of altruism, the cant of chivalry."

And so this is a drama of protest, smashing through the cant phrases that hedge the respectability of the professional politicians and laying bare the mechanism that creates these "popular demands" for Progressive Governors and their satellites.

The cutting irony is woven about a plot which makes Gov. Hopkins a hypocrite in love as well as in politics, the love elements being necessary, it seems, to the success of a drama. Mrs. Foster the young wife of an elderly capitalist, induced her husband to finance Hopkins's campaign. His illicit affection for the woman to whom he owes everything is soon transferred to Rosalie Colton, a niece of Foster's. Mrs. Foster discovers that the Governor has secretly allied himself with the men representing "big interests," whom, so he boasts, he has driven out of politics; and she, to save Rosalie from the effects of an infatuation, bares the hypocrisy of the Governor. And he, as most cowards do when cornered, kills himself.

Dolan: It certainly abuses you.

Pendleton: I must read it.

Dolan: Says you are drawing a salary from the State as secretary of the Board of Control while running a press bureau to boom the Governor for United States Senator when you are not using the women of the League of Justice to do crooked politics.

Dolan (his eyes twinkling:) For telling the truth?

An analogy may be drawn between conditions in California and "A Friend of the People," especially relative to the press bureau services of men on the State's pay roll.

A recall movement against Judge Lawrence has been ended by his death. The Governor's office was back of the recall and public sentiment is inclined to be indignant in the belief that the judge was hounded to his death. So to offset that feeling Dolan arranges a "spontaneous" celebration at the Governor's hotel where the "Good Government Boys" will cheer and the Governor reaffirm all the platitudes of which he is the master. The Governor is consulted on the time when he will be ready.

Touching the matter of the Lawrence death, Dustan, the representative of the Post, drops in on the Governor to ask a few questions, whereupon Hopkins arises in vast indignation and says, in something of the same manner that Progressive Governors seem to have a way of saying in similar situations: "I have nothing to say on the subject except that the administration is proud of the enemies it has made. I have dedicated my services to the people of this State for the purification of politics and the uplift of my fellow-man, and I am not to be intimidated by intriguing politicians."

When Dolan sees that the Governor is worried about the state of affairs he advises: "Governor, if I were you, hm? I'd write a sizzling message to the Legislature on the importance of retrenchment and economy. That's what the people are ripe for. It will take their minds off of political frame-ups."

Hopkins (laughing:) Where did you get that idea?

Dolan: Learned that years ago when I was Mayor Patton's secretary. Remember Boss Flannigan, hm?

Hopkins: Old Pat Flannigan?

Dolan: Yes, the Lord have mercy on him. Heard him say to Patton one day: "Thomas, no matter what false gods the people are running after, you can always get them back to the true religion by appealing to their pocket nerve. Be strong for retrenchment and low taxes."

Hopkins: Sounds good. But the trouble is the cost of government has been going up. (Smiles.) Reform comes high.

The climax comes when Sawyer, an attorney who has been sent to prison for juggling with an estate, is released from prison and demands of Hopkins that he be appointed to the vacancy made by the death of Judge Lawrence.

Hopkins: Suppose I make you attorney for the Industrial Commission? (Sawyer shakes his head.) Be reasonable, Ned. . . . What do you think the newspapers would say if I appointed you to the bench? . . . I'd be attacked by every reactionary paper in the State.

The upshot of the interview is that Hopkins agrees to make the appointment if Sawyer will turn over the evidence in his possession which would cast certain reflections on the "reform" Governor.

Sawyer says he will give them up after the appointment is made. The Governor lies to Mrs. Foster as to the nature of the letters and persuades her to get them from Sawyer. When she learns what they really are, when at the same time she learns that the Governor is making love to Rosalie, and when, on top of all that, she learns that the Governor does not intend to keep his promise to Sawyer, Mrs. Foster turns the letters over to Dunstan, the Post correspondent, and they are published.

Posperity Declaration.

REPUBLICAN PRINCIPLES ON FIRM FOUNDATION.

We, the representatives of the State Central Committee of the Republican party of the southern district of the State of California, in convention assembled at Los Angeles, declare that the principles upon which the government has existed from the days of Lincoln to the present day, the principles which have been the source of our prosperity and progress, are the principles of the Republican party; that the evidence on every hand multiplied, indicates conclusively that the people of the State of California and of the nation are returning to the Republican party. The Republican party represents today, as it always has represented, the safest and most wholesome principles of government. The Republican party is a party of practical methods. It does not represent fads and fancies of hysterical political reformers. It does not represent impractical academic theories. For this reason, it is already decreed that the people will again return the Republican party to power. The success of Republicans in this campaign indicates that the party is united and therefore victory is assured. The unhappy division of two years ago made possible the election of the present Democratic administration. The disaster which occurred then is now happily repaired. The members of our party, who, for one reason or another, left our ranks, are returning by the tens of thousands and they are welcome.

REPUBLICAN ADMINISTRATION.

The government of this State can be made an instrument for service by the present Governor and associated State officials the abuse of their selfish political power.

The issue in the coming State campaign is the redemption of the State from exploitation by the present Democratic organization. The people are staggering under a colossal burden of taxes. There is no answer to the challenge that the cost of government has increased, with a great decrease in efficiency. The present party, if continued in office, must continue, because of present reasons and for no other reasons which have no bearing in the present campaign.

Consider the administration of Governor Johnson for its shameless waste of money. The Legislature of 1907 appropriated over $7,000,000 while the Legislature of 1909, in the year 1908 names have been added to the payroll during the Johnson administration. This increase in salaries and these appointments were made in an effort on the part of the Johnson administration to perpetuate itself in control of California politics. These appointments have been of a distinctly political character. Favoritism and spoilism have ruled during the Johnson administration, as never before. Numerous and unnecessary offices have been created, the appointive patronage of which has been placed in the absolute control of the Governor, affording additional power out of which to create and maintain a political organization.

The Republican party of California in the present campaign a free government of the people, acknowledging allegiance only to the people of California.

PANAMA-PACIFIC EXPOSITION.

The State is entering upon a most important period in California history. The eyes of the civilized world are focused upon us, as never before, and we call upon the people of the State to take particular care in selecting only such men as can safely be entrusted the most critical duties.

The Panama-Pacific Exposition at San Francisco was inaugurated by a Democratic administration. The splendid results to the State of California and the entire Coast to be derived from this exposition cannot be denied. The credit for these beneficent results must be attributed to the Republican party.

POLITICAL METHODS.

The Republican party will win the present campaign because it will deserve to win. It will win because its candidates will be men notable for their public virtues. It will win because the candidates will be chosen in the primary, with no suggestion of the dark of star chamber or secret methods. It will win because the electorate of this State, upon a platform of the Republican party. We know from the history of the past that the Republican party is a solemn covenant with the people, and the people know that what is promised in that platform is carried out in letter and spirit.

THE BREACH OF FAITH

The Democratic administration has given cumulative evidence that the Democratic platform was for campaign only and was a document which were never intended to be carried out. The Democratic party has proved again that there is no ability to administer the government successfully. The Democratic party has again shown that there is no relation between its promises and its performance. It made the direct promise that it would frame a tariff bill, which would reduce the cost of living and would, on the other hand, maintain the industries of the country, and continue prosperity throughout the country. The tariff bill has been successful in reducing the wages of labor, in driving from the country capital and in closing up American industries. The conditions of 1914 parallel the conditions of 1892 and 1893, and as then hundreds of thousands of men walking the streets of cities more than at any time since the Democratic administration. The cost of living has not gone down, but is higher than ever.

THE TRADE COSTLY.

The Underwood Democratic tariff is a failure, no one can deny. Figures for the first five months of its operation indicate that the revenues have fallen off in the sum of $22,000,000; the balance in our favor, that is, the excess of exports over imports of $45,000,000, and in our foreign trade imports and exports has been a decrease of $100,000,000 in five months' time. The deficit in the Federal Treasury is $100,000,000, for the five months, as against a surplus of $100,000,000 for the corresponding period under Payne-Aldrich tariff.

ARROGANT PRESIDENT.

The President of the United States has usurped the constitutional functions of his office and has arrogated to himself the functions of other bodies. He has accomplished this by coercing the Congress of the United States, by having robbed those bodies of their independent functions as free representatives of the people.

FREE TOLLS.

The Panama Canal, entirely built by the people of the United States and representing a tremendous investment of money and genius and life, ought to be, and by right is, as free a passageway for American coastwise shipping as any navigable river entirely within our country. No amount of sophistry can alter the opinion of the American people in this regard, because the elemental fact remains that what is ours we can freely use.

The Republican party denounces the President's disgraceful surrender of our country's rights in the canal, without even an attempt to arbitrate the question. We declare that we have no partner in our ownership of the canal and that we will use, fortify and manage it as we deem proper, reserving it always as an open passageway for the commerce of other nations, on terms of exact equality.

PROTECTIVE TARIFF.

We favor a tariff law which will admit free of duty only those articles which cannot be made or grown in the United States, luxuries excepted, and that on such articles as come directly into competition with American-made goods, we favor a duty which will equalize the difference between wage scales of labor in America and Europe.

We pledge ourselves to the task of securing a protective duty on the products which are so vital to California. Sugar beets and citrus products, most important elements of our annual crops, have received a staggering blow from a Democratic administration.

TARIFF COMMISSION.

A non-partisan tariff commission was established by Republicans as the only satisfactory method of adjusting tariffs, and we recommend the re-establishment of such a commission, non-partisan in character, to the end that the tariff may be a fair protection to home workers and yet not be made so prohibitive as to afford opportunity for the creation of monopoly.

ARBITRATION.

We declare our approval of the principle of arbitrating, so far as possible, international disputes.

We believe in upholding the army and navy of the United States. Both branches of the service have just demonstrated on foreign fields their superb efficiency and unquestioned valor. All honor to both!

MEXICO.

We differ from the Democratic party in its handling of the Mexican situation, but nevertheless on patriotic grounds, we pledge our entire support to the national administration in whatever it may do toward upholding the national honor, whether in Mexico or elsewhere, and in assisting Mexico to recover from its present condition of anarchy.

PENSIONS.

No one can place a limit on the debt of gratitude due the soldiers and sailors of the republic. They have always been the special wards of the Republican party. The Republican party believes and declares, as a part of its fixed policy, that disabled defenders of the republic, their survivors should be generously provided for. Proof of just pension claims should be facilitated, and payments thereof promptly made. We denounce the methods now in force in the office of the Commissioner of Pensions, which place impediments in the way of claimants.

RURAL CREDITS.

We favor legislation which will further assist farmers in securing proper extensions of credit.

JUDICIARY.

We favor a free, unhampered and non-partisan judiciary. We maintain that the American bench throughout our history has been, with rare exceptions, a body of men of lofty and patriotic purpose. Its conduct has been notable for the just and impartial character of its rulings. At all periods of our history the American bench has represented the very highest character of our citizenship. That there have been exceptions there is no doubt and that from time to time judges may develop weaknesses is equally true, but we believe that in such event there is provided by impeachment an entirely adequate remedy. Judges should not be liable to recall through impulsive and headstrong movements among the people, but should be certain of a reasonable tenure of office.

RECALL OF DECISIONS.

We believe that the principle of the recall of judicial decisions is so repugnant to and destructive of the fundamental ideas and precepts upon which our form of government is based, that it should be unhesitatingly condemned. The Constitution of the United States is the one real impregnable bulwark of the rights of the people. It has been admired, praised and imitated by the leading nations of the world. We believe that it should be changed or amended only after deliberation sufficiently long to allow heated impulses to cool into sober thought. To make it amendable by the method provided for in the so-called recall of judicial decisions is to make it subject to the fitful gusts of popular hysteria.

We pledge our party to economy in State government and retrenchment from the vast expenditures made by the Johnson administration.

WORKING PEOPLE.

The bulwark of the State is the people who work. The Republican party was founded in the interest of those who work, and it has been the friend of the workers ever since. It is today as much opposed to every sort of slavery of the weak by the strong as it was a half-century ago. It has enacted a large body of wholesome legislation, both State and national, for the protection and benefit of men and women who are weak, as well as to curb the undue power of wealth in the hands of the few. It has steadily made it easier for industrious workers and their families to get on in the world, as it has compelled men of wealth to feel their responsibility to the community as a whole. Wherefore, it has happened that four-fifths of the men who have become potent in the large affairs of the country, of every sort, have come from families that have to work. These men have started life at the bottom rung of the industrial ladder.

PHILIPPINE POLICY.

We oppose the Philippine policy of the present administration.

WOMAN SUFFRAGE.

The Republican party in California has taken a forward step for human rights by granting suffrage to women, and woman suffrage in California has demonstrated its right of being, as it has also lately in Illinois. It is a part of the progress of the world. It now exists in ten States, and the Territory of Alaska. Sooner or later it will—as it ought to—become the law in all the States.

Two Others Stand Trials on Charges of Using the Mails in Illegal Practice.

In the United States District Court yesterday Mrs. Maria Zimmerman, charged by an indicement returned more than a year ago with having used the mails to sell articles interdicted by the law, pleaded guilty and will be sentenced Monday.

The trial of Florence Whitney, similarly charged, began before Judge Wellborn and a jury, to be followed on Monday by the trial of Daisy Grant, under indictment on the same charge.

The women were arrested soon after the indictment was returned, following an order of Postmaster-General Hitchcock, that postoffice inspectors throughout the country inaugurate a campaign against persons using the mails in connection with illegal operations.

MOVEMENTS IN SOCIETY.

ANOTHER young bud will be added to the list of brides-elect tomorrow at a smart luncheon to be given by Miss Mary Grant at her home, No. 606 South Bonnie Brae street. Miss Eleanor Sutch, who will become the bride this month of Norman Jack, has been asked as special guest, and in her honor the home will be decked with Cupids and hearts. During the last course, in a clever and original way, the hostess will announce her own engagement to John Healy, much to the delight of her host of friends. Young people accepting invitations include Miss Lois Salisbury, Miss Kathleen Tottenham, Miss Muriel Tottenham, Miss Katherine Glasgow, Miss Georgia Catts, Miss Ruth Cass, Miss Helen McDonald, Miss Margaret Whitman, Miss Gertrude Whitman, Mrs. William H. Cline, Jr.; Mrs. Walter Butler, Mrs. Howard Salisbury, Mrs. Edward Grant, Mrs. Ewald Selph, Mrs. Harry Belden, Mrs. Walter Moore, Jr., and Mrs. Cleves Harrison.

Miss Salisbury Hostess.

Miss Lois Salisbury was an interesting hostess Wednesday, having Miss Eleanor Sutch as the honored guest at an informal tea.

New Visitor.

A dainty little visitor arrived at the Lucius A. Phillips residence at No. 2828 Tenth avenue Sunday, last, and the wee bit of a girl has been named Geraldine Dorothy Phillips.

Miss Derby Betrothed.

An interesting announcement and one to please members of the fashionable world, is the engagement of Miss Julia Derby, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Derby of No. 1145 Ingraham street, to Dr. Austin H. Parker of Pasadena. The announcement was made a day or so ago at a tea party given by Miss Mary Burnham, when she had as guests, members of the Phi Delta Chi Sorority. Miss Derby was graduated from Marlborough and later finished at Stanford.

Printer's Mistake.

Invitations for "The Evolution of the Dance," which will be repeated Tuesday, the 12th inst., by members of the Amateur Players' Club under the direction of the Young Ladies' Auxiliary to the Los Angeles Orphans' Home, were sent out for Thursday the twelfth, instead of Tuesday owing to a mistake on the part of the printer.

Doheny-Smith Announcement.

Formal announcement was made yesterday of the engagement of Miss Lucy Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Smith of Pasadena, to Edward L. Doheny, Jr. The wedding will be an event of June 10.

Silver Tea.

Mrs. E. R. A. Misemer was the charming hostess recently at a silver tea given for the benefit of the Industrial department of the Hollywood Baptist Church. For the occasion, Mrs. Misemer had silvered branches of Oregon grape leaves with aluminum paint. These were combined with quantities of maidenhair fern, a mound being placed on the mantel in the living-room and in a large, round, silver basket in the center of the dining-room table. Silver leaves on the individual cakes and silver bonbons carried out the clever scheme. Mrs. L. B. Dunn, sister of the hostess, assisted in receiving, and during the afternoon an entertaining programme was given by Miss Bessie Bennett, Miss Ramona Harrod, Miss Tresa Bardeen, Miss Mabelle Lewis, and Miss Mabelle Stewart.

At Beverly Hills.

Mrs. S. B. Grummond, Mrs. U. G. Grummond and Mrs. J. D. Hawes of Palms, Cal., are registered at the Beverly Hills Hotel.

Mr. and Mrs. George H. Gillette of Santa Monica have taken an elaborate suite at the hotel for the summer. They are accompanied by Mrs. G. W. Gillette and Miss Lina Gillette.

Silver Wedding Anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Levy, No. 980 Westmoreland avenue, celebrated their silver wedding anniversary recently with a dinner party, after which many friends and relatives called to extend their best wishes. A musical programme was furnished by Miss Adele Levy and Richard Alter.

Kensington Party.

Mrs. W. Y. Smither entertained with an informal Kensington party recently at her cosy home in Alhambra. Dainty needlework and pleasant conversation employed the afternoon, after which refreshments were served. Invited guests were Mrs. D. B. Kline, Mrs. U. G. Miller, Mrs. Viola Wilson, Mrs. R. E. Small, Mrs. James Elms, Mrs. C. G. Caye, Miss Margrat Miller, Miss Lulu Reinhard, Miss Anna Clark, Miss May Abbott, Miss Carrie Bacon, Miss Bessie Bacon, Miss Laura Bacon and Miss Fannie Caye of Los Angeles, Mrs. M. L. Smither and Miss Cleora Smither of Alhambra.

Dancing Party.

Over sixty couples enjoyed the dancing party given by Miss Marion Moss and Rex Moss of No. 6608 Franklin avenue, at the Hotel Hollywood. The lobby was gay with pink roses and asparagus plumosus fern, while the ballroom was brightly decorated with yellow blossoms. The apple green programmes were monogrammed with a darker green M.

Assisting the young people as chaperones were Mr. and Mrs. B. N. Moss, Miss Elizabeth Wood, Miss Nelye Dickson, Prof. Hugo Kirchhofer and H. S. Dukes. An orchestra furnished delightful music and during the evening, and punch refreshed the guests between dances.

Theater and Tea.

Mrs. M. C. Russell of No. 1301 Curson avenue, Hollywood, entertained with a theater party a day or so ago, honoring Mrs. G. W. Wattles, who soon leaves for her summer home in Omaha, Neb. After the theater tea was served at the Alexandria.

The guests were Mrs. Wattles, Mrs. C. J. Eastman, Mrs. Ray Vercler, Mrs. C. H. Lippincott, Mrs. E. F. Bogardus, Mrs. M. C. Nason, Mrs. George Bidwell, Mrs. J. F. Meade, Mrs. Julia Marquam of Portland, Or.; Miss Jennie Wattles, and Miss Helen Russell.

May Musicale.

A splendidly arranged programme was given by Mme. Elsa Russell-Duncan, Frank Kurtz of New York, Miss May Le Grande, Miss Dorothy Ferguson, and Warren Essen Ferguson.

Miss Mary Grant,

Prendergast's Speech.

with the United States of Colombia, aiming to adjust the differences with that government arising out of the building of the Panama Canal. The American spirit was indeed shocked when in the early part of the present month it was announced that we had made a treaty with Colombia in which was included a national apology for the course of this government in handling the isthmian situation at the time of the secession of Panama.

"When the administration was questioned about this the President was reported throughout the American press to have said that any such suggestion was 'pure guff.' [Laughter.] That this proposed treaty does contain an apology is shown by the text of Article I.

"By this indenture we not only put the American people in the position of condemning the most far-reaching international act of the American government in the last generation, but we also agree to give Colombia free transit through the isthmus for her troops, supplies and warships, and to pay her $25,000,000 indemnity as well.

"Not only this, but we are to pay $25,000,000 for the privilege. Not only this, we have neglected to insist that Colombia shall give us immediate rights in the possible Atrato River Canal route, for which English interests were negotiating with Colombia only a year ago." [Applause.]

HONOR AND MEXICO.

One of the most telling notes of the evening was struck when Prendergast referred to the Mexican situation, amid volleys of answering handclaps. He said:

"The most important question relating to foreign affairs which the American government has had to consider during the past year is that of our relations with the republic of Mexico. These relations have reached a stage when, it seems to me, a suspension of judgment upon each and every phase of that problem is the patriotic attitude to be taken by all Americans. [Cheers.] No matter what may have been or may be now our views regarding the treatment that this question has received, when an issue involving the integrity of our national honor is presented to the world, every spark of national feeling requires that the American people should stand as one man in defense of our national interests and in support of that policy which will best protect the inviolable honor of the American flag." [Cheering and applause for several minutes.]

DEMOCRATS' RECORD.

Taking up a review of what the Democratic administration has done, the speaker declared that "not in twenty years has the country been confronted with so serious a relaxation in trade and industry. Instant response from the audience told that his clear, convincing points carried each a punch.

"This, then," he said, "the disheartening sequel to the tariff legislation which was going to free industry, to upbuild our manufactures, instill efficiency into our capitalists and artisans, and most loudly trumpeted claim of all, was going to reduce the cost of living.

"What was it the President meant when in his speech of acceptance he assured us that tariff changes would be made 'only at such a rate and in such a way as would least interfere with the normal and healthful course of business?' Was it not a promise to the American people that the old method of framing tariff laws would be avoided and that even if the Tariff Commission idea were not adopted, at least whatever was done would be accomplished in just as efficient a way as the Tariff Commission would be expected to perform its work?

"It is an insult to the integrity of our business interests to even insinuate that when they are permitted to express their views and present their grievances to Congress, when it is preparing a tariff bill, these men are all going to be guilty of lobbying or using improper or undue influence with Congress."

He pointed out the haste with which the tariff bill was "steam-rollered" through Congress and drew a round of applause as he continued:

"Never has any tariff bill been sent to the country as the result of less expert knowledge in committee and in Congress. Never has the cloture of the caucus been so rigorously employed to carry out the undeveloped knowledge of a few men on a great question. [Applause.] Is it any wonder that the results have been instantaneously disastrous? Here are the figures that record the unsteady gait of the New Freedom as it wends its way to the land of political nowhere. [Laughter.]

"For the period of five months, October-February:

"Imports of raw materials, $253,000,000, as against $280,000,000 for the corresponding period one year ago.

"Imports of manufactures for further use in manufacturing, $122,500,000 against $149,500,000.

"Exports of iron and steel manufactures $101,000,000 against $125,000,000.

COST OF LIVING.

Denying that the cost of living has been reduced, despite fulsome Democratic campaign promises, he concluded an arraignment that held his audience, in these words:

"Has the cost of living been reduced? Take the different commodities that enter into the daily consumption of the family and see if, instead of reductions having taken place, there has not been an average increase.

"The great difficulty of the Democratic position is this—that it either knew, when it was claiming it could reduce the cost of living by tariff changes, that it could not do anything of the kind, or it was so utterly ignorant of the real causes that have brought about an advance in the cost of living that it did not understand exactly what it was claiming. In either event its culpability is manifest and the punishment to be visited upon such culpability should be swift and certain." [Hand-clapping and shouts of approval.]

Prendergast decried the fact that the present tariff law contains the largest agricultural free list in any bill of the current generation. "Its farmers," he said, evidently worked in the belief that by placing upon the free list the products of the farm it was going to reduce the cost of these products to the consumer. It has failed to do this, but its course has produced another and terrible injury, for the operations of the law have opened a market for the farm products of other countries, with the prices of which our farmers as a rule cannot compete.

"The principal reason is that the condition of living in America is an entirely different condition from that of European and South American countries. There the farm life is drudgery and menial labor; here farming is a dignified industry.

"It is already patent that the beet sugar industry [applause] cannot stand the strain of free sugar, and the changes already effected in the sugar schedules, with the prospect of ultimate free sugar, have forced those engaged in the manufacture of sugar from beets to curtail their operations, and in some cases to shut down entirely."

"President Wilson's theory seems to be that the abolition of a duty on a raw material means a fall in the price of that material. That practice does not follow in theory in this, as in many other cases, is proved by the fact that although the duty on wool was abolished on January 1, 1913, the import price advanced when the duty was taken off, and was higher in January, 1914, than it was in January of the preceding year. Both in raw materials and in manufactured articles the foreign sellers are advancing their prices, and the effect of the new tariff law will be to maintain prices at their old levels, and in some cases raise them above those levels, but foreign merchants and foreign labor will be getting the advantage of these prices. [Shouts of approval.]

"When signing the tariff bill President Wilson said: 'We have set the business of the country free from those conditions which made monopoly not only possible, but in a sense easy and natural.' It is not time to ask what monopoly has departed this life? The meat trust is very well, thank you. [Laughter.] The sugar trust, the coffee monopoly, the Corn Products Company (an offshoot of the Standard Oil Company) are all in undisturbed possession of their old-time privileges and they and not the consumers are up to this time the chief beneficiaries of the tariff law. [Applause.]

JUST "READJUSTMENT."

"There has not been very much defense offered by the administration for these conditions, but one that has come is so unique in its nature as to be well worth considering. Secretary Redfield of the Department of Commerce, in an address, said:

"'Either the people of the country want lower prices or they do not. If they do want them, as I believe they do, they have too much sense to expect to get them without the necessary readjustment. We are in the midst of this readjustment.'

"Is it not pertinent to ask Mr. Redfield whether President Wilson or any of his followers informed the people during the Presidential campaign that the freedom from monopoly, the increase of prosperity and the reduction in the cost of living which they were promising were only to be accomplished after a period of 'readjustment?'" [Hand-clapping.] How many voters would have supported the Democratic ticket in 1912 if they had known that mills would be closed, that everywhere men would be cast out of work, that privation would reach into every part of the land, that capital would seek safety in inactivity, before any of the golden predictions of President Wilson and his supporters were realized? [Applause.]

"But with all these unfavorable trade conditions the cost of living has not been reduced.

UNEMPLOYMENT.

"There is now not the slightest doubt that we are in one of the most serious eras of unemployment the nation has ever known. The primary cause of this is the unfavorable results of tariff legislation, which have lessened industry and depreciated the earning power of capital. The second cause is the harassing of business through proposed legislation affecting the corporate interests engaged in interstate commerce.

"The 'constitution of peace" promised by President Wilson consisted of five measures of legislation, so revolutionary in their content that even their progenitors, with the Presidential consent, have been forced to abandon them in their original form, and their publication has led to general denunciation from all quarters of the country. Is it any wonder that business is depressed, that unemployment is broadcast, add that capital is perturbed as it has rarely been before? [Applause.]

"The New York Central lines have laid off since last September 27,000 men, the Erie Railroad Company 6000, the Norfolk and Western Railroad Company 8000, the Pennsylvania Railroad Company 15,000, and it is said that it will be necessary to dispense with the services of 10,000 more on this road. In October, 1913, it had 142,000 men on full time. On March 14, 1914, 87,000 only were on full time. The American railroads have a nominal pay roll of 1,700,000 employees; with families they represent 7½ per cent of our whole population. Next to agriculture our greatest industry is railroading, representing 250,000 miles of track and an investment of $18,000,000,000. There is one gravely erroneous popular idea that the railroads are owned only by the rich. The Pennsylvania Railroad Company has 100,000 stockholders and the securities of all our roads are in the hands of hundreds of thousands of owners, many of whom are in a great measure dependent upon the dividends their investments are earning. The public has been told that the railroads are discharging their men with a view to forcing an increase of freight rates from the Interstate Commerce Commission. The falsity of the charge is proved by the figures just published by the commission itself, which show that the net revenue per mile of the eastern roads was only $188 in February, 1914, as against $413 in February, 1913."

STRENGTH IN UNION.

Greatest enthusiasm was roused by the plea Prendergast made for united forces under the old party banner. He said:

"After this review of the most far-reaching acts and policies of the present administration, are we not justified in concluding that the effect of these acts and these policies are, and will continue to be, prejudicial to the interests of the American people? But we must not forget that those who would disestablish the Democratic supremacy must work under one banner. (Cries of 'Yes, yes.')

"Time, the great healer, has already produced remarkable results in alleviating much of the strained feeling that existed less than two years ago between the Republican party and many of those, who had formerly been its adherents, but were then in an attitude of opposition. It may be that this result has been caused largely by the thought that the Democratic party, when given an opportunity to govern this country, has failed now as it always has failed before. I also believe that this era of better feeling is due to the fact that the reflections of time have led us to understand that differences, which only a short time ago were regarded as really vital, were not of sufficient moment to permanently separate in their political action men, who for so many years have helped to fight the battles of the Republican party.

"We want all who have ever been of the party household, whether they be known as Progressives or Progressive Republicans, to join once more in the great work of placing this country upon a basis of domestic prosperity and international dignity. (Applause for several minutes.)

"The evidences o fthe elections of 1913 and those that have taken place since January 1 of this year are pregnant with the assurances of reunited Republicanism. (Sustained applause.) Still there are many outside who base their attitude upon the fact that certain individuals, who have been and still are potent in Republican politics are not satisfactory to them as leaders.

"Leadership at its best is an evanescent thing, but principles are enduring. Parties stand for principles, and it is only through party success that these principles can be carried into effective administration. Consequently it is incomprehensible how men, who are at heart in sympathy with the principles of the Republican party, can refuse to support it.

"The fundamental principles of the Republican party are the same now as they were in 1912. (Cheers.) The discussion following the Republican national convention of 1912 was not caused by any changes in the principles of the Republican party, but was due to the fact that many believed that the contests in the national convention were not settled in accordance with the majority sentiment of the people in the elections of delegats. Any attempt to make the action on these contests a cause of permanent party disruption is untenable and cannot succeed.

UNITY RETURNING.

"From the time the polls closed on the Presidential election of 1912, the most interesting and important political question before the American people has been the coalescing of the Republican and Progressive forces. The most interesting unfolding of the case thus far has been that, although the leaders are loath to enter into any coalition, the process of amalgamation has been quietly and steadily going forward without the help of leaders, and in spite of their views. (Applause.)

"This situation is highly interesting in another sense, for it indicates that the men who cast the votes are capable of correcting political differences. (Hand clapping and cheers.)

"It seems to me that amalgamation will be brought about by the act of the individual, exercising as he does his right and intention to act for himself; leaders who take a reactionary attitude upon the question of a united opposition to the Democratic party will very soon realize that they represent no one but themselves and are leading only themselves." (Laughter.)

Declaring that the Progressive movement has already served any good purpose it might have had in liberalization of party machinery, the speaker concluded:

"I do not believe that the mass of those who supported the Progressive ticket in 1912 propose to be used in subsequent elections for the purpose of satisfying private or political grudges. (Cheers.) We make our appeal to them in order that they may correctly understand the situation and realize that the most tangible way in which to rescue the ship of state from crashing upon the rocks of Democratic incapacity, is to work out our national salvation through the agency of a re-united, revivified Republican party." A storm of cheers, applause and shouts of approbation followed the speaker from the platform.

THE WAR GOD.

On peace day, Monday, the 18th inst., Rabbi Myers will give a recital of Zangwill's stirring drama, "The War Dog," at the State Normal School in the morning, at the Hollywood Union High School in the afternoon, and at the Y.M.C.A., in the evening. Dr. Myers delivered the lecture Wednesday to the students of the Los Angeles High School.

Night Riders.

MYSTERY ENTERS MONROVIA CASE.

Friend of Mr. Thompson's" May Be a Woman.

Tell's Stories Implicate Mayor of Town.

...he mysterious "friend of Mr. ...mpson's" served to enliven yester-...y's proceedings in the case of the ...Monrovia "night riders," which has ...kept occupying Judge Summerfield's ...court for the past two days.

...Back and forth through the routine ...of the hearing ran the ever-recurring ...mystery as to the fifth party in the auto ...ride of W. J. Thompson, and be-...cause it has been current comment ...in Monrovia since the attack on C. ...Finkbiner by the Monrovia youths ...that this mysterious person was a ...woman the frequent reference to this ...point yesterday caused a noticeable ...stir among the defendants.

...Thompson drove an auto to ...the home of the attack on the ...Monrovia editor and told the court ...that Arthur Morse, Norman Smith, ...Ben Badger and a friend whose name ...he did not remember rode with him. ...Reference was referred to this unnamed party ...as a "friend of Thompson's," and in ...addition the mysterious person fig-...ured throughout the proceedings. The ...fleeing youths seemed handed to-...gether to protect the person who rode ...with Thompson and the boys to the ...scene of the held-up and later, when ...they followed the auto bearing the ...body to the Santa Anita wash, this ...same "friend of Mr. Thompson's" ac-...companied them.

...Only connects the name of a high ...school student, a chum of the sister ...of the defendants, with the ...affair. Two of the citizens ...testified toward the wash in answer ...to Finkbiner's cries, state positively ...that they saw a woman and two men ...leave the auto that later proved to be ...owned by E. B. Tyfal's and run through ...a citrus grove at the side of the ...road. The following morning these ...men and several friends followed the ...route that could plainly be seen ...running through the orchard to the car ...in which these people had gone across ...the paved orchard—two men and a ...woman.

...Perhaps the most damaging bit of ...testimony given during the day was ...that of Arthur Morse, a brother of ...Norman Morse, one of the defendants. ...Morse said he was invited by ...Thompson and rode with Smith, ...Norman Knox and a "friend of ...Thompson's" to the corner of Fail-...mont and Myrtle avenues, where ...a halt took place. He told of ...buying a bottle of beer, and said ...he left the bottle until the auto ...reached the corner, then, he said, Nor-...man took the bottle as he got ...out running-board of the car.

...Did you see any one at the wash," ...asked Richardson, to which ...Morse replied that he saw his broth-...er, Norman Smith, Ben Badg-...er, George Kirchenslager stand-...ing by the road.

...I was very surprised to see my ...brother," said Morse, "and asked ...him what he was doing there. He ...said he had come out to see the fun. ...Then one of the boys said Whitaker ...had been hit on the head and my ...brother said that he needed a doctor."

...R. E. Copeland was the first wit-...ness of the day. He was followed by ...Fred Bilgard, who lives in the neigh-...borhood of the attack.

...Arthur Morse followed Knox, then ...H. Brewer, a Monrovia undertak-...er, took the stand.

...Judge Summerfield created no lit-...tle merriment when Brewer stated ...that he had started with the boys, but ...had quit when he heard the cries. ...He added in a low voice, "A ...progressive undertaker," and ...the stars counsel were moved to ...laugh.

...W. Patton, a contractor, told of ...having been in the company with ...Mark Monroe on the afternoon ...of April 13, working at the fork of ...the creek. He told the court that ...Mr. Morse and Kenneth Harvey ...told where they were working ...and the boys said they were going to ...have some fun with Whitaker and ...drive him from town. They said they ...had killed it over with some of the ...boys, as they knew they must ...use their heads to guide them.

...Two deputies from the Sher-...iff's office the day after the attack ...testified last Mayor Tyfal on the ...day and they talked ...matter over.

...The statement which Kenneth Har-...vey made to deputies from the Sher-...iff's office a few days after the "night-...riders" also implicates Mayor Tyfal. ...According to the deputies, the Harvey ...boys told Tyfal told the boys to use ...their buckshot, and if they needed an-...other machine to rent one and he ...would pay for it. He told the boys, ...according to Harvey's statement to the ...deputies, to take Whitaker out to the ...river, put a rope around his neck, a ...sack on his face, and to go through ...the preparations for a fake hang-...ing. Then to tell him to get across ...the road and if he would not go ...Tyfal would tell them who ...to make him go. The deputies ...testified yesterday that Mark Monroe ...made the same statements regarding ...Tyfal at the same time.

...The statements of Harvey and Mon-...roe together with statements from ...other of the boys were yesterday or-...dered stricken and furnished to the ...court and the judge.

...Deputies Wright and Fox, from the ...Sheriff's office, testified yesterday to ...having been called to Monrovia and ...taking charge of the boys. Fox said ...that Monroe and George ...Whitaker told of following ...Tyfal and of jumping on his back ...to hold his arms so that if he ...struck he could not use it.

...The attorneys for the defense ...cited authorities before sum-...ming up the case, Judge Summerfield ...granted a continuance until 9 a.m. ...tomorrow, at which time he will decide ...whether or not the boys are to be ...held over for trial.

...THE CHERRY BLOSSOMS.

...Arthur S. Phelps will deliver a ...lecture evening in Central Baptist ...Church on the subject, "Under the ...Cherry Blossoms of Japan," illustrated ...by personal views. He has just ...returned from a tour of the world, sev-...eral months of his time having been ...spent in Japan.

...CEPTION TO MUSICIAN.

...A reception will be given at the res-...idence of Mrs. Maud A. Meserve, No. ...1 Lafayette street, this evening, in ...honor of Calvin Brainard Cady of New ...York, who will speak on "Musical Ed-...ucation." All persons interested are ...invited.

Lost and found.

Mrs. Mary Rogers and her son, Chester Bacon, reunited yesterday after heart-breaking years of futile search since the San Francisco fire. Each had long despaired of finding the other alive.

Schools or Power?

tance, and that if one or the other must be sacrificed there should be no question in the minds of good citizens as to which should pass and which should fail.

"I think both should be voted," said Mr. Monlux, "but if it is to be only one, I, of course, favor the school bonds."

That it is to be "only one" is the conclusion in the minds of many thousands of voters, who are extremely reluctant to favor an increase of over $11,000,000 in the city's bonded debt at two elections to be held within a single week.

"If but one bond issue is to be voted, which do you regard as most important to the city—power bonds or school bonds?"

The answers are as follows, each being interviewed when alone:

J. M. Guinn: School bonds, of course. How do you expect to induce people to come here to live if we have no schools for their children?

H. W. Frank: We must have schools, that is certain, and we can't keep up with the growth of the city unless we vote the school bonds.

Joseph Scott: School bonds, as a matter of course.

Reynold E. Blight: My primary interest is in the school bonds and it would be a public calamity not to vote them.

J. H. Bean: I think both should stand on their merits. One is just as important as the other.

Mrs. R. L. Craig: That's a big question and I should like time to think about it.

Col. J. J. Steadman, president of the board, has been out of town for a week and had not returned at a late hour last night.

Asst. Supt. M. C. Bettinger (yesterday in a public speech:) Power bonds are obscuring the school bonds because the power bonds are commercial, but when we get down to realities they are not the more important. That which makes for humanity is of more importance than that which simply makes for dollars and cents.

J. H. Francis, city superintendent, at Lincoln High School: We must vote the school bonds in order to do away with half-day schools, and with bungalows which are uncomfortable and take up room needed for playgrounds; to furnish high schools for Garvanza and the southeast and western parts of the city; to improve the sanitary conditions of the schools, which in some cases are bad, but cannot be improved except by bond money.

The two days that remain for our "Heart Songs" distribution will probably attract crowds that have been dilatory in possessing the greatest work of song music ever published. To say that we have been pleased at its reception is but mildly to express our feelings. The book will be taken from the piano or library thousands of times and sung from during the next few years. We know of no book that could make a home more attractive to the whole family. With 400 of the most popular songs among the English-speaking peoples, carefully edited, rearranged, harmonized, given a piano score, and pitched in a key adapted to the average voice, it is no wonder that thousands have felt that they must not let the opportunity slip to own so rare a treasure. This is the secret of the enormous distribution going on for the past few weeks from this office. During the two days left, today and Saturday, we sincerely hope none will go away disappointed. If they do it will not be because we have failed to give them timely warning. Our remarkable coupon offer is published again in today's Times.

SWEETEST MUSIC, SON'S VOICE.

Mother Locates Boy Lost in Great Disaster.

Talks to Him Over Telephone in Morning.

Evening Finds Them Clasped in Fond Embrace.

The sun that lingered balefully behind curtained skies for a week in Los Angeles, broke with radiance yesterday for the first time in eight years in the life of Mrs. May Rogers, No. 324 South Eastlake avenue. It was spring in her heart, for her son was found.

Over the long distance wires from Perris his glad young voice came to her and it was the sweetest music her ears had ever heard.

That was in the morning. Night found them reunited in her pleasant little home with more to tell of their long search and its despair than ever the hours of one night might hold.

Perhaps a generation will not see the end of the strange confusion of lives and their untangling following the ruin era of the northern city. Not many of these romantic experiences have been happier in sequel than the reunion between Mrs. Rogers and her son Chester Bacon here yesterday.

When they parted in San Francisco a day before that eventful April morning, she went from their home at O'Farrel and Leavenworth streets to St. Vincent's Hospital, Twenty-first and Howard streets, where she was training as a nurse. Chester, then less than sixteen years of age, went to his work.

She remained at the hospital that night and morning broke for them in a delirium of change. The tottering city groaned under the temblor's sickening quake. On every hand was the crash of a falling city followed by wall upon wall of flame.

Unable to leave the care of the maimed to seek for her son, Mrs. Rogers became a good soldier in the army administering to the stricken city and contented herself with a mother's prayers.

The little hospital was unsafe and they took its cots to a barn to receive the injured. This position was made impossible by the course of the disaster and they were received by the troops at Twenty-fifth and Noe streets.

For three nights Mrs. Rogers slept upon the ground in the hills near that camp. Meanwhile her boy was in a vacant lot three or four blocks away and neither ever knew of their nearness at that time, until yesterday.

They exhausted every available avenue of information without finding any trace of the other. The pretty young mother, then a widow, went about her work with such courage as her anxious heart could summon. The boy, without funds, left the ruined city within a few days and found work at Santa Rosa.

A few weeks later, despairing of his mother's life, Chester began to wander, working on farms in Washington, Montana, Nebraska and Idaho. Later he went to Riverside county, working for some time on the Verde Ranch near Victorville.

The mother came to Los Angeles five years afterward to become the bride of Halsey H. Rogers, a contractor. He died a year ago and she was again alone.

Meanwhile her son chanced to come upon the address of his mother's brother, Edward C. Russell, editor of the Daily Alaska Dispatch at Juneau. He wrote to his uncle eighteen months ago, but Russell's answer never reached the boy and Russell did not have his sister's address.

A few weeks ago Russell was back at his old home, Corning, Iowa, to marry the sweetheart of his boyhood, and while there obtained his sister's Los Angeles address.

He telegraphed her that the boy was alive and well, but that he had lost the address. After his honeymoon he found the boy's letter in his safe and again telegraphed his sister. She immediately went to Victorville, but Chester had left the ranch there and no one knew where he had gone.

Then she advertised, as she had often done before, and yesterday her answer came.

That is why the winter of her life has turned to spring and why birds are singing in the heart, where mourning reigned before.

TO RUSH HER CASE.

Register Gets Hurry Orders to Expedite Land Contest Involving the President's Wife.

Register Buren, of the local Land Office received instructions yesterday from the Commissioner of the General Land Office to "expedite" the contest in which Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, wife of the President, is interested. The testimony in the case was taken several months ago and in the ordinary course of business would not be passed on for some time yet.

The title of the case is John T. King against Maude E. Compton, with Homer L. Goddard of this city as intervenor. It concerns the entry of an eighty-acre tract of supposed date land in the Coachella Valley, in the vicinity of Indio. The alleged value of the sixty acres claimed by Mrs. Wilson is about $6000.

It appears that King bought what is known as State land lieu scrip, covering the entire tract of eighty acres and afterward sold the land to Miss Margaret Axson, a sister of Mrs. Wilson, who was passing the winter in that neighborhood. Later, John S. Webb, as the agent of Miss Axson, sold sixty acres of the tract to Mrs. Wilson, and twenty acres to Phil D. Herbert. Being a State selection, it was necessary to advertise notice of the sale in a newspaper, and it was published in a Coachella Valley paper, but there was an error in the description, which was not corrected, and the transfer was canceled by the Land Office.

Then Maude E. Compton filed her homestead on the land, as it was then supposed to be open for entry, and later sold her interest to Goddard. One of the questions to be determined is whether it was through a fault of C. L. Compton, editor of the paper publishing the notice, and brother of Miss Compton, that the notice was incorrectly printed, for if it is so found the Mrs. Wilson purchase will hold, as also that to Herbert, if not, the land will revert to Goddard, who bought the Compton entry.

CHECKS CAUSE TROUBLE.

Engineer and Wife Both Arrested, but State There's Mistake and Intentions Are Good.

Mrs. Frank Allen Mason, wife of an engineer, was taken into custody yesterday noon at the International Bank by private detectives on a charge of passing fictitious checks and is held at the Police Station pending investigation of what appears to be a very involved affair.

At the bank she did not cash two checks, each for $75, which she claimed were sent her by her husband and were in payment for his services with C. C. Moore & Co., engineers, but merely asked whether they were negotiable. Her husband was arrested on the train coming from Yuma to Los Angeles last Tuesday and taken to the former place from Beaumont.

He cashed a check with the Gondalfo Hotel at Yuma, which came back and investigation was at once started. He claimed that there was some tangle as to the checks and forwarded the others, which are signed by C. C. Moore, to his wife in Los Angeles.

"I am at a loss to understand the difficulty that has grown out of these things because I have been traveling with my husband, who was employed by the big engineering company as an inspector and was sent from place to place," said Mrs. Mason.

A number of checks were turned over to the police and are said to have been in the possession of Mason or turned in by various banks which have been victimized.

"As soon as my husband gets in touch with his company an explanation will surely be forthcoming. I knew that I could not cash a check without identification of proper kind and it was because of previous trouble that I asked the bank officials for their opinion rather than asking for the money," said the woman.

AQUATIC SPORT WINS IN FAVOR.

Pasadena Bridal Pair Goes Honeymooning by Auto.

Plans for Arroyo Seco Route Fast Enlarging.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

PASADENA, May 8.—The desire for aquatic pleasures seems to have taken Pasadena by storm and it is not improbable that Oak Knoll will soon have an Oak Lake, on which Pasadenans and the guests of the Hotel Huntington may go a-rowing.

The pond near the Old Mill, which has long been known simply as The Lake by Pasadenans, and where many who passed their boyhood days here used to go swimming, will be dredged out, enlarged and made into an attractive little body of water, if plans that are under consideration are carried out. The lake adjoins the Hotel Huntington golf course.

Residents of Oak Knoll are very favorable to such an improvement, as they have been greatly disturbed in the past by the noise of the guns of hunters who go there to shoot ducks after dark. The lake is on the H. E. Huntington estate.

A MOTOR HONEYMOON.

Mrs. Minnie Woodward Duke, former wife of Brodie L. Duke, the tobacco magnate, and Frank May, member of the Pasadena Board of Education and a widower, were married at the home of the bride, No. 348 Congress place, at noon yesterday and have departed on an automobile honeymoon. They have fixed no itinerary but will just wander through Southern California at their pleasure in a big car. No date has been announced for their return to the city.

The wedding ceremony yesterday was very quiet and no guests were present except the members of the families. It took place at the home of the bride, which was beautifully decorated with roses. Rev. Robert Freeman, pastor of the Pasadena Presbyterian Church, officiated.

The bride wore a handsome blue silk suit with a waist of white net. A wedding breakfast followed the ceremony. The table was decorated with roses of several kinds.

The engagement of Mr. and Mrs. May was announced but a few days ago. Since that time they have been the guests at several dinners given in their honor. On their return from their honeymoon they will make their home at the May residence in Prospect Park.

WILL URGE STRONG POINTS.

In endeavors to have the proposed Arroyo Seco route to Antelope Valley accepted directors of the Board of Trade will entertain State Engineer W. F. McClure and C. L. Sexsey of the Board of Control at a luncheon Monday noon and explain to them many of the advantages of the route. State Senators Rush and Cogswell and Assemblymen Chandler and Kuck will also be members of the party.

After the luncheon at the Casa Grande, the Board of Trade members expect to start out with the visitors by automobile and show them some of the good points of the route in question.

CITY BRIEFS.

The first burden of the deficit which the Board of Education will have at the end of the present term as the result of a lower tax rate having been set than it had counted on, will fall on the teachers. Superintendent of Schools Rhodes announced yesterday that it will be necessary to drop twenty-six teachers from the roll next fall.

NOTED MEDICAL MAN DIES IN AUTO WRECK.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SOUTH PASADENA, May 7.—Dr. Clement A. Whiting, No. 1315 Fair Oaks avenue, dean and professor of chemistry of the Pacific College of Osteopathy, also Health Officer of South Pasadena, was instantly killed this morning, his wife, Dr. Lillian M. Whiting, seriously injured, and their son, Lorenzo Whiting, perhaps fatally injured, when a Los Angeles-bound Pacific Electric flyer struck the automobile in which they were riding with terrific force at Lyndon street and Fair Oaks avenue, almost directly in front of their home.

The impact hurled the machine against a trolley pole, knocking it out of plumb and throwing Mrs. Whiting and the son out of the car, and pinning Dr. Whiting in the car, where he was terribly crushed, his skull being fractured, his left ankle broken, and his head and face severely bruised. The attending physician states that he died instantly.

Lorenzo Whiting is suffering from concussion of the brain and fractured ribs. It was thought at first that he was fatally injured, but the physician now states that he has a chance for recovery, although still unconscious. He is a student at Throop College in Pasadena.

Dr. Whiting was driving the car and killed his engine on the track. Before any of them could jump the car was struck broadside by the swiftly-moving interurban car manned by Motorman Arnett and Conductors Jade and Russel. The body of Whiting was taken to the undertaking parlors of Turner, Stevens & Berry, No. 1417 Mission street, where an inquest will be held by Coroner Hartwell tomorrow afternoon. Funeral arrangements are held awaiting word from relatives in the East.

Prof. Whiting was born in Illinois in 1858. He was a graduate of the University of Iowa, post-graduate of the University of Illinois, University of California, National University and Leland Stanford University; teacher and deputy county superintendent of schools in Iowa; professor of natural history, University of Utah, and at Hopkins Biological Laboratory, '98; D. O. Pacific College of Osteopathy, '03, and professor anatomy and histology in the same college from 1900 to 1905. He was a member of California Board of Osteopathy Examiners, 1903-1906, and chairman of the Southern California Academy of Science, biological section. He has also been Health Officer for South Pasadena since 1908.

Dr. Clement A. Whiting,

Who was killed in an auto wreck at South Pasadena yesterday.

Dr. Whiting has been a contributor to numerous professional and scientific journals and addressed various State and national osteopathic associations; in fact, he had made all preparations to leave for Stockton tonight to attend a State osteopathic convention. He was considered a national authority on bacteriology.

Besides the above-mentioned members of his family he leaves one daughter, Miss Lillian Whiting, and another son, Robert Whiting, both of whom stood on the veranda of their home, witnessing the accident.

TWO PASADENAS DISCUSS THE RAILWAY SITUATION.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SOUTH PASADENA, May 8.—A crisis in the long-standing differences between South Pasadena and Pasadena over the transportation question was reached last night when W. F. Knight, president of the Pasadena Board of Trade, and several others appeared before the South Pasadena Chamber of Commerce at the City Hall. Knight was invited by the local organization to appear before it and speak on the transportation problem.

"We must have rapid transportation between Pasadena and Los Angeles," he said. "There are 40,000 persons bottled up there. We started in eighteen months ago to try to procure better service from the Pacific Electric Company and now we have three limited trains which are obliged to stop behind local trains all the way.

"It has been said by residents of South Pasadena (I have the names) that 'those ginks in Pasadena will never get through this town unless we have the same privileges.' We do not want to build a municipal line to Los Angeles unless we are compelled to, but as a last resort we will do it if it costs $5,000,000 to get good service.

"We want to do all we can to help you. But Long Beach and other cities are going ahead of Pasadena by leaps and bounds, and it is because we have not the transportation facilities we need. We ask you what your attitude will be if the Pacific Electric Railway Company asks for a franchise to double-track and electrify the old Southern Pacific tracks through South Pasadena?"

BANK ROBBERS SCARED AWAY.

Quart of Nitroglycerin Found Near Safe.

Burglar Alarm Puts Yeggs to Hurried Flight.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

FULLERTON, May 7.—An unsuccessful attempt to burglarize the Farmers' and Merchants' National Bank at Fullerton was made about midnight Wednesday, when at least two men, unidentified, effected an entrance to the building at Spadra and Amerige avenues through a trap door in the sidewalk on Amerige avenue.

A burglar alarm system recently installed in the bank frustrated the attempted robbery, for as soon as the combination lock of the steel door leading to the safe deposit boxes was turned, the machinery of the alarm system was set in motion and the would-be robbers took fright, leaving the building hastily and making their escape in such a way as to make detection difficult.

Officers of the bank, while searching for clews today found a quart bottle of nitroglycerin lying beneath a desk near the safe deposit vault. It is believed here that they were the same gang of desperadoes who last week attempted the robbery of the Bank of Norwalk.

GARAGEMAN ROUSED.

The ringing of the alarm was first heard by Tom Gillette, who sleeps in the Central garage, directly across the street. Gillette immediately telephoned Cashier Clyde Crandall, who in turn notified President E. K. Benchley, and the two officials arrived there in a few minutes.

Meanwhile a large number of nearby residents had been aroused by the alarm and a man hunt was at once organized, but the yeggs had made good their escape.

That their plans had been made with a fair knowledge of the bank and its surroundings is evidenced by the careful manner in which they made their entrance and exit. It is the belief of the local authorities that a lookout was stationed in an automobile near by where he could command a view of the street.

The bank is affiliated with both the California Bankers' Association and the American Bankers' Association, which organizations have at the disposal of the members the use of both the Pinkerton and Burns detective agencies.

HEAVENLY RECEPTION AMONG EDEN'S BOWERS.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SIERRA MADRE, May 7.—To entertain friends at a garden party and dance Saturday afternoon and evening, Dr. and Mrs. W. Jarvis Barlow are expending thousands of dollars on the extensive grounds of their country residence here. The tennis court is being covered for a dance hall and a hardwood floor is being put down.

The gardens of choice flowers and plants of all kinds are well known throughout the countryside and many driving along the roads stop to view the magnificence of the thirteen acres of floral Eden. They are the pride of the doctor and for years have won blue ribbons at the exhibitions given in this and adjoining sections.

For two or three weeks carpenters, decorators and other artisans have been occupied in preparing these grounds for this coming social event. Myriad colored electric lights will illuminate the dancing pavilion and they have been strung about the grounds. With the vari-colored lights, the beautiful flowers, rose gardens, lath-houses, shaded arbors and an artificial lake, the place has been transformed into a veritable fairyland.

At 6 o'clock 250 guests will sit down to a sumptuous dinner. From 8 o'clock until midnight there will be a concert and dancing.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

RIVERSIDE, May 7.—Noted physicians and surgeons are in attendance on the meeting of the Southern California Medical Society, now being held in this city.

The principal feature of today's sessions was the address of Dr. Egon Ranzi of the University of Vienna, on "Extirpation of the Spleen for Anemia." Dr. Max Rothschild of San Francisco was heard on the subject of "Artificial Pneumothorax."

The practice of "fee-splitting" received severe condemnation at the hands of Dr. Andrew S. Lobinger of Los Angeles. In the opinion of the speaker the practice had its origin not so much in the greed of the practitioner as in the generosity of the surgeon and the feeling of proprietorship which the physician has in the patient which he passes on to the surgeon.

Dr. Lobinger indorsed the conclusion reached in a report of the judicial council of the American Medical Association to the effect that the practice puts a premium on incompetence, on greed, at the risk of the patient's life, and that it gives rise to a temptation to operate unnecessarily in order that there may be fees to divide.

The discussion revealed a difference of opinion as to the merits of fee-splitting, but it was agreed that any division should not be secret.

Dr. Morton Gibbons of San Francisco, member of the medical department of the State Industrial Accident Board, discussed the employers' liability law as it affects physicians. One of the results of the operation of the law, he declared, had been the increase in malpractice suits. He attributed this to the activity of the "ambulance-chasing lawyers," whose business the law has interfered with, and who are bending their efforts in other directions.

TUTTLE GRAND ARMY LEADER.

Angeleno Candidate Beaten by Woodland Man.

San Diego Entertains With Pretty Side Trips.

Auxiliary Officers Chosen in Spirited Election.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SAN DIEGO, May 7.—Gen. E. Tuttle of William H. Seward Post No. 65, Woodland, was elected Commander of the California and Nevada Department of the G.A.R. today. George Summers of Los Angeles was the only other candidate, the latter withdrawing, and the northern man won by a majority of ninety-six.

Gen. Tuttle served in the Civil War from the first call for troops to the close, being with the troops that escorted Gen. Grant to meet Lee when the latter surrendered.

It was difficult for the veterans to settle down to business and some of them slipped off for pleasure so that the election of the other officers had to be postponed until afternoon when H. H. Thompson of San Jose was chosen Senior Vice-Commander and L. B. Hardy of Santa Barbara Junior Vice-Commander.

This afternoon about 2000 veterans and their wives were guests of Madame Tingley at Loma Linda where an entertainment was given in the Greek theater.

The officers elected by the ladies of the G.A.R. of the California and Nevada Department are: President, Mrs. Lizzie R. Smith, San Diego; Senior Vice-President, Mrs. Lillian Bell, Long Beach; Junior Vice-President, Mrs. Cannie Eaton, Oakland; Chaplain, Mrs. Rowena Sprague, San Jose; Treasurer, Mrs. Ida Jenkins, San Jose; Council of Administration, Mrs. Anna Marsh, Moore, Los Angeles; Mrs. Theresa Remmer, Los Angeles; Mrs. Mary Kimball, Pasadena.

The department Woman's Relief Corps gave the highest office, president of the department, to Mrs. Lee, of San Jose; the other officers elected are: Senior Vice-President, Mrs. Clara Scoby, San Diego; Junior Vice-President, Mrs. Emily Welbe, Orange; Treasurer, Mrs. Helen Luther, Oakland; Mrs. Sarah Martin, Los Angeles; Mrs. Lulu Archibald, Los Gatos; Mrs. Jennie Drave, Los Angeles; Mrs. Rose Rainsburg, San Francisco.

The Women's Auxiliary of the Order of Veterans elected these officers: President, Mrs. Jessie S. Mason, Los Angeles; Vice-President, Mrs. Anna Hutton, Long Beach; Treasurer, Mrs. Minnie Farnsworth, Pasadena; Chaplain, Cecil, Elsie Gilloghy and Sidney Wood, Monrovia, and Mrs. M. E. Hall, Long Beach; Chaplain, Mattie Gilbert, Monrovia; Division Inspector, Mrs. Elizabeth Keiser, Los Angeles; Inside Sentinel, I. officer, Mrs. Fannie Dougherty, Monrovia; Patriotic Instructor, Mrs. Ida A. Davis, Los Angeles.

DAMAGE SUIT TRIAL.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SAN BERNARDINO, May 7.—Judge George E. Church of Riverside will preside next week at the hearing of the $50,000 libel suit brought by Attorney C. C. Haskell against the Evening Index, a local daily publication, and its publisher, W. E. Harger, for damages as a result of alleged abuse last July. An array of attorneys will appear for Haskell, including Byron Waters, F. H. Dale, W. E. Byrne, while the defendants will be represented by Earl Rogers of Los Angeles. The article on which the suit is based was printed during a political campaign, and the complaint cites that the journal had declared that he would "throw" the state of the city for lower gas rates, and that the recall of two Councilmen, in which Haskell could be removed and the city placed in a better position to win the suit.

MAN CRUSHED UNDER TRAIN.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SAN BERNARDINO, May 7.—Brakeman Frank L. Jones of the Santa Fe was instantly killed here today when an eastbound freight train broke in two at Base Line and 7 cars and the trainman was thrown beneath the wheels. Coroner Fuller will hold the inquest here tomorrow.

Jones was standing on top of the first car as the freight was nearing the city. When the train of cars broke in two it came to an abrupt halt. Jones was thrown forward between the tank car and the box car on which he was standing and badly crushed. The dead man leaves a widow and child. Conductor C. A. Ramsay and Engineer Frank McNeil were in charge.

Mining Engineer's Nephew Claims Heavy Damages for Alleged Attack Upon His Business Integrity.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 7.—A United States Marshal armed with a subpoena in a libel suit was the Republican Committee that greeted John Hays Hammond, millionaire mining engineer, plenipotentiary and traveler, when he arrived here today at the end of a transcontinental trip. The suit is for $150,000 and was brought by William Hammond Hall, Hammond's nephew, more than a year ago. This is the first time, however, that the defendant has been within range of the court. The suit is based on a cablegram said to have been sent by Hammond to Jesse W. Lilienthal of this city in April, 1912, from Washington, D. C., regarding a deal by which Lake Eleanor was sold to the city.

According to the complaint the telegram closed with these words:

"Under no circumstances will I give Hall one cent more, but will show him up as a man who will resort to any means to extort money."

Bear Flag of Sonoma Flutters in Breeze.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 7.—California day and the ground-breaking for the California building of the Panama-Pacific Exposition was celebrated here before one of the largest crowds that has assembled inside the exposition grounds.

One hundred and seventy-eight counties from the fifty-eight counties of California participated in the program to inaugurate the $2,000,000 state structure which will be the center of exposition activities in 1915.

Next to the machinery palace, the state building in the world's fair, Col. E. Hale, vice-president of the exposition and chairman of the day, first struck the silver spade into the soil as was assisted by Gov. Johnson, Hon. C. C. Moore, Mayor James Rolph, Jr.; Mrs. Phoebe Hearst and Hon. M. H. Sanborn, president of the women's board of the exposition. The festivities of the day began with a luncheon given by the women's board. It was attended by all visiting women.

A review of troops was held in honor of the state visitors.

In beginning the ceremonies with an address in which he said:

"This building will represent the activities of every one of the fifty-eight counties working together for the common glory of California. Here the world will entertain the world."

Sara Bard Moore delivered an address declaring that it would be the largest and greatest structure ever erected in the old Spanish mission style. She said: "The structure California will erect for the products which other states produce, but which are produced better in California than anywhere else," said Gov. Johnson. "Every locality will send exhibits reflecting the pride of its people."

The band played "I Love You California," by George J. Bucknall, a child born of Anglo-Saxon parents in California, raised the old flag of Sonoma.

letter of the primary law, which the Progressive leaders have not done.

PICKED BY BOSSES.

"Who picked Hiram Johnson and John Eshleman to head the Progressive State ticket?" asked Robert Sweeny, vice-chairman of the Republican State Central Committee, who presided. "They were picked along with the rest of the Progressive State slate in a backroom by four or five bosses," said Sweeny. "We are not going to imitate them. The Republican party will observe the letter and spirit of the primary as long as it remains on the statute books of this State. The Progressive bosses embezzled the power of the electorate and now Johnson and Eshleman, in flagrant violation of the primary law, are conducting a final campaign for election."

The following resolution offered by Thomas K. Kase, chairman of the La Follette State Central Committee was unanimously adopted:

Whereas, the present record of the Democratic party is objectionable to the majority of the citizens of the United States and

Whereas, the policy of the present Democratic President, with respect to the repeal of free tolls through the Panama Canal and his hesitating and vacillating direction of the controversy with Mexico, and similar mistakes of the Democratic administration are uniting Republicans throughout the United States, and

Whereas, California desires to take its place in the Republican column, protesting against Democratic misrule, and

Whereas, a stumbling block in the path of California in its efforts to again restore itself to the Republican party is shown in the plans for the re-election of the present Governor of this State. Now, Therefore, Be It

Resolved, In meeting this day assembled, that as Republicans, we condemn the present Gubernatorial administration in California and urge all Republicans within the confines of this commonwealth to unite in re-establishing a Republican administration in California.

That we agree to abandon petty differences and our preferences for individual candidates for office, and that we pledge anew our faith to the principles of Republicanism and assert our adherence to the Republican State Central Committee and to the Republican County Committee of Los Angeles county and other Republican county committees throughout this State.

ORGANIZATION.

The following report of the Committee on Organization, composed of Seward A. Simons, A. L. Bartlett and E. L. Davin was unanimously adopted:

Your committee, appointed pursuant to a resolution adopted at a regular meeting of the Republican State Central Committee of the Southern California jurisdiction, has formulated its plans of action to accomplish a three-fold purpose, which may be briefly summarized as follows:

(1.) To establish cordial relations with clubs, leagues, and other Republican organizations to harmonize and co-ordinate the action of all such subsidiary organizations with this committee.

(2.) To ascertain in what localities beginnings have been made or sentiment has been expressed to form permanent organizations, and which may be assisted in its purpose through the co-operation of our Central Committee.

(3.) To reach prominent members of old organizations which have been active and which were known to be loyally Republican, and which might again be revived to take part in the great work of redeeming the State of California. To this end two circular letters have been drafted, which are herewith submitted, the first of which is addressed to the existing organizations, the second of which is placed in the hands of men whose Republicanism is unquestioned. From the replies, which will be addressed to the secretary of the Republican State Central Committee, who will act as secretary of your committee, and which will be systematically considered, it is confidently expected that definite and constructive action will follow.

It is not the purpose of this committee nor of the Republican State Central Committee to usurp any functions which should legitimately belong to local organizations, but by a system of correspondence and inter-correspondence these local organizations may act effectively and harmoniously. It is the aim of this committee, and it believes with fair support its aim may be accomplished, to be able to record that before July 1 there shall be one or more working Republican organizations in each important city and township which shall meet the demands of their respective localities, and which, through co-operation with the State Central Committee, may be co-ordinated into an efficient militant force throughout Southern California.

Your committee will welcome any suggestions, preferably in writing, of any Republican whose experience and information will contribute to the accomplishment of this worthy purpose.

Your committee will report at the next meeting what responses have been made to its requests, and what success has followed its efforts within its province to the end that at all times there may be the fullest intelligent co-operation.

KEYNOTE ADDRESS.

Robert Sweeny, vice-chairman of the Republican State Central Committee, presided and made the keynote address. C. J. Sullivan, secretary of the Southern California headquarters of the State committee, was secretary. Following is Sweeny's speech in part:

"Ladies and gentlemen: You have been invited to confer with the members of the Republican State Central Committee for Southern California upon measures for the good of the party. This day has been selected because this evening will be held the first meeting of the campaign in Los Angeles county.

"This is more than a partisan campaign. It is much more than a contest to win. It is far more than a battle of candidates for office, for preference, and for place. It is a contest that calls into action every superior energy and talent that we possess. It is one that inspires patriotic devotion. It is a contest to which we can and must dedicate unselfish endeavor. It is the best against the worst, and it commands and demands the best powers we have.

"We are not animated by a lust for power. The inspiration of our conduct is, and must continue to be—to bind up the wounds made by treacherous hands, and to restore the Republican party—the party of Lincoln and of Grant, of McKinley and William Howard Taft.

"The people are asking the Republican party to lead again. We must heed the call and accept the trust and responsibility, and take the current when it serves. 'One truth stands forth as mighty as marble shaft, set on a hill, and firm as its own base,' and that is this: Unless the fair-minded, justice-loving, fraud-hating, sober men and women of California are recreant to their manifest duty—unless the men and women who registered a solemn oath that they were Republicans, violate that oath—Hiram Johnson is doomed to overwhelming defeat. Anyone who registered an oath, deposing and declaring—'I am a Republican'—that could thereafter vote for Johnson, has no regard for the truth, for Johnson is the very antithesis of the word Republican.

"Ladies and gentlemen, the outrage perpetrated in 1912 upon the majority of the voters of this State, when these same canting, political highwaymen, led by this same Johnson, prevented us from casting our ballot in favor of one of the greatest Republican Presidents that our great party has ever furnished the nation—was the most colossal fraud ever perpetrated in this State, and is enough to make the very stones of California rise in mutiny.

"Do you know how many people in California, on November 5, 1912, refused to countenance this gigantic fraud by even participating in the election? There were 279,693 registered voters—men and women—who did not go to the polls at all, on that memorable day. There were 91,051 registered voters right here in Los Angeles county that did not vote on that day.

"Who were these men and women who did not vote on November 5, 1912? Surely they were not Progressives who stayed at home, for the Progressives on that day trampled upon everyone's rights and corns, in their mad haste to vote for their two great idols—Roosevelt and Johnson. Surely they were not Democrats, who sulked at home on that auspicious day, for they all united in a wild scramble to reach the pie counter first.

"And by how much did Johnson carry California, in 1912, when he ran for Vice-President, aided by the great prestige of Roosevelt; aided by the opulent campaign funds of the harvester and steel trusts; aided and abetted by an army of satellites occupying the most influential offices of the State; aided and abetted by a multitude of commissioners clothed with extensive, drastic functions, with which to convince the recalcitrant; with two years of power still in his grasp, and with an obedient Legislature, waiting, ready to enact new laws, create new commissions, and new offices, to reward the valiant soldiers, who stayed with him at Armageddon, and to punish those who refused to enlist; with all the political machinery of the Republican party in his unscrupulous hands; with all this limitless power, and to make assurance doubly sure, Johnson and his gang disfranchised the real Republicans—men and women of the State, and then he carried California by 174 votes, mark you, only 174 votes.

"Will he be hard to beat this year? A change of 88 votes in the year 1912, when the Progressive distemper was epidemic in California, would have defeated Johnson in his own State. Don't you think we can change 88 votes this year?"

Short talks were made by Hon. Frank H. Short of Fresno, Col. R. W. Richardson, Gen. Harrison Gray Otis, Dr. D. Gochenauer of San Diego, E. M. Boyd, Yucaipa; S. W. McNabb, San Bernardino; Seward A. Simons, Pasadena, and many other well-known members of the Old Guard.

One of the features of the meeting was the presentation to each delegate by T. B. Gilbert of Carnations of a carnation. Gilbert said the gift was in honor of the memory of the martyred McKinley. Gilbert was given a vote of thanks by the gathering.

SANTA FE LOSES APPEAL.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 7.—The State Railroad Commission has denied the application of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railway for relief from a provision relating to long and short hauls. The carrier asked for relief until tariffs covered by the application could be thoroughly checked and violations of the long and short haul provisions corrected. The wishes of the company were granted and the denial followed a careful investigation.

WAS MISERABLE COULDN'T STAND

Testifies She Was Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Lackawanna, N. Y.—"After my first child was born I felt very miserable and could not stand on my feet. My sister-in-law wished me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and my nerves became firm, appetite good, step elastic, and I lost that weak, tired feeling. That was six years ago and I have had three fine healthy children since. For female troubles I always take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it works like a charm. I do all my own work."—Mrs. A. F. KREAMER, 1574 Electric Avenue, Lackawanna, N. Y.

The success of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, is unparalleled. It may be used with perfect confidence by women who suffer from displacements, inflammation, ulceration, tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, dizziness, or nervous prostration. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the standard remedy for female ills.

Women who suffer from those distressing ills peculiar to their sex should be convinced of the ability of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to restore their health by the many genuine and truthful testimonials we are constantly publishing in the newspapers.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

SHIN BONE ON SPINE.

Tubercular Patient at Sacramento Hospital Has Piece From Leg Grafted on His Back.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

SACRAMENTO, May 7.—Mike Belemsky in about eight weeks will be walking about with part of his shin bone growing to his spinal column if the operation performed last night by Dr. June Harris, superintendent of the County Hospital, is successful. To cure the tubercular-infected spinal column of Belemsky, Dr. Harris cut an eight-inch strip from the man's right shin bone and grafted it to the spinal column after removing the diseased parts.

Dr. Harris says the operation so far has been successful and is certain Belemsky will recover.

A Store Full of Pianos Which Must Be Sold Now!

I am selling modern, metal-tubed player pianos containing all the latest improvements for only $320. These instruments are fresh and clean and highly finished, perfect in action and superior in tone; instruments such as would usually be sold for $700. But now they are only $320 — less than half price. And an armful of music is supplied free with each instrument sold. Also an appropriate bench free.

Other brand-new player pianos, also with metal tubing, but in plainer cases and smaller sizes, for less.

Remember, in Buying a Player, That Rubber Tubes Are Obsolete

It should be borne in mind that rubber-tubed player pianos are practically obsolete now. It is well known that rubber deteriorates, and while it may be easy to replace rubber tubing in a player piano, we find that rubber tubes give out just at the wrong time. Metal tubings are best. Beware of a rubber tubed player piano.

Costly Pianos and Player Pianos on Practically Your Own Prices and Terms

I'll arrange to accept payments for these instruments as best suits each particular buyer's convenience. In other words, offer your own terms. We'll accept as little as $1 a week on a great many instruments in this closing-out sale.

Old-style pianos are here for $35 apiece; plenty of them to choose from. For $85 you can pick out a piano from a large number of slightly-used uprights, among them Ivers & Pond, Hardman, Kranich & Bach, Fischer, Estey, etc.

LARGEST IN CALIFORNIA.

The stock here is undoubtedly the largest in California. All of the Nation's most renowned makes will be found among the pianos in this closing-out sale. See fine, large A. B. Chase uprights, like new, $185. See fine, large Hallet & Davis uprights, used for demonstrating only, for $230. Special: A superb used Knabe grand just received in part payment for a player piano de luxe. Will sell this grand for $315. Other grands at less than half price—an entire salesroom full. See beautiful used Kranich & Bach upright, $185, elegant walnut and mahogany styles, and dozens of other makes.

We have some used Weber, Steck and Wheelock pianola pianos, remodeled, with the latest music roll tracking device, and some have even been equipped with metal tubing. They may be had for 40 per cent and 45 per cent less than the advertised prices elsewhere. Cash not necessary. Pay a little each month.

A nearly new Steinway upright, fancy mahogany case, $875 and more is frequently asked; my Closing-Out Sale price is $675.

I have about a dozen beautiful Grand pianos to sell, including such well-known makes as Hazelton, Kimball, Steger & Son, Knabe, etc., used. Just think of being able to purchase a beautiful little Grand in genuine fancy mahogany case for only $350. Others slightly used for concert work for as little as $200 and $250.

Bear in mind that the ordinary new $325 and $280 pianos cost here only $95, and more elaborate styles $135, in this sale. Bear in mind that the finest new $1000 player pianos de luxe are now only $620, and the $900 styles only $555.

I'm going back to Oregon

SALESMEN WANTED

Genuine selling experience is preferred. If you have had experience in other than real estate and really want to earn the big money that real estate selling will get for you, see me. I'll help you make good. My sales force is the best education in selling that you can get. Learn it now and you will never want for money.

The entire sales force of F. P. NEWPORT COMPANY will be entirely reorganized. Good men, engaging with us now, will be placed on an equal footing with old men. No favorites will be played. Every man will be given splendid, special opportunities; every one will receive the backing of the sales manager; no effort will be spared to bring to bear upon every prospect the combined efforts of every department of this business to put over every sale that has the least chance of closing. I want good men, loyal men, brave men—men who will stand with me, through thick and thin, to establish a sales record for 1914 that will stand until we break the record ourselves.

I will be at my desk, Room 206 Central Building, every day, all day, except Thursday and Sunday. I am going to have the best, most efficient and productive sales force in the city. To get in on the ground floor, see me at once. Our properties are about the only ones that have felt little effect of dull times.

MARKET SHOWS MUCH FLATNESS.

QUOTATIONS SEE-SAW, END WITH SMALL LOSS.

Missouri Pacific and Reading Are Conspicuously Heavy Stocks—California Petroleum Common and Preferred Are Weak, the Latter Dropping Five Points.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, May 7.—The narrow and variable movements of stocks today had little effect on the general level of prices. The market was as dull and flat as during yesterday's sessions. Quotations moved alternately up and down, ending with small losses. London cables quoted lower prices for the international shares and reported inactivity in that market for New York and Paris shares which recently have been heavy, such as Northern Pacific, Missouri Pacific and Chesapeake and Ohio, were most susceptible to pressure. With the exception of the government crop report, there was no news of importance in relation to the financial markets. Missouri Pacific—was the conspicuously heavy stock on the late recession, yielding over 2 points. Selling of this stock was influenced by the unrefunded delay in announcement of the road's financial plans. Reading was also heavy, as were Southern Pacific and preferred stock. California Petroleum common and preferred were weak, the preferred falling 5 points. The sale was announced of $5,000,000 Chicago and Northwestern general mortgage 4's, and it is expected that other large bond issues would soon enter the market for funds. Abatement of the demand for money for commercial purposes was reflected in a further shading of loans for short terms. A few speculative bonds moved widely and irregularly, but the general list held steady. Total sales, par value, $1,600,000. United States 2's registered declined ¼ on call.

NEW YORK, May 7.—Securities in the miscellaneous department were steady today. Coppers and cobalts were narrow. Mines of America was in demand, and Kerr Lake was strong. Issues in the oil list were less active and irregular, with the tendency toward weakness. Boston coppers opened firm, but quiet; trading was very limited. Warfield-Stone stocks were the most active, making fractional gains. During the last hour price changes were confined to a few stocks in sympathy with the New York market.

LOS ANGELES STOCK EXCHANGE.

Union Oil Securities Again Show Strength—Los Angeles Investment Gains—Market Dull.

Aside from evidence of a stronger tone in Union Oil securities, the market was an uninteresting affair yesterday on the Stock Exchange. With a sale at $72.50 at the close, Union showed a gain of 1 point over the previous day's high. The bonds were up ¼ point. Los Angeles Investment strengthened to 81 cents on a limited number of trades during the afternoon session. Mariopas Northern was slightly easier, National Pacific was firm, United Oil was at 22½. The company will receive a larger check than usual for its April production, according to estimates.

NEW YORK LETTER.

NEW YORK, May 7.—The opinion of the Evening Sun the country has been shown enough about American business and what- ever the forces of the influences opposing them and at home in the last two years to bring a state of depression, we desire to express our convictions that these forces have largely spent their force and have practically exhausted their influence for the further impairment of busi- industry," it says.

"Moreover, there are now factors which every promise of working in favor of a revival of prosperity. We wish especially to direct the attention of our readers to the governmental crop which will be published this afternoon. As is the case known, or sought to know, who has in his and business life the greatest crop control in the world, crops are the basis of American prosperity and good crops are its assurance.

"Never have the prospects for the agricultural situation been so favorable to the United States this year been so favorable at this time of the year. All the indications of the present afternoon's report will be an exhibit of crop abilities of the most brilliant character. The report will, among other things, present the area of meadow and pasture land condition of meadows and pasture land, probable spring plowing the percentage of probable spring plowing planting which has been done. If we are not greatly mistaken it will in these respects be a most farm season to be well advanced. Last year's report in respect to the growing winter wheat crop return should be a stimulus for a revival of business optimism.

"Valuable as it is, measured in dollars and the American wheat crop is even more valuable as a sentiment-making factor. Unless all signs fail and unless there is a most unfulfilled promise of unpopulation; weather this month, the harvest in the United States this year will be unparalleled abundance. Last year's crop of 522,561,000 bushels was a record-breaker, but the immediate outlook is for a harvest of from 600,000,000 to 650,000,000 bushels, ranging from 600,000,000 to 650,000,000 bushels. Such a crop enthusiasm may be credited in the agricultural season. Nevertheless, in the extraordinary crop conditions for a few stirring of American life. Not all business factors are to be found, ample allowances for the various counteracting which augurs themselves from speculation and which brights that may blast the fondest hopes. But part from sentiment to harvest, we believe that there is every reason in the agricultural of the moment for the American business community to begin to take heart and the full of prosperity given by nature to the country.

"It is something altogether to think the agricultural season, its largest and most beginning. Furthermore, its largest and most to the remarkable incentives derived from the conditions for a few stirring of American life. Not all business factors are to be found, ing and they are not going to be, on which business has got to be done, otherwise, are future terms or years. Prices for that they have been for years, materially depressed to invite unparalleled and financial and business conditions liquidated to a state of healthful country is impatient for an impulse to a promise should prove an impulse to a covery."

In New York copper was unchanged at 13.37½@ 13.87½; spelter up 5 points at 5.10@5.20; lead at 3.85@3.95, and tin at 33.50@33.60.

Old Dominion's April output all told was 2,779,- 000 pounds of blister copper, compared with 2,- 907,000 points in March and 3,040,000 in April last year.

Greene Consolidated Copper has declared a divi- dend of 50 cents a share; it is payable May 11.

Dow, Jones & Company, said: "Electrolytic cop- per is offered by dealers in Europe for May and June delivery as low as 14 1-8 cents. No business of importance is reported even at the cut of ¼ cent a pound, under big sellers' figures. Large agencies are holding at 14 3-8 cents, but report the demand dull. Continued price-cutting accom- panied by a small demand may compel another readjustment downward of the peg price of the large agencies."

BOSTON, May 7.—The market was very dull until the last hour today. Then it became very active and weaker, closing at the lowest prices. The government crop report was very favorable and about as expected. Copper was weaker and the Copper Producers' statement tomorrow will show a large increase in the surplus.

MAY CROP REPORT.

BIG WHEAT YIELD FORECAST.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, May 7.—The first official estimate of the size of the crop of winter wheat was made today in the May crop report of the Crop Re- porting Board, United States Department of Agri- culture, issued at 2:15 p.m. The report shows the condition on May 1 of winter wheat, rye, meadow lands and pastures; the percentage of spring plow- ing and spring planting completed, the acreage of winter wheat to be harvested, the estimated out- turn of the winter wheat crop and the stocks of hay on farms May 1. The figures are:

WINTER WHEAT: The average condition of winter wheat on May 1 was 95.9 per cent. of a normal; com- pared with 98.6 per cent. on April 1; 91.9 per cent. on May 1, 1913, and 85.5 per cent., the average for the past ten years on May 1.

The area of winter wheat remaining on May 1 to be harvested was about 35,387,000 acres, or 1,119,000 acres less than the area planted last autumn, but 3,088,000 acres more than the area harvested last year, (31,699,000 acres.)

The condition on May 1 is indicative of a yield per acre of approximately 17.8 bushels, assuming average variations to prevail thereafter. On the estimated area to be harvested this would produce a final crop of 630,000,000 bushels, compared with 523,561,000 bushels harvested in 1913; 360,919,000 bushels in 1912; 430,656,000 bushels in 1911, and 434,142,000 bushels in 1910. The outturn of the crop probably will be above or below the figures here given according to whether the condition from May 1 to the time of harvest is above or below the average charge.

RYE: The condition of rye on May 1 was 93.4 per cent. of a normal, compared with 91.3 per cent. on April 1; 91.0 per cent. on May 1, 1913, and 89.4 per cent., the average for the past ten years on May 1.

MEADOW, OR HAY, LANDS: The average con- dition of meadow, or hay, lands on May 1 was 90.9 per cent. of a normal, compared with 88.5 per cent. on May 1, 1913, and a ten years average on May 1, of 88.1 per cent.

HAY ON FARMS: The stocks of hay on farms on May 1 were estimated to be 7,832,000 tons, com- pared with 10,828,000 tons on May 1, 1913, and 4,744,000 tons on May 1, 1912.

PASTURE: The average condition of pastures on May 1 was 88.3 per cent. of a normal, compared with 87.1 per cent. on May 1, 1913, and a ten- year average on May 1 of 83.6 per cent.

SPRING PLOWING: Of spring plowing 70.0 per cent. was completed up to May 1, compared with 67.2 per cent. on May 1, 1913, and a ten-year average on May 1 of 66.6 per cent.

SPRING PLANTING: Of spring planting 56.4 per cent. was completed up to May 1, compared with 57.0 per cent. on May 1, 1913, and a six-year aver- age on May 1 of 54.6 per cent.

CROP REPORT HINDERS BULLS.

WHEAT FIGURES DISCOUNTED BEFORE PUBLICATION.

The Cereal, However, Displays a Firm Tone Early in the Day. Rumors of Unsettled Conditions in Argentina Hold Corn Prices Up at First.

CHICAGO, May 7.—Well-grounded notions that the government crop report might turn out more bearish than had recently been looked for- bin- dered today any decided advance in wheat. The Washington figures, however, indicating a harvest 20,000,000 bushels more than trade estimates, came too late to have a direct effect on the market. A few minutes beforehand prices had closed easy, ¼ off to a like advance, compared with last night. Corn showed a net decline of ¼ to ⅝@⅞, oats were ⅜ down to ¼ up, and provisions at 5@25 loss. Wheat had a firm tone the greater part of the day. Although corn at first showed some firmness on account of early reports of unsettled conditions in Argentina, the market afterwards weakened. Oats followed corn. Elevator concerns bought May and sold July; spec- ulators did the reverse. Selling by packers more than overcame an early advance in provisions. It was said that as soon as farmers had completed their field work big receipts here would be greatly enlarged.

HARRY CHANDLER,
Assistant General Manager, The Times.

[Seal] T. L. CHAPIN,

A. L. Dennis, being duly sworn, declares that he is and has been for twelve years Superintendent of Circulation of the Los Angeles Times; that the above detailed statement of circulation for the month of April, 1914, is correct, and shows the circulation of The Times for each day of the month named.

A. L. DENNIS,
Superintendent of Circulation, The Times.

[Seal] T. L. CHAPIN,

The Times is the only newspaper in Los Angeles that does not make a practice of permitting agents, newsboys and dealers to return unsold copies of its issue. Neither does it misbrand or predate its editions, or inflate its circulation by printing more copies than are actually necessary to supply its patrons.

The Times' entire circulation is practically net, and it is more genuine and superior in every respect to that of any other news- paper.

HUNTINGTON LAND & IMPROVEMENT COMPANY
734 Pacific Electric Building
LOS ANGELES

April thirtieth, 1914.

Robert Marsh & Company,
R. A. Rowan & Company,
Los Angeles,
California.

Gentlemen:

Replying to your question regarding the building contemplated by this company on the northwest corner of Twelfth and Main Streets:

Were it not for the condition of the money market during the past fourteen months, the building would have been finished or well toward completion. It has been necessary for this Company and other "Hunting- ton companies" to use all available money for the carrying out of nec- essary improvements during the past year.

We contemplate the building of the block above mentioned as soon as financial conditions will permit, and in the very near future. This property was repurchased by Mr. Huntington, after his sale of the Childs place to you, for the express purpose of constructing thereon a substantial building; and his purpose in that particular has not been changed.

Trusting that this will sufficiently answer your question, we are,

Very truly yours,
HUNTINGTON LAND & IMPROVEMENT CO.

Public Service: City Hall, Courts.

SUMMARY OF THE DAY.

The Budget Committee yesterday cut off more than one-half of the amount that the City Engineer has asked for outlays for the next fiscal year. There will be no sewage disposal plant provided for at Hyperion Beach, notwithstanding the demands of State health officials.

President Whiffen of the City Council appealed yesterday to the Board of Education that the Los Angeles school district assume the burden of paying off the remainder of the $1,000,000 school bond issue voted before the city and the schools were separated. The board declines on the grounds of illegality.

A delegation of business men conferred with the Public Works Committee yesterday and urged haste on tunnel construction. It was suggested that they purchase the lands necessary for a roadway from the lower levels to the hill district when the street is used for a tunnel approach, and this may be done.

CUT DEMANDS MORE THAN HALF.

ESTIMATES OF CITY ENGINEER STRICKEN BY AX.

Budget Committee Shows What May Be Expected on All City Departments' Schedules by Its Action on First One Considered in Detail—Sewage Projects Dropped.

A cut of more than one-half was made by the Budget Committee yesterday in the estimates of the City Engineer for outlays during the next fiscal year. This may be taken as an earnest of the work that will be performed by the committee all along the line of the municipal departments' estimates before the new budget is finally submitted to the City Council for its approval.

The total estimate for outlays in the Engineer's department was $217,445. The amounts whacked off by the Budget Committee's ax yesterday totaled more than $120,000.

An appropriation of $15,000 for the acquirement of storm sewer rights of way outside the city was asked for. The committee allows $5000. The demand for $35,335 for repaving and lining with white tile the Third-street tunnel was put on the block and $25,000 was chopped off. The committee will allow $10,000 for repaving, but there will be no tile lining the coming year; the walls will be whitewashed instead.

An item of $4300 for a subway underneath railroad tracks at Avenue Forty-six was discarded altogether, as was also $3000 for protective work on the Arroyo Seco. The committee also cut off $1800 asked for to place an artificial stone railing on the Arroyo Seco bridge to South Pasadena, to replace the old wooden railings.

Outlays for sewage projects were slaughtered right and left. Of the $16,000 asked for to purchase rights of way for the proposed new outfall sewer, north of the present outfall, was cut to $8000. The proposed purification station for sewage at Hyperion, to cost $36,400, was cut off entirely. It was found that this would provide only one unit, whereas probably five would be necessary to handle the entire sewage. The city must take the chance of litigation with State officials by continuing to dump its untreated sewage into the ocean.

The committee also cut off the proposed $24,560 for a sewage disposal plant on the government breakwater at San Pedro, in order to have funds for the installation of a sewage plant for Terminal Island.

MUST CONTINUE.
TO CARRY BOND BURDEN.

President Whiffen of the City Council visited the Board of Education yesterday to urge that the board assume the payment of the remainder of the $1,000,000 school bonds issued in 1895 and 1903, before the school management became separated from the city government and was placed exclusively in the hands of the Los Angeles school district.

There yet remains unpaid $685,950 of these bond issues, and the entire school district is securing the benefit of the outlay, the territory covering 200 square miles, whereas the city as it existed at the time the bonds were voted has to bear the burden of the bond and interest payments.

Assistant City Auditor Fountain figures that the old portion of the city has to pay $10,000 per year more on these bonds than if they were paid for by the whole school district. This year the city will have to pay $51,348 on principal and interest.

The stand taken by the Board of Education was that it has no legal right to assume these payments, as the bonds were issued by the city and not the school district. Whiffen admitted that this is not a legal claim, but he insisted that there is a moral responsibility involved, and that in equity and justice the school district should assume the debt. The subject was referred to the board's Finance Committee.

RUSH THE TUNNELS.
BUSINESS MEN WOULD AID.

The Public Works Committee of the City Council held an executive session yesterday, at which appeared a delegation representing the movement to retain the stability of the city's business center. The delegation was composed of A. C. Billicke, John S. Mitchell, A. J. Waters, Harry Philp, representing Arthur Letts; C. Wesley Roberts, Homer Laughlin, Jr., E. P. Clark, R. A. Rowan and Miles S. Gregory.

The delegation stated that they desired to know just what is delaying proceedings on the construction of the First-street and Second-street tunnels, and offered their services if they should be able in any way to aid the projects.

The situation was thoroughly explained by members of the Public Works Committee, showing that the ordinance of intention for the Second-street tunnel is now in the hands of the City Attorney and may be presented to the Council any day, and that there has been controversy as to whether the east portal shall be at Olive or Clay streets, the main point being as to acquirement of a means of access to the hill district over the tunnel if the street is used for the tunnel approach.

Councilman Snowden made the suggestion that it might materially hasten proceedings if the business men so deeply interested should undertake to secure the lands necessary for a roadway to connect the lower level with the hill district, leaving the present street for the tunnel approach. This suggestion was favorably received, and while no assurance was given as to what steps may be taken, it is possible that this movement will be effected and that private parties will purchase the necessary land and deed it to the city for roadway purposes. This would eliminate the possibility of condemnation proceedings and the consequent delay therefrom.

Snowden believes that if the question of the roadway is definitely settled the factions as to the location of the tunnel entrance will be able to agree on a portal at Olive street and another element of delay will be cleared away.

Want Five-Cent Fare.

A. E. Joyce, a recently-elected City Trustee of Tropico, filed with the Public Utilities Commission yesterday an appeal asking that the Pacific Electric Company be required to charge only a 5-cent fare to the northerly city boundaries. At present the fare is 10 cents for any point beyond Edendale to the city limits.

Municipal Notes.

The Park Commission has given to D. O. Jones and V. Northfoss permission to clear the Los Angeles River bed in Griffith Park of brush and dead wood, they to get the wood for their work.

The Park Commission has asked the City Council for permission to maintain the fertilizer plant in Exposition Park, which was ordered removed, until such time as the Council makes an appropriation to erect a new plant at some unobjectionable location. This plant provides fertilizer worth $15,000 a year to the park department.

The Park Superintendent has been instructed to remove the unsightly lighting columns in St. James Park and vicinity.

Central Park will not be used again for a municipal Christmas tree. The results of last Christmas were discouraging to the park department. The Million Club at the last meeting of the Park Commission asked for the use of the park for a municipal Christmas tree in 1914, but it was decided the damage done by the crowds is too severe, as it takes several weeks to make the repairs. The club was offered the use of Eastlake, Westlake or Exposition Park for such purposes.

The Board of Public Works yesterday awarded to the Fairchild-Gilmore-Wilton Company the contract for the improvement of Los Angeles street, from First to Commercial streets. This includes asphalt paving, vitrified gutters and the construction of a storm drain. The contract price is $9934.37 and the work is to be completed within seventy days.

In response to appeals of Boyle Heights folk for more haste in carrying through proceedings for the acquirement of a site at First and Chicago streets for a branch public library, the Council was informed yesterday that President Handley of the Board of Public Works has given assurance of speedy action in preparing the assessments. Councilman Bryant indicated that many Boyle Heights people are not enthusiastic for the First-street site and would not be displeased were the situation to develop so that a different site could be secured.

In the estimate for the Board of Utilities, submitted to the Budget Committee, there is an item of $1200 for salaries of two commissioners who do not now receive salaries. The president at present is the only paid member of the board. Members of the Budget Committee got their eyes on this item yesterday and it is a safe guess that it will not appear in the budget.

The Los Angeles Foundry Company yesterday filed a petition to the City Council, asking for the opening of Twenty-fifth street, from Long Beach avenue to Alameda street. The railroad company recently closed this street with a fence, which was removed by the Board of Public Works. It now has signs placed that state the right to use the road is revocable at any time.

TESTING RIGHT TO USE WEAPON.

MAY PATROLMAN SHOOT SUSPECT WITHOUT WARRANT?

Motorcycle Officer Defends Suit for Damages in Superior Court in Case Where He Wounded Man He Suspected Was a Prowler Who Refused to Halt.

A suit of interest to policemen and involving the question whether an officer has a right to shoot a suspect when he has no warrant for his arrest, was set for Judge Bartlett's court yesterday. Because he shot and wounded Sam Thomas, colored, when the latter refused to halt when ordered, Ralph Powell, a motorcycle officer, is defending a $5000 damage suit.

The facts in the case seem to be that Thomas was calling on the maid at the residence of C. F. Vanderwater at Tenth and Chestnut streets, Long Beach. Previously the police department had been informed by neighbors of the Vanderwaters that a colored man had been seen prowling around the neighborhood.

Powell was detailed on the case. He saw Thomas enter the house, and inquiring of the maid was told that he was calling on her. He asked Thomas to come out, and says he believed he had concealed in his hand an automatic revolver. Later, it proved to be a pocket dictionary. Powell started to search him for a weapon. Thomas made a break and Powell fired to halt him.

Attorney Swaffield, representing Powell, alleges that Powell did not fire to hit Thomas. Powell appeared in the courtroom much the worse from injuries he received after this episode when his motorcycle ran into an auto while he was pursuing an alleged stolen machine.

SAD EXPERIENCE.
WIFE RELATES WOES.

The net results of the marriage of Edith St. Erman are a son, 4 years old, a husband who admitted in a letter to her that he had escaped from a Federal prison and is a fugitive, and a world of experience.

She told the story of her marriage to Norman St. Erman to Judge Jackson yesterday. She was 20 and St. Erman, 30, when they were married at Long Beach September 20, 1909.

"I had saved up $145," she testified, "and my husband wanted me to bank the money to our joint account so he could draw against it, but I would not do it. We spent the money, and forty-three days after our marriage he deserted me."

"If I give you a decree, will you get married again?" asked the court.

"I don't know," was the uncertain reply.

St. Erman's letter told a tale of encountering as a boy, and when he was starving, a man who induced him to sell whisky to Indians.

"I made so much money," he wrote, "that I stayed too long and was caught, tried and sentenced to five years in a Federal prison. I escaped."

He was arrested, he said, but again escaped and concluded to make his way to Mexico.

"They don't know my real name, but I was known as 'Illinois Bob.'"

ANOTHER ANGLE.
SENSATIONAL FIGHT.

The accession to wealth from poverty which brought Austin Brian, a hotel porter, into prominence and the circumstances as they developed in the administration of the estate of his father, Henry P. Brian, from whom he had been estranged for years, has now resulted in another angle in the sensational fight. The former porter is now dead, and yesterday a petition for a family allowance was filed by his stepmother.

Henry P. Brian died January 18, 1913, leaving a wife, Rosa Brian. She filed letters of administration on his $35,000 estate. The death of his father brought Austin into the scene, and he demanded all of the estate as the son of his father by his first wife.

He also alleged that Rosa was not his father's legal widow, having been married to J. W. Hart, from whom she had not been divorced.

The suit was heard by Judge Houser, and one of the documents sought by Auston was a letter written by Hart to Mrs. Brian which he alleged was in a safe deposit box in the All Night and Day Bank.

SHERIFF'S GAME.
HIDE-AND-GO-SEEK.

The hide-and-go-seek game being played by Sheriff Mace of Coke county, Tex., in the case of Reed Jones, alias Bob Miller, wanted in that county for arson, is furnishing no amusement for him. Miller was arrested in this city last week on a fugitive warrant, denying his identity with the name of Jones. He was released on a writ of habeas corpus and rearrested.

Presiding Judge Wood released him again yesterday on a technicality, and Miller was at once arrested on a complaint issued by the District Attorney, and placed in the City Jail. Attorney Wideman searched the city for a judge to issue a writ and located Judge Jackson late at night at the Union League, thwarting the intention of Mace to whisk Miller back to Texas. The writ of habeas corpus will be heard by Judge Wood tomorrow.

SETS A RECORD.
EVERYBODY TRUTHFUL.

"I believe this is the first case in my experience of a personal injury damage suit where I was absolutely convinced that every witness on both sides told the truth," commented Judge Wellborn yesterday in giving judgment for A. G. Smith in the $25,000 damage suit brought by Mrs. Frankie King for the death of her husband.

The testimony showed that in July, 1912, King was riding a motorcycle on American avenue, Long Beach, when a collision occurred with the auto driven by Smith. King was killed, and Mrs. King alleged negligence on the part of Smith, setting up that he turned a corner and ran into her husband's machine. The defense, as set up by Attorney Swaffield, was that King was traveling at the rate of thirty miles an hour, in violation of the speed law.

LOSES HIS CASE.
MUST WAIT FOR DIVORCE.

When Mrs. C. M. S. Jones, 68 years old, appeared as a suitor for divorce yesterday, Judge Monroe asked her the age of her husband, evidently believing she had married a young man. She admitted he was 70.

"How long had you know him before you married him?"

"Well, I was introduced to him about six weeks before, was the reply.

"If he had no means how did you expect him to support you?"

"Well, I had some money," she stated, "and I staked him in a cigar store, but it was not a success. Then he said he had a job at San Bernardino and I staked him to his expenses, but he did not come back."

The court marked the case off calendar, as the allegation of desertion was premature, and while she alleged he was able to support her she proved that he was not.

WINS DECREE.
HUSBAND BEAT HER.

Mrs. Nancy C. Kelsey was not too old at 63 to heed the whisperings of Cupid. At San Diego, November 20, 1912, she married Joseph Kelsey, which was her second venture. She had property at Washington, D. C., and whether because of this or on account of temperament, Kelsey, she testified in her divorce suit before Judge Jackson yesterday, beat her at various hotels.

Mrs. Kelsey had her husband, who was nine years her junior, arrested, she testified. He was convicted in the Police Court and sentenced to 100 days imprisonment. He is now in Arizona. The decree was granted.

COURT PARAGRAPHS.
PROCEEDINGS IN BRIEF.

CAREER CLOSES. Charles T. Hatfield, a former prominent lawyer at Chicago, who broke down through overwork, came to Long Beach to recuperate, became a religious maniac and is in a sanatorium. Among the witnesses at the hearing before the Lunacy Commission yesterday were his father and his sister, the latter, Dr. Hatfield, a China missionary. Judge Jackson drew out the history of the unfortunate lawyer and made provision for him which may restore him to reason.

SUIT FOR EJECTMENT. S. S. Hahn filed suit yesterday for $25,000 damages against J. Harvey McCarthy, William M. Swanson and Horace W. Bowman, for an alleged ejectment from Mozart Theater, March 23, last during a meeting of the Los Angeles Investment Company Stockholders' Protective Association. He alleges that as an interested stockholder, he was told by McCarthy that he must get out and that he was a disturber. He alleges personal injuries by reason of the ejectment.

EARTHQUAKE IN SICILY

Many Are Dead at Catania.

Cathedral Nearly a Thousand Years Old Said to Be in Ruins.

BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.

CATANIA (Sicily) May 8.—At 10 o'clock tonight a great earthquake occurred in the province of Catania, causing many deaths and great damage to property.

The railway between Catania and Messina was destroyed for a distance of half a mile. Catania is a seaport on the east coast of Sicily at the southeast base of Mt. Etna, fifty-nine miles southwest of Messina. It is the capital of the province of Catania and the third largest city of Sicily.

The principal attraction to tourists in this city is the cathedral, which was begun in 1091. This building has been wrecked repeatedly by earthquakes, so that but little of the original structure still stands.

The proximity of Mt. Etna also attracts many visitors to the city. It may be seen from the tower of San Nicolo and from the Villa Bellini.

The most destructive earthquake in the province was in 1137, when 15,000 lives were lost. It also was attended by the disastrous earthquake that destroyed the greater part of Sicily in 1908, when more than 100,000 people were killed.
